Notes in regard to the above lists. Jongaland. I got the whole list from two men, Mahungane and Nkomuza (Nkomuzwokhlatshwa) genuine Jongas but residing in Ingwavuma Dist close to Pongolo + Ingwavuma (for many years). Mahungane is ntanga ka Tulwana i.e. his regiment is Insananda, whilst Nkomuza is ntanga yo Dhlokwe. Mbungabunga and Mamba regiments were buta'd by Mwali but existed under Makasane. Makasane's own regiments proper begin with Upunga. The Ingubokamanaba so called because at that time Manaba attacked by ... Inzanayo hlasela'd at Mapunga. Unompilela, Inkwitshimana & others never were engaged in warfare (hlasela'd). To qamba ibulo is in Jonga to eta ibulo — the 'a' in eta at end of each word is of course eliminated for euphony's sake.

Note. The Zululand regiments were given me on 10.1.98 by Socwatsha as Inpandes. I have copied them in here from another note-book.

Note. The above Jongaland regiments were recruited by Ndaba as follows: Mwali recruited only Umbungabunga and Umamba, Makasane's follow + end with Mahebula. Nozingisili's begin + end with Izitshozi + Inzanayo begin with Nompilela + go to end of list. Zambili recruited what for her son? only Nompilela

Socwatsha ka Papu speaks:-
The Sirayo-Mgabi Succession claim.- Ishaka's decision.

3.1.00. Sirayo ka Mapoloba ka Mbele ka Maguya ka Tondo ka Ludiyo ka Buyiswayo (o wa buyis'abafazi ekulimeni, wa buyis'amadoda ekucabeni); he Sirayo banga'd with Mgabi ka Mapoloba &c as above. Their sibongo was aba kwa Nyuswa, kwa Ngcobo. Mapoloba's heir Mkuyane - by uMagwabe (daughter of Gcwabe father of Zihlandhlo, Gcwabe's father being uKabazele - abas Embo, kwa Mkize) - Mkuyane died. The Nyuswa izinduna, among them the greatest induna Nkeneza ka Ngcengce ka Mpipa wa kwa Ngidi, directed there should be a discussion to appoint another inkosana in succession to Mkuyane (Mapoloba, of course, being dead). Those who favoured Sirayo thereupon armed themselves with shields and assegais, and those who favoured Mgabi also armed. They then all went to the rendezvous to talk over matters as directed by the izinduna, intermingled with abanumzana and some of the royal family of Mbele. Whilst the discussion was proceeding those favouring Mgabi had made a plan, they said Sirayo must be taken by surprize (junywe) and ~~stabbed~~ ~~&~~ be 'citshwad with an assegai and killed there and then whereupon Mgabi would busa the succession dispute being over. No shields are not put skin side downwards but hair downwards and assegais on the hide, this is done so that if any isidumo occurs a man can instantly take hold of the shield & assegais instead of gwazazing. A man Sihlanu of Mgabi's section hurled an assegai, passed closed to Sirayo's right side but did not injure him and struck the shield beside him (agasejwabini – inside of shield). The two forces immediately came into collision, ya bugana ya bugana. Mgabi's lot was defeated and chased off. Warning was then given to all who were not present. They memana'd on both sides till their numbers swelled and again fought, severely killing one another. Again were Mgabi's lot chased away. The ama Ngcobo were very numerous who governed their own sections in various parts of the country. Word was sent to these heads of tribes of Ngcobo family. They then went and joined Sirayo. The Nyuswa izinduna then sent to the various Ngcobo heads and said "Go on to the side of the man you favour." They then went. Bovungana ka Mavela went & joined Sirayo (Bofungana not Bovungana being of the section I personally am descended from viz a ba kwa Ngongoma), Dube ka Silwane wa S'Emagadini also joined Sirayo, Tondolozi ka Tayi was'emalangeni also joined Sirayo, Mtshiyane ka Tshuku owa kwa Tshangase went to Sirayo, Marawule ka Nonyanda a ba kwa Mafuze, as for the Amaosiyana they broke in two some to Sirayo others to Mgabi. ~~The~~ Mvakela's amaosiyana went to Sirayo, those of Gcugowa went to Mgabi [this Gcugowa is the very man who was afterwards caught & brought to Tshaka for stealing the cattle taken from Pondos & other cattle as well – a notorious thief) – Gcugowa ka Ncameni ka Sizana ka

Dube grandfather of Mgawe, & father of Dabeka

Marawule father of Madhlenya father of Hemuhemu father of Mveli ka Nozaca, aba kwa Osiyana. Gcugcwa wa yake kwa Mam'bulu, ehlanzeni esixeni. Umambulu stream enters u Tugela. Tshutshutshu now lives on Gcugcwa land.

Nomazucwana ka Ndela abese Mgangeni joined Mgabi — All these men, although given different zibongo, ~~are~~ were all portions of the Ngcobo family.

Sirayo was thus vunwa'd by 6 persons of note, whilst Mgabi was vunwa'd by two.

Fighting then went on constantly — always killing one another, Mgabi's lot being defeated. This went on to such an extent as to be noised abroad kwa Zulu and to Tshaka that abantabaka Mapoloba baya bulalana. It was stated to Tshaka "ba bulalana nje ku bangw'ubukosi. Tshaka then said "Hambani ni yo ba biza beze lapa, beze lapa kimina." Ku be ilowo eze nabantu bake abamtandayo, ba vunule, ba vunule nge zimpahla zabo zomkosi a be be zi faka uma uyise wabo e gub'umkosi." They thereupon went, went to Tshaka kwa Bulawayo. Sirayo was a very tall man and yet stout (zimukile) whereas Mgabi ~~is~~ was quite short. Sirayo vunula'd ngo mqele wake womtini, ese vunula ngemyakany ye sakabuli ne gwalagwala nemixezo nomqubula. Mgabi vunula'd ekanda nge ndhlazi also imixezo no-mqubula.

They then came to Tshaka. Tshaka had in the meantime sent and called Dingiswayo o Yengweni, also Macingwane e Ngonyameni. The ama Ngcobo then fika'd Kwa Bula-wayo. They tshaya'd umkumbi. Tshaka then 'beka'd. The first thing that happened was that Tshaka's dog was doctored, it being said i yon' 'ibek' amakosi. Isiu'qala lap' ugcine kona (umkumbi) ihamb' i ba nuk' idhlula, iba nuk' idhlula. I nuk' aba pambili, for it is the more important that stand in front when in umkumbi formation. I hambe ngohla njalo i y' ifike ku Mgabi, ifike nomgabi i m nuke idhlule, i nuk' abanye nga pambili. Ize i fike lapa ku kon' u Sirayo. Iya fika ku Sirayo ka im nuki, i si fik' ilala pansi ngapambi kwake. Se lu memeza ke uhlanza Ewa kwa Zulu, u Dhlungwana wombelebele u seti "Nansi inkosi yama Nyuswa. Inja u Sirayo a yi m nukanga, ifike ya lala ngapambili kwake. Uti Ani boni injake imzwile o inkosi? Dont you see by the very ornaments and dress that Sirayo has on that he is indeed an inkosi? I kon' inkosi e ki vunule nge ndhlazi; itwal' indhlazi ekanda na? He then told Dingiswayo, Macingwane & others that the Chief was Sirayo. He then said "Take Mgabi away and put him to death". ~~He said~~ Sirayo then said "Oh, Sir, he is ~~a bo~~ the son of my father I do not like to see him put to death. I have beaten beaten him. I have defeated him in warfare & again when the question of ubukosi succession was considered Tshaka then agreed to what Sirazo requested, but you Sirazo must send people to me with bundles of ugwazi, for ugwazi was 'emamba umnandi, ngi zo bema wona.

They then all dispersed & went home.

Sirazo thereafter caused gwazi to be sent to Tshaka.

u Nomazocwana ka Ndela konza'd Tshaka. Tshaka liked him as he was smart, he being a member of Ngcobo tribe. Nomazocwana hlangana'd no Mgabi, se be tandana. Sirazo became the great chief and inherited all the inheritances of the ~~tribe~~ family. Mgabi was appointed Chief by his mother Mazcwabe, for he was taken whilst a child & told to go & senga izinkomo za ngasenhla. Nomazocwana then said that this ~~so~~ tobacco regularly sent you by Sirazo is as regularly washed upon by him before being dispatched to you. ~~So~~ He hleba'd Sirazo, S. being absent. Tshaka then said "Uzinisile Nomazocwana, u Sirazo u ne situnzi, isitunzi sake sikulu, ngiti ngi ngambeka ngi tshazwe uvalo. Futi nga m'bek' indina yami yaso Badaneni (built Emamba, on Madungela ridge). Ne xiba lake ka libwi nezigab' ezinye, li ya zi xotoha. Unxanele ukubulala mina kubuse yena –

So

So ku pakwa impi, u se yo bulawa without being called up to inquire if the allegations made by Nomazocwana were true or not.

Sirayo was then put to death, whereupon our ijwe citeka'd and konza'd kumbo ku Zihlandhlo ka Gcwabe, at his Esimahleni kraal, isimahl'esilala ng amanzi, probably said because many were in the habit of sleeping only after having wate to drink.

Tshaka again paka'd his impi and put to death Mafongosi ka Bofungana. He was killed because it was supposed he was of angry at Sirayo having been killed, for he had a war like impi.

Tshaka then killed Tondoloji ka Taye. All those who escaped Empini went and konza'd ku Zihlandhlo, kumbo Esitmahleni.

Tshaka said of Zihlandhlo that he was his unawe and allowed him to build an isigodhlo that being an honour denied to others.

Zihlandhlo was only put to death after Tshaka's death by Dingana. Dingana was just about to fight the Boers. After this people got into the habit of crossing over to live in Natal.

~~That time, those~~

It was owing to being killed off by the Zulus that many crossed into Natal and ill-feeling between the Natives of Natal & Zululand continued till after Cetshwayo's death. This feeling however is now disappearing in consequence of Dinuzulu. The old people resented their Chiefs being killed by the Zulus, e.g. we Ngcobo people. The younger generation however speak of Dinuzulu as their king.

Nomazocwana was killed by Dubuyana ka Sirayo because of his having ota'd Sirayo, this took place in Mpande's time. Matondwana ka Nodada, isikulu sa kwa Biyela, ~~too~~ was also killed. Mpande then told his Zulus on the Tugela to move back onto higher ground as the Makafula of Silungwini would geda them.

Socwatsha can give many zibongo of Sirayo - about 50-80 lines.

Dingana's induna was Ndhlela ka Sompisi. Ndhlela was the father of Mavumengwana and Godide.

Em Pukaneni (see Dingana's Zibongo by Sivivi)

Dingana wa yaliwa kwa Zulu — not cared for. He was not bongwa'd emadhlozini.

S. tried to give the Zulu kings but was not satisfactory.

The Amantungwa aka'd Endhlovane (p.6).

Mzilikazi ka Matshobana belonged to the Ndwandwe tribe.

Dinuzulu married one of Qetuka's daughters + other girls. He has had 4 children, one of these (girl) died, leaving 2 boys and 1 girl.

Same convn. with S. of yesterday contd. Zwide, Dingiswayo, Macingwana (was' Emacunwini) Pakatwayo (Qwabe tribe) — Meseni + Siziba chiefs in Lr Tugela Divn. of this tribe — Malusi (kwa Nxumalo), Bovungana ka Mavela (a ba kwa Ngcobo). — these are the names of 'kings' before the Zulu people were fused into a nation.

The Basutos speak of Zulus as Amandebele.

Mzilikazi belonged to the Ndwandwe tribe.

Note. I sent Dhlozi about 17 to 20 days ago (12th inst.) to Nkandhla Dist to fetch Socwatsha. They both arrived yesterday evening (27.12.01) by train from Tugela, having walked from Nsuze where Socwatsha lives.

Per Socwatsha, in the presence of Dhlozi; Ndukwana was present during latter part of convr and assisted in giving information, this day 28.12.01 (Saturday). Socwatsha, if buried, would have probably belonged, he says, to Kandempemvu Regt (raised by the Ngobamakosi) and so now about 48 or 49. He says he remembers seeing wounds on people who fought at Ndondakusuka (2nd Dec. 1856). Belongs to aba kwa Ngcobo tribe and the following is a list of names, in order, given by him of ~~kings~~ the heads of the tribe - beginning with the most recent:— Mbozana, Sipandhla, Mafongosi, Bovungana, Mavela, Matshisa, Ndaba, Makamba (Mahamba), Tasela, Nombika, Ngongoma, and Ngcobo.

A branch of a family followed out (genealogy) is spoken of as 'umnyombo'.

The Chiefs of the aba kwa Ngcobo tribe are, beginning with the most recent:— Dliweyo (deceased), Dubuyana, Sirayo, Mapoloba, Mbele, Magula (gave name, S. thinks, to the well known hill in Eshowe Dist), Jondo, Judigo, Mbuyiswayo, Bamula, and then, S. thinks, follows Ngcobo.

As regards the origin of the Zulu people S. believes that, like the food plants on the earth the various Zululand tribes dabuka'd in different places. As far back as tradition goes the Zulu tribe dabuka'd at the Emtonjaneni — Endhlovane (a river which flows into the White Umfolozi). The aba kwa Ngcobo tribe have for ages past lived at Emamba and Ensuze where S. and his elder brother Godhloza now live. When one cannot account for the origin of a people one says 'dabuk'ohlangeni'.

Now S. says he belongs to the Amalala people, these people ba bezi fuyile, i.e. their own masters. In ancient days when a fight arose the conquered chief would not be killed but caught and a large indemnity would be required to release him, (klenga him with cattle). The common people were of course killed. People went to fight with handfuls of assegais, instead of, as in Tshaka's day, with only one assegai — a short stabbing one.

A man of great note in early days was Zwide ka Langa of the Ndwandwe tribe — waye dumile.

She pata'd isihlangu, faka'd umqubula (we zinsimango ne zinsim-ba, bincisw' o kwe sidwaba). Was a daughter of Jama and elder twin sister of Mmama.

Myiyeya was the father of Dingana's mother. "Kako ini o ka Myiyeya na?" Mkabayi used these words when appeal was made to her to decide who was to succeed Tshaka.

Mmama was of less importance than Mkabayi. Among Zulus there is a great and a small wele (twin); the first born is the great one.

M'tshongweni was the imbongi ka Tshaka. S. does not know who Dingana's imbongi was.

Magolwana ka Mkatini, Hlantele ka Qukaqa and Mahlan-geni were Mpande's izimbongi. He may have had others.

Magolwana was killed (put to death), whilst Hlantele was stabbed by a man. Mahlangeni went to Zibebu after Cetshwayo's defeat and became Zibebu's imbongi. He had a peculiar voice and kalia'd kwe gwababa (crow).

Izimbongi are usually given the itwani part of a beast to eat. Mahlangeni bonga'd also for Cetshwayo.

Vumandaba is a man who could bonga Cetshwayo well, he however was not an ~~indun~~ imbongi but can? an induna.

M'tshongweni frequently bonga'd on behalf of others; so much did he do this that a proverb arose out of so doing, viz "ngi bongel' amabandhla ngi ngu M'tshongweni ini na?" who, not having been given anything himself, bongas for those who have received gifts?"

At the time of Dingana's death Dhlambula was chief over the Nyawo people. Dingana was killed at Hlatikulu and there buried.

The battle between Mpande's forces and Dingana was fought Ema-gonggo. Izimanguyawana zi ka Sonsukwana; ba beti Ma! Ma!

Ndhlela was killed by Dingana's order for ona-ing and tukusa-ing impi; he was killed Emagudu. Dingana kukula'd and went off to the Nyawo tribe, Obonjeni, Dingana, however, had given out to the izinduna and the impi that he was going to Somkanda's, no one

The following are heads of those which appear the very oldest tribes of the country & of whose coming no traditions appear to remain:— Zwide, Dingiswayo, Pakatwayo ka Kondhlo, Macingwana (chief of Amacunu). S. does not know which is the oldest.

In old days kwa ku citshwana i.e. assegais were thrown at one another, not, as Tshaka taught, held in the hand.

In addition to the Amalala, above referred to, there are in Zululand the Amantungwa people and these are those who speak of ehlaing ne silulu. The same people are called Abanguni, these are the people who qokot'ulimi i.e. don't tefula, in other words speak pure Zulu. The Amalala are more numerous than the Amantungwa. The word Inzula would be a collective name for all inhabitants of Zululand. The amantungwa are said to have come down from the north and to have separated hlulkana from the Besuto.

When Dingiswayo fled from Jobe he came first to Bovungana, the aba kwa Ngcobo chief (v. p. 6) and asked him to tola him. Bovungana replied "ngeke ngi yi tol'inkosi." He then killed him a nyumbakazi cow and told him to leave. Dingiswayo (then Godongwana) came to Sicongo ka Mandebele kwa Ngcolosi. Sicongo received him in a friendly way &, not perceiving his rank, sent him to bula amabele. This man Sicongo lived Emandhlatati, pansi ku ka Ntunjambili. When bulaing Dingiswayo wa lunywa umungu (chaff) wa mabele. He then eqa'd ebusuku saying 'aku ku tolwa, ukubulawa' meaning the menial service he had to do, so he went on to the Amaxoza country and so on in the direction of the Cape. He went on to Cape Town. S. says he heard all this from natives of the Mtetwa tribe. D. returned on horseback. It is not stated how long he stayed away. Dingiswayo when he came to power bonga'd Bovungana for what he had done with a number of cattle.

The Mtetwa people are the Amatefula people, a se zansi.

The Sipe(e)be, Nobamba and Mgungundhlovu kraals are nganeno kwe Mfolozi emhlope and close to one another. S. thinks the Sipe(e)be kraal was larger than that of Nobamba.

The sons of Senzangakona were: Sigujwana (nkosana), Mhlan-gana, Dingana, Tshaka, Nggojane, Mpande and a number of others. Senzangakona is said to have had about as many sons as Mpande.

SOCWATSHA C, D, E 70/9 9.

29/12/1901 28/12/01

Under Cetshwayo, Mnyamana ka Nggengelele was the Induna. Qetuka was Induna yas' ekohlo. Ntshingwayo ka Marole was Induna yempi yas' eSandhlwana. Umuwundula ka Nomansane became induna esi kundhleni si ka Masipula. Mpande's great induna was Masipula ka Mamba, the first induna was M'bilini wa kwa Mpukunyoni. Dingana's induna was Ndhlela ka Sompisi whilst Nzobo was indun' encane. This Nzobo was the one killed by the Boers. He was sent to the Boers for the men (amadoda) said a ku konzwe. Mpande however pointed Nzobo out as the principal cause of Pieter Retief & party's massacre and so the Boers had Nzobo tied hand and food to a waggon-wheel, the waggon was then pulled off by oxen and the man crushed to pieces. Nzobo had in reality come to Mpande.

Under Tshaka the indunas were Mdhlaka ka Ncidi, (X)wana ka Nggengelele.

S. does not know who Senzangakona's induna was. The izwe la hlanganela pezu ku ka Nggengelele.

A king rarely retained the preceding king's induna because he was afraid lest he should 'a mapule nge si tunzi' = overshadow him (the new king).

Dinuzulu's induna is Mankulumana ka Somapunga ka Zwide ka Langa; also Mgamule ka Nzobo ka Sobadhli (aba kwa Ntombela).

SEE LIST OF QUESTIONS - 60/1/15-17

S. says he is about the same age as those in the Kandempemvu regt. & rather older than the Ngobamakosi. He says, jokingly, nga (x)ez' esakeni le mpupu. Remembers seeing persons who came wounded from the Ndonda-kusuka battle-field being then (2nd Dec 1856) about 4 years old.

Cakijana was a son of Dingiswayo, he citeka'd due to illness (ukufa). Somveli was another son and the alleged father of the notorious Sitimela. Mgcobo too was a son of Dingiswayo and was killed by the Usutu.

Mzilikazi's father was Matshobana.

Dingana, as soon as he came into power vulela'd certain regi-ments of girls to marry, doing this no doubt to win namatela kluye public favour. Among these amabuto were those known by the names Ntshuku, Mcekeceke uMvutwamini, owa vutwa li balele, iCenyane. These were butwa'd by Ishaka but not ganisela'd.

Dingana was, like Ishaka, found fault with for killing people. Nggojana ka Senzangakona was killed by Dingana.

Ishaka seems to have been liberal as regards giving food, but refused forbade to allow girls to soma

Ishaka once wanted to see if izangoma ~~could~~ were infallible in the discovery of truth. He sprinkled a lot of blood in the isigodhlo himself. Only Maxibi was'e Langeni was correct in saying how the blood had got to be where it was. (To my astonishment Dhlozi informs me that our old servant Sotemela (September) is a son of this man). Those izangoma who failed were put to death. Ishaka's action on this occasion was not disapproved ~~on this~~ seeing that the ordinary people had just cause for complaint themselves against the doctors for they often smelt them out wrongly. The king's action seemed to check a growing abuse.

Cetshwayo, when he became king, discountenanced the system under which, after reference to izangoma, men were allowed to be killed off. He referred ~~an~~ a matter, that formerly meant an order to kill, to the izinduna of that district to which accused lived, who were instructed to make a thorough inquiry & then report. I rather think this change must have been brought about by the insistence by European Govt, at the time of Cetshwayo's coronation, on cessation of shedding of blood without trial. The Ultimatum contained a demand on the same point.

[Here followed a talk on questions concerning European Govt. of the Natives, European influences &c which will be found in the proper N. Book.]

this Ngeto (wrongly called Qeto in Bird's Annals + Russell's Natal) met his death at Mzumbe.

Among the first residents of Durban were 'Kito = Cato; Mangci-ngci = Beningfield; Hohlo (Ogle ?), a son of this man was called Tshaka and lives near the Umzimkulu.

The Inkata yezwe &c. The inkata is constructed of imiti and izidwedwe which are twisted round + round together and made One thereby intending to symbolize the unity of the Nation, being an embodiment or visible expression of a hope that none shall muka and konz' ezizweni. The inkata, S. says, resembles the intelezi = imiti with which the impi before going out to war was celwa'd with; the intelezi was celwa'd on the men by means of an umtshanelo and it is said to have 'ba'ba'd.

The inkata yo muzi was made, so that the muzi would not hlakazeka, and the object in constructing it was to bind all into one united people. No one but the King was allowed to make an inkata of this kind, not even a member of the Royal family. The inkata was patwa'd by izalukazi e zi nga sa gezi (who no longer menstruated).

The doctors were the ones who cela'd the impi with intelezi but izalukazi also assisted and like them used imitshanelo.

The following is a list (~~parti~~ perhaps not quite complete) of things which were always preserved or kept at the King's kraal.

1. Imbazo yo muzi – for gaulaing umuzi
2. Inkata yo muzi.
3. Uzwati lo muzi (for kindling fire).
4. Intelezi.
5. Ubuhlungu be nkosi.
6. Ukwazi kwa nga s'enhla (for poisoning people).
7. Mkonto we'mpi. ~~and induku~~.
8. Induku ye mpi, used to komba with in giving orders.

There were two izinkata, say Ntshelele kaGodide and Somzica kaGodide; one was kept kwa Nobamba, the other 2 le cebend – the more important was the one at Nobamba. 27.2.'22.

29.12.1901 70 / ~~[illegible]~~ 13-17

On the 29th Dec.'01 a conversation took place on the following subjects:–

Among the things nqunyiselwa'd (tabooed) by the Kings were:–

1. Ingwe (leopard skins)
2. Mneaka, i.e. amagand'abomvu obuhlalu.

3. Igwalagwala. (the Lory - (Colenso)).
4. Ubusenga o ba bomvu (ba bu fakwa isigodhlo), obu gaywa amaNhlwenga.
5. iBubesi.
6. ubuHlalu obu mpofu; imfibinga. The following is a form of oath ngi rulul' imfibinga
7. inGxota (for amadod' amakulu).
8. umKangala (see Colenso) name of wood used by Tshaka.

amaNtungwa and abeNguni. These two names are for one and the same class of people. Among the amaNtungwa are the Kumalo tribes. The Kumalo people have a sibongo which runs "umNtungw' oluhlaza". The Kumalo people were also addressed as 'Ndabezita.'
The spelling abeNguni is the proper one, but the pronunciation abaNguni will also be heard.
S. can give no meaning to the word i- or ama-Ntungwa except that such people a ba gamuk' enhla.
The aba kwa Nzuza ba hlukana na Besutu (beSutu); the a ba kwa Ntuli (former chief Ndhlela) belong to the amaNtungwa class. The people known as umzansi viz Mtetwa, Qwabe and Ndwandwe tribes bati to the amaNtungwa "i ngati na shiy' e lenu na, nehla ne silulu, neza kwe la kiti?" amaNtungwa say to Mtetwa "nina ni nga maNhlwenga a se zansi."
The Mtetwa, Qwabe and Ndwandwe tribes tefula in their speech & may be called amaTefula. Their proper collective name is umzansi. "Mtetwa ka Nyambose, wena was' ezansi" is an Umtetwa tribe sibongo.
The amaLala are not hlangene na ka ncane n' abeNguni - a wodwa nje. They were hlanganisa'd by Tshaka. The umzansi people are not again hlangene with the amaNhlwenga.
The amaLala dabuka'd pakati kwe zwe and first dwelt on both sides of the Tugela and kawula'd ngo Mhlatuze. Amacube (ch. Sigananda ka Zokufa) are amaLala, as also a ba kwa Hlabisa who live eHluhluwe, (they went to live across the Mhlatuze ngo ku ngena ku ka Mpande. Malusi, father of Sotondose (Sir M. Osborn's induna at Nhlazatshe and who was got rid of for being on too intimate terms with Zibebu and Hamu whilst Cetshwayo was still ngapetsheya) lived in Hlabisa Dist. Mbopa (of the Hlabisa tribe) was bulawa uZibebu oNdini (the kraal was burnt). Mnyombo is now chief.

The amaLala for the most part therefore are nganeno kwo Mhlatuze. The following for instance are amaLala tribes: a ba kwa Cele; a ba se maLangeni (ake eMvuzane o ngena uMhlatuze; amaCube; Emansomeni (the people themselves say Emasomini); a ba se maQadini; a ba kwa Ngcobo or Ngongoma; and a ba kwa Nyuswa) (these belong really to the Ngcobo tribe); a ba séMbo (ch. Tilongo and Sikukuku, both ka Ngunezi ka Siyingela ka Zihlandhlo ka Gcwabe (a somewhat numerous tribe), they begin Engudwini and go as far as the Qudeni forest. The Eshowe Dist is built by Qwabe as far as uMhlatuze.

Socwatsha has purposely left out of account those amaLala tribes living on the south side of the Tugela.

In comparing amaNtungwa with amaLala the latter are ~~side~~ said to Tekela; the building of huts is the same with both peoples; their customs are the same as regarding marriage, burial &c construction of headring. The differences between the two classes are now practically nil.

The ~~pt~~ word "Bayete" dabuka'd ohlangeni, like sakubona. As regards the word "Ndabezita" the Zulu people when under Tshaka they acquired power appropriated ~~the~~ it for themselves and tabooed it in respect to the Kumalo, EmaMbateni and emaCunwini tribes who had previously used the term. The Zulu sibongo was aba kwa Lubololwenja this afterwards became obsolete and frequently the words a ba kwa sibongo sibi were substituted.

S's father Papu was an isancute ie not boboza'd, this in face of the fact that Nggengelele had to boboza.

He (Papu) belonged to Tshaka's oBadaneni kraal near Mamba river, close to Tugela & on left side of road going from Port Yolland toward Tugela.

Amanxusa. To Somsewu (Sir T. Shepstone). Sintwangu (deceased) ka Ntenjane; Sidindi (living - ixegu) ka Mngunelwa; Nkomesiswebu (deceased); Funwayo (deceased); Sijulana (wa kwa Mngunyana (name of reeds) at White Mfolozi near Ntuzuma Hill).

Amanxusa to Sobantu (Bp. Colenso). Same as above. Under pe Socwatsha 10.4.1916. This kraal fell within the Nyuswa district.

Dinuzulu they were: Mjwapuna ka Malungwana; Mtokwane; Talwana ka Mantizela (Shaka's kakulu - remained a long time at Colenso's); Luzipo ka Nonageje (stayed a long time) - was present in P.M.Burg when the Duke of York received the Chiefs.

Mtokwane was also an innyanga sent to Sambana. He was called ucingo not because of his speed in carrying messages but in consequence of the frequency with which he went them. He used to go backwards and forwards without spending any time to speak of at home.

It was owing to the influence exercised by Nzobo, one of the Izinduna, that izinkomo zamarole were not restored to the Boers. Nzobo found that these cattle were of a superior breed, had long large udders &c.

Amanyanga to Sir Melmoth Osborn.

Ndungunya ka Mlaba (wa kwa Ncumalo); Mfunzi ka Dumuzele, (wa kwa Xulu); Zigiza ka Mtendeleka; there were also a number of others; Nonaggwaba ka Mgungulu (built kwa Gazo, in Sotobe's district).

Among those sent by Sir Melmoth Osborn to Tongaland were Bikwayo; Wili; Magatsha (died there); Mpiko; Botshobana.

From Tongaland came Madzou (Bucheim) and others; and from Mhlaleni came Nkamba.

Among the children of Jama were: Senzangakona; Sojisa; Nontshiza (kohlo) - father of Timuni); (Sigwebana (kohlo)) ?; Mudhli.

Senzangakona banga'd with Sojisa, latter defeated by Senzangakona; S. reigned a long time, about as long as Mpande, he died when he had grown up sons. Tikili (chief Somkele's mother) was a daughter of Senzangakona; Sokwetshata's mother was also a daughter of Senzangakona.

Tshaka paka'd impi endhle; ie. before it got home from one expedition it was sent off on another. His troops never rested - If any section of

of the impi felt proud and indispensable on account of their proved bravery Ishaka would give an order to kill them on the ground that they stood in the way of others who could equally distinguish themselves

There are no doubt persons living who could throw light on the subject as how long Dingiswayo stayed away from the tribe but it is not likely they uld state the period at all definitely. Natives cannot count years.
S. never stayed with Sir M. Osborn at Inhlazatshe. He found Misjane .W. Shepstone) at Eshowe. Met Mr. Osborn at Eshowe.
There used to be no cannibals in old days. Cattle dabuka'd ohlangeni so goats and iziniows (black goats); there were dogs but no cats, no fowls; o pumpkins but amabece, amapuzi; no horses.
It was Dingiswayo who brought in the practice of buta-ing ama-buto for he saw European troops at Cape Town. In old days amabuto ere not nganuke ngo buntanga but went according to kraals, all e men + boys of such kraal, no matter how various their ages, formed e fighting force of the kraal and were all given one name, kwa ku ngxube = mixture; among some of the ancient regiments are the napela a ka Zwide, but these men were not arranged according their ages. Mzilikazi had the Izimpangele regiment, this was und to be the case when he was landwa'd enhla. Zwide would, of urse, have funda'd ku Dingiswayo.
Among the notable + distant rivers were the uBekenya (sizibaa, no drift), Malinga, Isanggqu, uBemba.
After Tshaka's mother left Senzangakona she is said to have arried Ngendeyana who is believed to have been the father of gwadi, Tshaka's half-brother.
As regards Dinuzulu he is merely an umlandwane, ka Sinanga, d his mother's father Mqweli had no gama kwa Zulu.
nder ordinary circumstances Manzolwandhle would certainly have sa'd; the late Ndabuko una'd him.
Tshaka's mother, Nandi, wa yenga wa se Langeni not 'Amola'.
ongo is kwa Inhlongo; (not of course to Zwide ka Langa's people).
. thinks Nandi was a daughter of Mgabi, Makedama is ka gabi. Mgabi's tuna (grave) is near where Matendeka (Harry Osborn) s to live, on his farm and just above the first house. Tshaka was tshwa'd by uMakedama not ~~kwa~~ kwa Qwabe but wase Langeni ("phrase

"ngi ku nambitile" = I take great interest in)

One of Pakatwayo's amabuto was called izin'kondo.
S. says that after full consideration he concludes that Dingiswayo did get as far as Cape Town, for tradition says he did get there. However impossible it may appear for him to have travelled so far, even though he was a great sufferer, still in view of the current general belief S. feels compelled to accept it as true.

Notes on the above izibongo. — (a) umuzi ka Langazana. (b) umhlamb' om kulu. (c) man or beast having great strength & powerfully built. (d) the izi Gqoza used to say "Laba, laba!" (e) amaggubu. (f) river of that name. (g) bunch or tuft of hair Egolo. (h) in bongaing the king himself, ie in his presence, the words 'u yena' would be used out of respect, but now-a-days 'u Cetshwayo' is frequently substituted. (i) the name of an ox, it was the taking of this ox that gave rise to the quarrel.

S. says that the izibongo (ka Cetshwayo) are much longer than above given. A man called Vumandaba ka Nteti, induna ya o Kandempamvu, who, however, was not a regular imbongi though he took a special interest in bongaing, could go on bongaing for hours. He is dead now. S. also heard others viz Zimu ka Madhlozi when bema-ing igudu kwo Sitshitshili, this man used to be a policeman at Eshowe and was well up in izibongo zi ka Cetshwayo. Maxetshana ka Vumbi, who was intanga ye nkosi, could also bonga, is living his kraal being near Socwatsha's in the Ngcobo tribe. —

She pata'd isihlangu, faka'd umqubula (we zinsimango ne zinsim-ba, bincisw' o kwe sidwaba). Was a daughter of Jama and elder twin sister of Mmama.

Myiyeya was the father of Dingana's mother. "Kako ini o ka Myiyeya na?" Mkabayi used these words when appeal was made to her to decide who was to succeed Tshaka.

M'tshongweni was the imbongi ka Tshaka. S. does not know who Dingana's imbongi was.

Magolwana ka Mkatini, Hlantele ka Qukaqa and Mahlan-geni were Mpande's izimbongi. He may have had others.

Magolwana was killed (put to death), whilst Hlantele was stabbed by a man. Mahlangeni went to Zibebu after Cetshwayo's defeat and became Zibebu's imbongi. He had a peculiar voice and kalia'd kwe gwababa (crow).

Izimbongi are usually given the itwani part of a beast to eat. Mahlangeni bonga'd also for Cetshwayo.

Vumandaba is a man who could bonga Cetshwayo well, he however was not an ~~indun~~ imbongi but can? an induna.

M'tshongweni frequently bonga'd on behalf of others; so much did he do this that a proverb arose out of so doing, viz "ngi bongel' amabandhla ngi ngu M'tshongweni ini na?" who, not having been given anything himself, bongas for those who have received gifts?"

At the time of Dingana's death Dhlambula was chief over the Nyawo people. Dingana was killed at Hlatikulu and there buried.

The battle between Mpande's forces and Dingana was fought Ema-gonggo. Izimanguyawana zi ka Sonsukwana; ba beti Ma! Ma!

Ndhlela was killed by Dingana's order for ona-ing and tukusa-ing impi; he was killed Emagudu. Dingana kukula'd and went off to the Nyawo tribe, Obonjeni, Dingana, however, had given out to the izinduna and the impi that he was going to Somkanda's, no one knew where that was.

Dingana's troops said "u ya si bulala lo muntu". It was the izinduna who sent to the Swazis (amankengana). A rumour was then circulated to the effect that an impi was coming to 'eat' the cattle (Socwatsha got an account of all this from one Shibela ka Makobosi who is still alive, belongs to the Ihlaba regiment + intanga ka Mnyamana (deceased)). Hearing this rumour Dingana went outside, wa 'buka izula pezulu, wati we Mnyamana ndabezita, ni ya ku bona loku okwe zulu. Se ngu m bonile imikuba yake. He continued looking steadily at the sky. Shibela went in and out seeing the king doing this. Night came and all retired to rest. Lapa ku mpondozankomo bezwa ku nuk' iqugu lezinyoni. Mnyamana asked Shibela what this smell was. As he said so, kanti i ya ngen' impi e twele izimpape zezinyoni; ku kal' isigodhlo nga senhla. Then Dingana was stabbed, stabbed emkonweni. He puma'd and ran away. Many of the sigodhlo were killed, others sinda'd by running away. The regiments had gone away, they returned the day following this occurrence and looked for the king who had catsha'd esihlahleni. We bani, we bani, Dingana said to some one he recognized in the distance. (Dingana used to tefulaz but Tshaka used to gokota). This man said "nansi inkosi", went up and the king directed him to go and fetch from the izinceku his ubuhlungu (antidotes). These were got but the wrong drugs must have been sent for when brought he drank a preparation made from them and then died.

The Swazis as they left the UBombo shouted out to the Zulu people "Here is your chief, what more do you want. Your people called us to come and kill him because he has kataza'd you. These Swazis were Dhlambula's people for Dhlambula's people ba be fuyiwe kwa Ngwane.

People on the death of the king were killed as well as cattle. People were buried with Dingana (as umgando).

The impi returned with the cattle. The plot was the making of the troops believe that an impi was coming causing them to take the cattle some distance off, during their absence the massacre-ing party attacked, did their work + left before the troops got back. <<evidence given 28.12.1901>> File 70, pp. 12–13

1.1.02 Conversation with Socwatsha of 28.12.01. contd:— Some inkosazana is reported to have said "A si yo ~~ng~~ ngena nga ku Mapita, si nga ngeni ku Mpande, o ngumtakati." They the party, under Dingana at uBombo, accordingly went to Mapita who seized the lot of their cattle and would not send them on to Mpande who then had become king. It was a great umcebo le zi nkomo that Mapita received on this occasion.

Ndukwana then made these remarks:- Mapita was with Dingana at uBombo. A man Mfinyeli was sent by Mpande to see where Mapita was; they said Esokosoko (ihlati eli se ntabeni). Mfinyeli was afterwards given a piece of ground by Mapita to live on.

Lufu and Malambule, who are Swazis, are said to have fetched a Swazi impi. Malambule was accused of 'xo'xaing Dingana amafuta. Lubelo was paka'd by Mpande and killed Lufu.

There is a story to the effect that when on the uBombo Dingana sent to his last kraal for his things, it was the Kokoti regiment that was sent.

The people were wanted by Dingana to go northwards, but they demurred fearing to be killed by imbo (probably dysentery of the worst kind - Colenso).

Practically speaking Mpande was killed by Cetshwayo, for he used to speak of him as ixegwana and he became thus disrespectful for qataing C and Mbuyazi at Ndondakusuka.

Socwatsha says, Tshaka's impi went as far south as the Esikaleni se Nyoka wherever that may be. He hlasela'd esizweni saba Bomvana aba fanayo (i.e. Europeans). Tshaka himself went with this impi and it was he who used this expression in regard to the "white people". (But on looking in Colenso's Dict I see - Bomvana (ama). Name for Bushmen. — Socwatsha must be mistaken in saying the expression referred to Europeans.

Papu was Socwatsha's father, Zikayana (ikhlo), Mavela (see list of ancestors p. 6.

Socwatsha returned to Zululand after Cetshwayo's restoration and was at Emtonjaneni when Somsewu (Sir T. Shepstone) spoke. Papu, S's father, died a very old man, he had tunga'd and married late in life.

The Inkata yezwe &c. The inkata is constructed of imiti and izidwedwe which are twisted round + round together and made one thereby intending to symbolize the unity of the Nation, being an embodiment or visible expression of a hope that none shall muka and konz' ezizweni. The inkata, S. says, resembles the intelezi = imiti with which the impi before going out to war was celwa'd with; the intelezi was celwa'd on the men by means of an umtshanelo and it is said to have 'baba'd.

The inkata yo muzi was made, so that the muzi would not hlakazeka, and the object in constructing it was to bind all into one united people. No one but the King was allowed to make an inkata of this kind, not even a member of the Royal family. The inkata was patwa'd by izalukazi e zi nga sa gezi (who no longer menstruated).

of things, for thorough investigation of native question in every way, + of delaying publishing any-thing until something had been attained. J. K. is I think beginning to feel the greatness of the whole subject. (File 71, p. 63. 4)

9.12.01 I had a long chat with Dhlozi, who arrived on 7th inst, about my wish to gather information re native affairs. I mentioned the advisability of getting Socwatsha down from Nkandhla. This evening I proposed his going to call Socwatsha and asked if he would like doing work in regard to native customs &c. He at once consented and we arranged for him to go + call Socwatsha leaving here 12th inst (Thursday) going viâ Bond's Drift. My object in getting Socwatsha is to have someone I know and who thoroughly knows Zululand and its principal people, who is moreover smart and would understand the object of my inquiry and take interest in it, he moreover could supply good information as to biography of various Zulu heads. – I sent a few days ago (about 10) for a blind man from Zululand well up in izibongo of Zulu Kings but he has not as yet been heard of. I gave £1 to the messenger for this man's expenses (with dibi). – I want Dhlozi to leave soon so as to get Socwatsha about the time of the Christmas + New Year's holidays.

Conversation with Socwatsha ka Papu in the presence of Dhlozi and Ndukwana ka M'bengwana, 2.1.02.

The great thing we are thankful for to British Govt. is that the country is in a state of peace. We can now lal'ubutongo, which in former days could not be. There are other advantages derived but I go on to the complaints we have against the system.

Our grievances are

(1) The having to pay hut-tax twice over, viz living on farms.

(2). The having to pay taxes at all in these hard times when all our cattle have been carried off by rinderpest.

(3). Being disallowed to marry a daughter off to a suitable man who has cattle in accordance with old custom.

The girl is not to go where she does not wish to go, nor may

S's brother Godhloza was not buta'd, had he been S. thinks he would belong to the Dhlokwe or Dududu regt. but G. himself gives out that he would have belonged to the younger Mpunga regt. which S. thinks incorrect.

Mzilikazi belonged to the Kumalo tribe, he and his people lived near the Ndwandwe people (Zwide). They went off up-country without konzaing. Mzilikazi was an inkosi. In olden times there were not many people. Mzilikazi was citwa'd when living where that ikanda lyka Mpande called Mfemfe was & in which Hamu lived. He, Mzili-

-kazi lived in what afterwards became Hamu's land. When the exodus took place no doubt other than mere members of his tribe joined him.

S. cannot account for the origin of the name amaBunu (Boers), it is an old name for S's old father Papu used to use it. An amaBunu sibongo runs thus: 'iniranga ya ko Piti'. (umranga cf. ibetsha e li kulu li umranga). S's father lived Obadaneni one of Tshaka's kraals & into which people of all ages were telwa'd. This kraal was somewhere in the Mahlabatini District. Papu did not go out much he, however, was not ungogo a man who never konza'd, never went out with the impi but stayed and minded children & cattle.
Piti's Relief and party were killed Emkumbane.

Notes respecting the a ba kwa Ngcobo tribe: — [check in 60/3/1-4 original notes.]

In old days, a hundred years ago or so there were no small kraals in the tribe. Nowadays only umuzi yenkosi are large kraals. Izwe kwa ku nge lempi, ku vinjezelwana. The kraals were all made large, of many huts &c, so that if vinjezelwa'd the people at the kraal would be sufficient to offer an effective resistance.
The names of Bovungana's amakanda were: Emdunyeni, Ebagi-yozini, Ebugagwini, Embizeni (wa kiti, S. says, was' ekohlo), Ogujini, Engxangangxangeni and others. All these were large kraals of 20, 30 and 50 huts apiece.
Our chief fought with a ba se Mncubeni and a ba se Malangeni, a ba se Magadini, a ba se Mbo (only once with these, because the Nsuze got full - a ba fokazana ba dung' amanzi nga pezulu, ngas' inhlo).
All the chiefs died natural deaths and they never stulad to the Zulus. They used to cela uselwa ku Mapoloba (an Ngcobo chief) & ku tshwama. Mapoloba got angry if Bovungana, Dube or Indolozi tshwama'd without telling him. Bovungana's people got their own selwa but it was necessary to report the incident to Mapoloba who would say "Ma ba hambe pela be yo tshwam' aba fowetu labo."
If the chief who was not an inkosi got a selwa with the views to tshwama-ing it would not vutwa (get cooked). Bovungana bus'

according to his own customs. He enza'd umcatu, a custom apparently peculiar to the tribe. Kwa ku punywa ku yo gezwa emfuleni emfuduka, kwe ndhlalw' amacansi, a suk' emfuleni a yo fik' ekaya, ku catulwe ka ncane ecansini — slowly. Should any stranger come and walk hurriedly along the mats people would say ubani lomfokazana o pang' izwe le nkosi e li (ti) 'katu 'katu. He would be at once called on to stop & come back, would be asked to say where he comes from, be told to geza and then tshay' umcato in a proper manner. On such an occasion as this plenty of beer would be cooked also izindhlubu. This stranger would be given food & otherwise be hospitably treated and after he had been detained some time the izinduna would ncengela him & the inkosi would permit him to go but he would have to move off at a very slow pace.

My last talk with Socwatsha was last evening, in the presence of Dhlozi & Ndukwana, when I merely revised Cetshwayo's, Zwide's & Mzilikazi's zibongo & asked a few simple questions. I gave him a good blanket, a coat, coloured handchfs, and a small axe as well as 10/- for his return journey. I have still a good deal more to enter up, I mean of notes of conversations with him in Ndukwana's presence. N. did not always agree with S. but this only occurred once or twice.

9.7.02 wednesday Dhlozi arrives with Mkando from Mapumulo Divn, a man aged I should think about 74 for he belongs to the Isangqu regiment and was a year or so old when Tshaka was killed. I hope to get a good deal of information from him. He was born in the Nkandhla Dist, where ch. Nonzamo lives, near the Mhlatuze river. Is accompanied by his wife.

Per Mkando 9.7.02. Dingana did not believe there were abatakati so he once directed that persons were to sleep in the open round the kraal and to arrest & bring to him any umtakati that should be caught.

The impi sent to Pondoland by Tshaka was an ihlambo one on account of the death of his mother.

Girls used to carry mats as udebi did, in time of war (Tshaka's day).

~~of things for thorough investigation of native question in every way, & of~~ & delaying publishing anything until something had been attained. J.K said he understood that I have no wish for office ~~to some extent~~ & sees how it is. & Mabaso is busy or the 3 would like to have come in on Saturday next. J.K. is I think beginning to feel the greatness of the whole subject.

9.12.01 I had a long chat with Dhlozi, who arrived on 7th inst, about my wish to gather information re native affairs. I mentioned the advisability of getting Socwatsha down from Nkandhla. This evening I proposed his going to call Socwatsha and asked if he would like doing work in regard to native customs &c. He at once consented and we arranged for him to go & call Socwatsha leaving here 12th inst (Thursday) going via Bond's Drift. My object in getting Socwatsha is to have someone I know and who thoroughly knows Zululand and its principal people, who is moreover smart and would understand the object of my inquiry and take interest in it, he moreover could supply good information as to biography of various Zulu heads. I sent a few days ago (about 10) for a blind man from Zululand well up in izibongo of Zulu Kings but & he has not as yet been heard of. I gave £1 to the messenger for this man's expenses (with dibi). I want Dhlozi to leave soon so as to get Socwatsha about the time of the Christmas & New Year's holidays.

Socwatsha & Dhlozi arrived. 27. 2. 01. (see N.B. Hist. of Zululand 71/63-5

2.1.02. Rd. Brea Silverton Durban

Conversation with Socwatsha ka Papeu in the presence of Dhlozi and Ndukwana ka M'bengwana, 2.1.02.

The great thing we are thankful for to British Govt is that the country is in a state of peace. We can now lal' ubutongo, which in former days could not be. There are other advantages derived but I go on to the complaints we have against the system.

Our grievances are

(1) The having to pay hut-tax twice over, viz living on farms.

(2). The having to pay taxes at all in these hard times when all our cattle have been carried off by rinderpest.

The girl is not to go where she does not wish to go, nor may she go where her father disapproves or has not given his consent. Girls lovers are frequently idle, useless fellows. Girls are our 'bank' source of profit, our 'income', who has a girl knows he has cattle. Among those complaints which the 27 chiefs from Zululand (not including Mehlokazulu who was ordered by Mr Saunders to go back) were going to lay before the Duke of Cornwall in P.M.Burg this in respect to & their daughters was the principal one. The Chiefs however were not permitted to speak, were told so beforehand and they felt it very much. How ever does the Government come to be concerned in what is after all a purely domestic, parental matter? The children were borne by us alone in our huts, the children are like izinpahl' emsamo our own personal property whence then this interference of the Govt?

Our daughters engage themselves to amaruzwana, loafers & idlers, who geeingea them nge miti and we are powerless.—

(4) Everybody nowadays seem to be or can be a doctor.

This is a source of annoyance and is a danger to public health. In consequence of ill-qualified practitioners many people are not properly attended. Among these doctors are strangers like Amankhwenga, aba Tshwaki, abe Sutu, and ama Tshangana who bring with them all kinds of drugs. There is no room for upstarts in matters of this sort, ie. those who neither their fathers nor grandfathers were doctors. A profession of this kind is followed for generations in one family.—

(5) Divorce — a woman leaving a man to go & gana another. Kwa Zul'u be gan' esetshiwe. Only when her husband had driven her away could she marry some one else.

(6) aba Meli Lawyers. icala li letwa. nganonga. And even when a case is over and a man has failed he will be required to pay heavy costs.

(7) Magistrates unable to speak Zulu. It is a very great handicap if a man has to be interpreted for, which is called kwitezwa. How can the magistrate or judge come to know the truth of anything?

(8). Quarrels as regards land. Chiefs quarrel with one another and yet if only inquiry would be made the natives would willingly go into the whole question giving it in all its bearings.

Chiefs are being separated and created all over the country. They are independent instead of being all under one head like Dinuzulu. This division is a source of weakness, if all are united they are likely to forget that they are weak. ~~Thalsoot has~~ If enza'd ingxuku (~~[illegible]~~) ibenye under Dinuzulu there might be danger of disturbance.

People appreciate British justice under which the 2 who have quarrelled are summoned and a case is heard at length & the matter decided. The strict inquiry that follows death under suspicious circumstances is very satisfactory & pleasing. And it is a great relief when in times of scarcity waggons laden with grain are brought into the country for the benefit of the people.

Socwatsha himself does not bula now, this is simply because he has lost all faith in izangoma which occurred on the occasion of a young step-mother of his dying suddenly. He then took 10s. with him and proceeded to 10 different doctors, those who bula'd & those who threw bones (not however to imilozi), and ~~each~~ each one spoke differently from the others, leaving him in the end as much at sea as ever.

There are now many schools in Nkandhla Dist. The Zulus quickly become kolwas, are ready converts and those who have kolwa'd ku senga bantu. Kolwas have many things, many debts &c.

Nkambula is a young man who is a Clerk at Eshowe – storekeeper – and belongs to kwa Tshange (Yamela) people. – came into the Service in Sir M. Clarke's time.

Kolwas are smart in putting by food in anticipation of a dry season; they exercise prevision like white people, have funda'd

6.1.02 monday. —<< evidence given 5.1.1902 >> 70/26.

My last talk with Socwatsha was last evening, in the presence of Dhlozi & Ndukwana, when I merely revised Cetshwayo's, Zwide's & Mzilikazi's zibongo & asked a few simple questions. I gave him a good blanket, a coat, coloured handchfs, and a small axe as well as 10/- for his return journey. I have still a good deal more to enter up, I mean of notes of conversations with him in Ndukwana's presence. N. did not always agree with S. but this only occurred once or twice.

9.7.02 wednesday Dhlozi arrives with Mkando from Mapumulo Divn., a man aged I should think about 74 for he belongs to the Isangqu regiment and was a year or so old when Tshaka was killed. I hope to get a good deal of information from him. He was born in the Nkandhla Dist, where ch. Nonzamo lives, near the Mhlatuze river. Is accompanied by his wife.

Per Mkando 9.7.02. Dingana did not believe there were abatakati so he once directed that persons were to sleep in the open round the kraal and to arrest & bring to him any umtakati that should be caught.

The impi sent to Pondoland by Tshaka was an ihlambo one on account of the death of his mother.

Cattle in Zulu Life

Socwatsha a Dhlozi.

Dhlozi Kill me an ox for cattle.

Belongs to igqawe - Le tolazi zinkosini klabana ezitezi.

izinduna reports what igqawe has done. not coma-coma kubantu bonke (given about indiscriminately) his relations, izalukazi come to halalisa when xoto kwenzeka nkosi.

big man gives 3 or 4 cattle when gelaza a child - stula returning cattle given by uyise yake +

King gave cattle to big men, not stula king send for + go into izigodlo will be lobola'd with many cattle.

a mans brother gamevaid - to lobola for. his brother will return a child

Sowatsha. I agree with Dalozi.

Is a great iguqu - like a woman, A child & food. Many purposes served.

igawe. seven heads - aka? umuzi - izithlupeko will come to him zi bon' abazile zi bon' umuzi.

People get money in order to buy cattle. at first no money - cattle were money.

Person ill - sent to inyanga elapa?, when finds the doctor is kokelwa? sikona.

When ill - illness due to amadhlozi - amadhlozi beg, nkosana - one with the "khathazo" by direction of doctor.

Ngi fun' nikan' etale gewing even it's colour - a dreamer.

The doctor too would give the colour of the beast required - when killed person will find, but ifanyanga the person will die. The amanga spoken by doctor. What is wanted a frequent happens is for sick person to partake of beast killed.

A person who has told icala inkosini kwaswela nge nkomo no cala tela'd - never seized (Ukuliwa).

In Senzangakona's, Zi reigns lobola'd with 2, 3, 4-5 & 6 cattle.

Ukuzi- A man who married izigodlo girl is helped by all his tribe to raise the loo head for an inkosikaze is being installed. They will not demand the return of such cattle. No one gives more than one.

Sorewa When in the lala a man takes inkomo + tenga's food — a hole pointed out with 10 or more sacks.

Uhlozi — large izigabeto, izizilingani — measure the mealies.

awangena = awagano — filled till citeka's pansi.

S. 4, 5 & 6 sacks were obtained for one beast.

Formerly one got a hole ful for a mitie beast. Nowadays such a hole say 7 ft in diameter 6.6" 2 ft deep would be brought by for several beasts.

A cow has amasi + amafuta (butter); kuhleka izikamba — for izidwaba, (a person who has no izidwaba is a dog); the fat of a beast killed is used to grease ikanda, body, izidwaba.

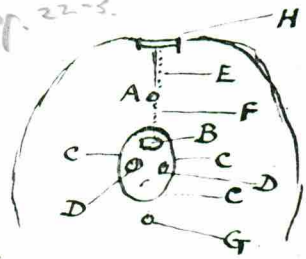
to any other lover who may want to hlobonga with her. One lover will hlobonga two or more times during the same month, an isifebe is one who, during the same month, hlobonga's with more than one man. Isirobo is a girl who has been mekezisa'd or raped. Rape was not bika'd enkosini, the same applied to hlobongaing against the girl's consent. Such offences were family affairs. As a matter of fact rape was not of frequent occurrence. A man who mitisa'd a girl was fined a beast.

There was no such thing in Zululand as a prostitute. No girl prostituted herself for hire. For instance, to offer beads or any small or large present would be an un-heard of proceeding and no girl would be a party to it. A man who could not get a girl to hlobonga with would sometimes use force, for which he would be soundly beaten by the girl's relatives and be liable to pay a beast in the event of the girl becoming pregnant. Hlobonga was a universal custom, but it was one which must go on in secret. Every girl's mother, father and brothers knew of the custom and that she probably acted in accordance with it, but woe betide her if she were caught by her elder brothers who were izibeba ezi no laka. Girls often made appointments with their lovers. They would leave by stealth at night, proceed to their lover, hlobonga and return again before day break. (If caught they would be beaten) Dhlozi, the other day, asserted that a soka was allowed to hlobonga at the girl's home, a hut being even set apart for the couple's use. N., however, entirely dissents and asserts the rule was never to allow the soka to spend the night at the kraal.

To show that there were no prostitutes, N. asks where they could have lived? There was no place where they could carry on such a calling.

Girls were sometimes spoken of as izifebe by their mothers, sokas and other people. To call a girl isirobo or hint it was a very great isituko = insult, on which point refer to pp. 73.74.

24.1.04 File 73, pp. 22-3.



A strange superstition may here be set forth:- Look at the rough sketch of part of the inside of a hut here given. (4-CM SPACE) It is against custom for anyone to sit or place himself or herself between the insika marked A and the iseko or stone support (for imbiza or pot) marked B. Nor again will anyone sit between A and the door of the hut H, though it is not so important not to sit there as between A and B. The reason is this: There are as a rule 3 stones in the fire-place C, of these that standing at B is never taken away, although it may temporarily be placed on the edge of the fire-place or elsewhere in or near fire-place whilst the ashes are being removed. Stones D.D. may, on the other hand, be taken outside (the hut). With the stone B is associated the idea of ~~immobil~~ immoveableness, unchangingness &c and so comes about the notion that any young man or girl who sits at the space between A and B will never be married, the girl will grow into an old maid (at home, sought after) ~~refused~~ by no man, whilst the man will be refused by every girl he seeks to make his wife. The hearts of those who sit opposite the iseko will become as immoveable as that fateful stone, they will donda or hold back, with the result already stated.

The dotted (imaginary) line from A or B to H (door) is known as emgulugulwini or emgangwini also emnqweni? The (spot F) ~~stone B~~ is known as emlindaziko.

So ~~strong~~ powerful is the superstition that people will not lean against post A or the iziko or fire-place.

The custom is still observed in Zululand and Natal, in the latter country, however, some young folks are beginning to ignore it on the ground that it ~~belongs~~ is a mere relic of bygone days.

The inside space of the hut on either side is spoken of as esililini, ohlangotini.

(The above from Socwatsha + Dhlozi – inquiry suggested by a question from A. Lassak of P.O. Inhlokozi via High-Flats).

Qalizwe says something about not sitting at E and turning back on door for fear of being accused by amadhlozi of being averse to their coming in.

~~On my return to Zululand I built nganeno kwa ka Kangela, at the mlalazi, not far from the present soldiers camp at Eshowe.~~
Grout, Mtshumayeli, Gadini and Jana were the only abafundisi. Gadini was in league with the 3 others. Gadini asked for a place for Mtshumayeli, this was given and when Mtshumayeli came he had the isigodhlo girls for his congregation — kwa dilik' isigodhlo. The ibandhla also went to Sonta.

24.1.04 (Sunday). Per Socwatsha, Dhlozi present.

Nozilohada ka Magaboza, belonged to the Nzuza tribe. Induna of the Dhlambedhlu regiment under Dingana. Was killed at the battle of Magonggo by Mpande's forces. Was an ~~igwe~~ igawe, he hlabana'd (took an active part in the fighting) as often as he went out. Was umnumzana as well as induna. Matshekane was his brother; this man died not many years ago. Belonged to izilgoza; lived at Mtshezi (near Estcourt) with Mkungo. Had many kraals — these kraals now near Kwamagwaza under chief Wdube Nozilohada's kraal may have been eMpapala (Eshowe Dist.). He appears to have had no issue.

Tshaka was not married. He was afraid lest he should have children who would grow up and then put him to death. He did not hlonga or sona with isigodhlo girls but lala'd them pakati. If any of them became pregnant he would cause her to be given umcukuzo medicines, in order to bring about an abortion, if she did not have abortion she would be killed, for no girl was permitted to bear a child for him.
He is reported to have 'gaga'd a pregnant woman (some person's wife) to see what kind of position a child took up within her womb.
Many of the isigodhlo girls were killed on account of becoming pregnant by him.

The isigodhlo girls in Cetshwayo's day were known as amadoda, these being stationed Ondini — and were those girls with whom he himself cohabited.

Tshaka killed his own mother. After her death he caused the whole country to go into mourning. Cattle were not allowed to be milked; where an igula was found full of or with amasi, all the inmates of the kraal were to be put to death; women were not allowed to become pregnant (mita) as no zalaing was allowed; lima ing (~~pa~~ hoeing) was forbidden; where umbil' o ne kaba was found inmates of kraal to be put to death; nor were im'fino to be ika'd. Tshaka said all have mothers to ika imfino for them, but who was to do so for him?

After a while a man Gala ka Nodade ka Mgutshwa ka Mutsha ka Ndaba Xoko, of the Biyela tribe, having made up his mind that he would be killed for so doing, went to Tshaka, finding him at his Bulawayo kraal, and acted as follows: He ~~Gala~~ began by bongaing Jama, Senzangakona and Tshaka himself and then spoke to the king in these terms:—

What are you killing your country for? Ikani ku dabuk' uhlanga na? Ikani kuf' umuntu na? ngoba kuf' unyoko na? Ingan' uyihlo u Senzangakona wafa na? a kwenziwa lok' o kwenzayo na? no yihlo' mkulu waf' u Jama na, a kwenziwa lok' o kwenzayo na? Nkosi, fak' itsh' esiswini, si yaz' ukut' u file. Uzo busa ngani? Ku zo vel' inkosi ye ziny' izizwe i li tabat' izwe lako, ngoba a ku sa linywa and your people eat nothing, ka ba zali, cattle are not milked. (to fak' itsh' esiswini means to im' isibindi, pluck up courage, be a man &c).

Tshaka at once showed his approval of these bold sentiments for giving expression to which Gala had expected to lose his life. He called his izinduna Mdhlaka and Ngomane and said to them: ~~Hear~~ Give ear to this man. Here is one who (inspires) fills me with courage. What kind of men do you fancy yourselves to be? Mbopa, tat' insingo, ~~forthwith~~ u zo ngi pucul' u ngi tung' isicoco (by this time the ring never dressed had come to rest almost on his nose). He thereupon took two (2) cattle (oxen) and gave them to Gala to take home, saying "U yi ndoda". After this the whole country experienced relief, the men pucá'd & tungá'd whilst the women & girls pucá'd and did up their hair. But no sooner did this universal mourning come to an end than Tshaka ordered an ihlambo impi to go forth to Pondoland and from thence towards Sotshangana.'

Gala was afterwards killed by Dingana for, as soon as Gala got back from the Sotshangana impi, he expressed regret at Tshaka's death and wanted to know who had been the cause thereof. ~~For~~ It was for lamenting Tshaka's death that Dingana had Gala killed.

Amongst stories told of Tshaka is this:— As often as an impi returned from a campaign the impi would be xoxwá'd and each time the names of the heroes would be same as those in the former campaign. Tshaka found fault with these appearing to be his only heroes, accused them of standing before or in front of equally deserving men and had them all killed to see if, after their death, he could be said to be without heroes — ukuba amagawe ka ku vela na.

29.6.04 Per Socwatsha. — The death of Dingana. — Dingana's troops were away ematangeni e zinkomo when the attack was made on him by the Swazis (amankengana). They succeeded only in stabbing him in the left or right upper arm — in front, apparently only one wound. They killed some of the isigodhlo but Mkabayi and others escaped. One girl (princess — was it Tikile, Somkele's mother?) was stabbed over the left eye. Dingana after the attack ~~the~~ sent to the izinduna for that drug which was taken internally when a person had been wounded, to allay pain in the wound. A drug was mixed up with water and sent to the King to drink. He drank the potion. No sooner did he do this than his colour changed to a deeper hue, a perspiration came over him and in a short time he expired. The troops returned to find their king dead. One of the important men with Dingana, ~~Kwabiti by~~ Lukwabiti by name — probably an isilomo not induna — asserted that in the night attack he had severely wounded one of the Swazis and was of the opinion the man could not have gone far. Thorough search was made without success. Among the izinduna referred to was Ngceba, this man was called on by Mkabayi to take her, others as well as the stock to Mapita. This Ngceba did. Mapita seized all the cattle and some of the ~~ion~~ isigodhlo girls whilst others had their izidwaba stripped off them. In despair some of them took the wet hides of recently slain beasts and girded them about their loins. It is said a number died ~~on~~ and because of their having used wet hides and allowed them to dry on their persons.

It so happened that the King used always to carry about both antidotes and poisons, the latter for purposely putting people to death. Ngceba would have been among the Indunas who gave the deadly draught. ~~This not~~ S. does not know if the Izinduna intended to kill Dingana or whether they made a bona fide mistake.

The Swazis were heard to shout "Kade ni si nxanele nina ba kwa Sikiti[x]; u nganti si 'bitwe i nina nati a si zo ni qedel' inkosi yenu, i si ni katatile?" "Long have you people of Zululand been asking a favour of us; is it then not you who summoned us to come and put an end to your King, a man who has tired you out?" From this statement there appeared reason to think the Death of Dingana had been purposely planned.

Ngceba's father was Nodanga, of the Langa tribe. The above story was heard by Socwatsha recently from Ndube ka Mangondo ka Mazwana (Magwaza tribe).

Dingana tefula'd.

S. says Mapita was of such high rank that he used to teta the amakosi with cattle in the same way that the King did. He, however, used to wear a large kaross made of oxhide sewn together when performing such religious functions[‡]. The King did not wear the kaross but others besides Mapita — men of high rank — also wore it [x], like him teta'd.

x probably referring to Tshaka whose name this was. [illegible]

Zulu princesses as well as wives belonging to the Royal House Dinuzulu's, Somkele's, Sokwetshata's and one or two others wear the isidwaba low down (the loins). They 'tebisa it, so that the umnsisila or umsisila is seen, say 2 inches, i.e. the hollow leading from small of the back and dividing the buttocks. The royal house too have shorter skirts than the common people, they ~~so~~ do not reach as far as the knees and, when seated, ~~the lo~~ part of the legs above the knees are visible. Anyone looking would be asked what he was looking at.

An inkubele is known as ~~an~~ isinggesce (isinggesce). This term may only have arisen during the time of the Zulu war for it was associated with soldiers (European), at the same time it may be an old word. It might be applied to a man who has ~~long~~ lost a leg or arm in war time. When a man is wounded and escapes, the phrase is ba m'kubazil'ubani.

He was in the famous 'Kisi' battle against the Ndwandwe, a fight which took place in the bright moonlight and in which, whilst engaged stabbing the enemy, Zulu by accident ⌊stabbed⌋ one of his own side, a man Mbanzana (an inceku), who, however, failed to give the countersign ('Kisi').[11]

His section (isigaba) in the Mgumanqa was the imiYehe.

Two famous warriors of Zulu's day were Magaju of the eNgadini (emaNgadini?) people and Mvundhlana ka Menziwa.[12]

Another fight my father was in was that in which the Zulus met the Tembus at the Emsonganyati - some way up the Mngeni.[13] The battle began at the river.

23 The names of the Tembu chiefs are: Mabizela ka Mganu ka Nodada ka Ngoza ka Mkubukeli.[14]

My father also fought against Nxaba ka Mbekane of the Mfeka tribe - also against the Qwabes.[15]

He had five wounds - 1. just above knee cap, left leg, assegai, flesh wound, entered on one side and out the other; 2. about eight inches further up on same leg, flesh wound, assegai, in one side, out other; 3. high up outer part of left arm, causing him for time being to lose the use of it; 4. in the small of the back, left side; 5. slight one on the chest. He used to boast that no wound could ever enter his body.

Tshaka once set apart 10 cows without horns (nsizwakazi) and 10 calves. He invited any of his heroes to come and take them; such man as did so would be understood as challenging my father, Zulu, and saying they could defeat him. No one came forward to accept the challenge, and my father received the cattle.[16]

24 On another occasion Tshaka caused to be set before him (stuck in the ground) a bundle of assegais. He challenged anybody to come and take them. My father did so and they became his. 'Whoever takes the assegais will be challenging Zulu.'

He fought with amawaba assegais.[17]

Nogandaya was head of the Ncwana section of the Qwabe. There are, however, one or two other sections of this tribe in Natal. Nogandaya's heir was a Noti, but, owing to his great bravery, Komfiya got precedence and accumulated property. There is reason for thinking Ncwana was once of greater importance than either Qwabe or Zulu. It is almost certain Ncwana belongs to Qwabe and followed Qwabe into Zululand. This following probably took place after a considerable interval, say during MkMokhelengana seems to hold the view that the Nawana may be senior to either the Qwabe or Zulu - they may be the parent [CLAN] from which the more notable off-shoots - Konfiga himself refers to such possibility & on the ground that it commonly happens for seniors to be passed by by juniors.

Socwatsha uses the following Ent Bk of Prov proverbial expression: ~~ubani~~ uban'ugangile, ufuse kulwa nokhalabati, u khaselwa ini? (STET) It's a well known thing that the selwa if planted with the seeds of a fine, large marrow brings forth small & insignificant marrows and vice versa - a freak of nature - this often happens. so a man who changes by leading an irregular life is asked whether he is not a man but a plant?

Socwatsha says the Dube tribe living at the mouth of Mhlatuze is probably a section of Qwabe (doubtful). They live close to the reeds on the river where crops of mealies are procurable all the year round - Crops are also so obtained on the Mlalazi - and the whistle-ge mouth is known as ohlangeni ie the reedy district about there. Compare this with the legend of Dabukaing ohlangeni + that of food having come from Emhlangeni. The fact of food in such a district being procurable all the year round is by my friend extremely significant.

Among the foods obtained from the white people at Delagoa Bay are: inyeza = a kind of batata; moba = sugar cane; kowa = banana; + umgaloti = millet.

Shaka caused sugar-cane (moba) to be planted in Mtetwa territory - near Eshowe - & the moba gardens no one could work who had been to hay wa / igibuko. He might not carry hoe or weed, cut down or in any way deal with the cane. Any cane dealt with by persons so affected was consumed by the igqobhlo - the same rule applied as regards milking - any who had had a wet dream would refrain from milking - Then again as regards the smelting of iron. Socwatsha points out that the amacube people are the great iron smiths. They still do a large amounts of iron work, selling their iron to a large extent from Europeans. The custom of not working at smelting iron when one has had a wet dream is observed among them as among other tribes of Zululand. A man too who has blotongaid is disqualified.

A smith is Isitandoo - Isitandoomi - A practice of the amacube, if the iron will not prosper well together, is to secure some very dark coloured stranger - must be dark - and use his unbroken live fat (covering parnel) to mix with his iron stone &c when the defective process will be corrected.

Mkehlengana says the Dumesa people (work) Kaffir iron - Nikinicka, Saoti (late) Bromway is a noted smith, also Ngobozana. They get the iron from Europeans.

Socwatsha: Umngamunye is the name of the iron stone used for smelting purposes by the amacube people.

Qwabes who were dissatisfied with action taken relative to a family quarrel in their own tribe (Qwabe).

(The name) Ncwana is certainly spoken of as 'ka Qwabe'. This probably means that it is a section of the Qwabe tribe. And yet Ncwana and Qwabe are each probably the name of persons who actually existed.

8 Qwabe is also spoken of as 'ka Nozidiya', the name of a man or woman.

Qwabe ka Nozidiya, Socwatsha says, is an expression frequently met with. It is strange so much prominence should be given to a woman's name, if Nozidiya was a woman, but, as Mkehlengana remarks, the Mambedwini (people) take their name undoubtedly from Mambedu, a woman.[22]

The Cunus, says Mkehlengana, said through their chief Silwane in Pietermaritzburg a short time ago that in the event of their ceasing to exist the Qwabe would inherit their property.[23] This may be taken as showing the close relationship there is between the tribes.

The following is a proverbial expression, says Mkehlengana, widely prevalent: 'You are now making yourself out to be a chief as great as Dubula ka Ncwana on the sands of the sea'. We have here Dubula referred to as the son of a man Ncwana, as well as the interesting statement that these people once lived on the sands beside the sea or seashore.

9 Socwatsha inclines to the opinion that this expression arises out of the fact that the Ncwanas at Emabululweni were 'on the seashore' because somewhat near it, or they were lower down once, within the Qwabe lands.

Mkehlengana, however, knows nothing of the section ever having lived closer to the sea than they did at Emabululweni (of course Zulu lived near the Tukela mouth, but that is quite recently), and as the expression refers in the same breath to Dubula ka Ncwana, it must have been in their days that the people lived near or on the sea-sands. Now, as it is probable that Dubula never came to Zululand at all, so he must have lived at some spot on the sea. The question is where? Tradition strongly urges a descent from the north, and this is supported by the fact of their being amaNtungwa and as having 'come down with a grain basket' (ehla'd nesilulu).[24] Had they, like the Mtetwa, been an old coast tribe, they would have been known as 'those from down-country' (abasezansi) like the Mtetwa.

10 Mkehlengana seems to hold the view that the Ncwana may be senior to either the Qwabe or the Zulu. They may be the parent (clan) from which sprang the more notable offshoots. Komfiya himself referred to such possibility on the ground that it commonly happens for seniors to be passed by by juniors.

12 Mkehlengana says the Dumisa people work iron. Nikiniki, Saoti's (late) induna, is a noted smith - also Ngobozana.[25] They get the iron from Europeans.

Socwatsha: Umngamunye is the name of the iron stone used for smelting purposes by the amaCube people.

Soewatsha says regarding the word 'izimemo' (in Isaaes' isibongo: this word arises when a hunting part is out and one of their number succeeds in killing a buck, he would shout out - e.g. Mamo, amagandelo! (name of his elder brother Sothloza who inherited it from his father Papeu). Those hunting would then all shout in reply 'Mami' amagandelo! - i.e. echoing what the successful hunter has said. This hunter would always use this form even though he had only slightly stabbed the buck and it had risen off and he would always shout the name of his own principal kraal, but that of the principal relative, as Soewatsha does

Godlozan And if any of the part shout be at a distance and hears the isimema he, if he belongs to the same part, shouts out too as the others did. A part in the course of a morning may shout out 4 or 5 isimema & so two parties hunting might compare by the numbers of isimema shouted. And so isimema is an Echo or reverberation and applies to shouting among cliffs.

Izaaes might have shouted Mam' Isihlenga! (name of King's establishment to which he belongs and not to Dengama — Farewell.)

On their way thither the Pondos made no attack at all on them; they did not molest in any way. Tshaka himself stayed in Mbulazi's kraal a short distance across the Mzimkulu. The impi seized cattle and returned with them. The Pondos kept out of sight. Faku went off to the Drakensberg. His own cattle were not seized. He took off his father Ngqungqushe's cattle too. The cattle taken were those of his people, light-brown ones (ezimdubu). Tshaka remained with the Nobamba regiment at the Mzimkulu. There was also a regiment of girls, the uNkisimana. Socwatsha corroborates this about Pondos speaking of Zulus etc. as umzansi. 'Look at this fine person; he cuts to let the bad blood out; he even jabs into his mother's vagina, but still he can't get it out' - the latter an insulting expression. Sidiya, Mcotoyi's ~~age~~ chief son, is Imbila, there are 2 (103) (company amavisa) after him. Sidiya is about Dalizwe's age.

Mcotoyi was advised to cease (butaing) Imbila but he says "No, my father said all, and even those unborn, are Imbila". I do not know why this was done. Mcotoyi has not yet (butaed) his own (abantu). He still calls them by the name given by his father.

umqubula ka Mnakwetu-ware - I saw this - made of igwi simba & igonsowane skins - like Tshaka's. This umqubula was Langa's & Zwatini when umkosi was called by uMnanzeni ka magalela (Zima Ngangezi) - present chief Lokotwayo - pays tax umlazi Durban. uZwati (Fall) umHlati rises there, also Tongati, Mona, Inanda Mooke (Inter: Mngeni) - Socwatsha kulelai oZwatini & married there. I went to Zululand & to build just after Cetshwayo's death, but had previously to it been a policeman under Sir Wm Osborn at Inhlazatshe, having gone there because I thought as Yamela was Induna I should be able to settle on land that would probably given to Yamela - We first built Kava Magwaza, Inanda, where our old Chiefs graves are - We are still at the same place - We are Ehlangeni, above Inanda close to where it enters Tukela & opposite Mtonjambili.

I am of Zolobe regiment but was (born) there. The Zolobe tribe are of same as the Zulus. I am really of Mkumbane regiment but was turned into Zolobe. It must be borne in mind that small people [like Mnonis & Sayo & Cwatshas] were not recruited strictly on the same lines as Zulus, because being so few they were allowed to accumulate & so one regiment included boys of 2 or 3 Britanga's - (age-grades) (Umbiyo)

Matubane had a (kraal) of Mavoda - They were simply called after the main kraal viz. Mohlaka i.e. Mabonai (Maintis) kraal - This is the (kraal) he (Letshwe) Langa's Lukeklamba with as previously referred to.

When Tshaka (destroyed the (nation)) Mabona was dead. He had died a natural death. He died at the Mfofu; his father Mzongwane had also died a natural death at an 12 AmaZuba - Mcotoyi's section is so-called. This name was so used when I was born. I do not think the word Zuba is derived from the name of a kraal but from some person.

Dole's main kraal was known as Kwa Zulu. I do not know his other kraals.

When children are hushed and kept from crying in the Tuli tribe, women say, 'Hush, Dambela, hush, Zakwe!'

I fancy that the ancient king Zuba must be the origin of the name amaZuba.

Ntaba and Tusi quarrelled. Mzoywane paid tribute to Tusi. Tusi and Ntaba fought, and came as far as the Mbilo, when Mzoywane attacked and drove them back. Ntaba burnt Tusi's kraals. The amaZuba assisted Tusi and got them to reconstruct their kraals. They held an ijadu dancing competition with the Tusi people. The Tusis were known as uGwabalanda - the name of Myebu's kraal. Ntaba's people were spoken of as uGobela, of the place of the people of the great one.

13 [Note on genealogical tree 3 pp. back.] Mhambo was the son of Zakwe but a minor and junior son. Mkwici was already dead when Tshaka destroyed the country. Mgubula was the very last child of Mkwici. This accounts for Zakwe to Ngongoma having only five generations, whereas Zakwe to Botshongweni, Zakwe to Mcotoyi, Zakwe to Fojisa's issue each have seven.

The older generations lived much longer than nowadays. Many Tulis did not marry young because they would lose vigour and (be rendered) incapable of fighting. Some did not marry till they reached my age (Isangqu regiment); others not at all. This idea existed prior to Tshaka's reforms.

Regiments were first recruited according to age by Mnini; formerly men and boys fought together. Each umuzi had its own force (ibandhla), various ages being mixed together.

Mnini's regiments: uZololo, uMkumbane, Imijiba, Totololo, Imdwayimba, Imbila (the Nkuku, and three others of the same name). He then died. Mcotoyi buta'd the rest.

The first Imbila did not participate in an umkosi ceremony. Mnini held the umkosi with the Zololo, Mkumbane, Imijiba and Totololo. The 14 Imidwayimba were mat-bearers. Ngoza, Somsewu's induna, took exception to Natal chiefs holding the umkosi ceremony.[107] He told Somsewu this and the practice stopped. The umkosi was discontinued about 1864.

The Imidwayimba did not participate in an umkosi ceremony.

The first Imbila (Nkuku) are the same age as the Imbube, i.e. Mxapo, alias Hlwayi (Zibebu's age).[108]

1 Imbila - the great one. Tongo was appointed to command.
2 Imbila - follows in age. Mtengi ka Macayana was appointed as induna.
3 Imbila - follows in age.
4 Imbila - follows in age.
5 Imbila - follows in age.

7 Imbila - the grown one.
8 Imbila - young lads, or still growing.

Sidiya, Mcotoyi's chief son, is of the Imbila. There are two companies (amaviyo) after him. Sidiya is about Qalizwe's age.[109]

Mcotoyi was advised to cease butaing Imbila but he says, 'No, my father said all, and even those unborn, are Imbila.' I do not know why this was done. Mcotoyi has not yet buta'd his own ibuto. He still calls them by the name given by his father.

15 I am of the Zololo regiment, but was placed there. So the Great Zololo are of the same age as the Izingulube of the Zulu. I am really of the Mkumbane regiment but was turned into the Zololo. It must be borne in mind that small peoples [like Mnini's, says Socwatsha] were not recruited strictly on the same lines as the Zulus, because, being so few, they were allowed to accumulate, and so one regiment included boys of two or three age-grades (buntanga).

Matubane had a company (viyo) of men. They were simply called after the main kraal, viz. Mdhluka, i.e. Mabona's (Manti's) kraal. This is the viyo he fetched Lukilimba with as previously referred to.

When Tshaka destroyed the country Mabona was dead. He had died a natural death. He died at the Mpofu. His father Mzoywane had also 16 died a natural death at an advanced age.

It was after Tshaka had driven out the people that Matubane took charge of the umuzi. He was the only one remaining, all having fled or been killed, so he exercised authority for Mnini because he was a boy. Those older than Matubane had been killed off or scattered, so it naturally devolved on him to assume guardianship.

He was killed by Dingane. Dingane killed Magaye first, then Zihlandhlo, Sambela, then Matubane, Nzwakele ka Kutshwayo of the Dube people, Dube ka Silwane. Matubane was killed before the Boers came to Natal. Matubane might have been killed about 1830. Fynn was still here. Matubane was not killed on the occasion Jemuse, Wohlo, and others fled to the Cape - all except Jana (Cane), who took refuge with Mnini at the isiBubulungu (Matubane being dead).

25.4.1905, evening. Maziyana and Socwatsha present.

Dingane killed Matubane because the king's cattle at Kwa Ndabenkulu had been eaten by hyenas. Tshaka first of all sent oxen to 17 Matubane to look after for him. Tshaka sent the Ndabenkulu regiment down to cut poles for the cattle posts where the cattle were to stop and where people were to stay and look after them. This establishment was erected at the place of Mcasimbana. No sooner did the regiment construct the kraal than it returned to Tshaka, leaving Matubane to look after them with his own people. The regiment did not stop at all. They merely 'placed' the cattle and then returned. When this kraal was erected the amaBece impi had returned from its campaign.

. The cattle were stationed at two kraals. One was on the Bluff near Jelemusi's (a European, still living there). Matubane built this cattle post (where the royal herdboys stayed). The name of this post was Kayisa of the Ndabenkulu - the latter part was usually added.

The following once happened. Bambalele was sent by Gcamatshe, who said he was then still a lad - He was one of Dingane's first regiment. He could not understand what was being done when he saw T. stabbed. T. was seated on a chair when stabbed - D. sent men to land in Zululand izimpafula zonke zika Tshaka Emakandeni - for he had ingele, izihlangu, iminchila, amawshoba, iringebala, izinkafse te - which he had worn - all these were burnt kwa Dukuza.

After T's death Matiwane became Dingana's induku. He died about 2 years ago.

The body remained unburied until the things referred to had been got from Zululand -

Soswatsha says: Mr. said Mbopa was the first to stab Tshaka - not Mhlangana. Mazi-yana agrees with this statement - thereby contradicting Fynn.

Mazijana & Socwatoka.—

Socwatoka says: Matinguane never saw his father - He soon lost his mother and escaped from tribe to tribe till he was captured by one of Tshaka's ingcekas. This ingceka changed his name, but on Tshaka one day asking Matinguane what his ~~real~~ name was and his saying Matinguane the Ingceka directed that the boy was henceforth to be called Matinguane for fear of Tshaka's displeasure.

When Mbopa (Mpikati) Tshaka an imbonga was got to catch the hair as it fell, to be immediately covered over by a second one so that none should escape. And as often as during the tonsorial operations the King spoke the barber would dart off to some little distance until the King had finished speaking when he would resume his work.

was in charge of the herdboys, to report to Tshaka that the cattle 18 were dying. One beast was not reported at once; there was a delay of about a year or so. Bambalele was with another. When they came to Tshaka B. said, 'I am reporting on the cattle of our place, of the place of Nansi.' T. asked, 'Who is Nansi?' B.'s friend said at once, 'Ndabenkulu.' They reported and returned home and told their friends, and congratulated themselves on their escape. Presently Matubane visited T., who said, 'Did you kill the fellows who spoke of me as Nansi?' M. (answered), 'I have not done so.' T. said, 'I've a good mind to kill the lot of you off.' M. thereupon sent a man to the person in charge of the cattle to say, 'Put this matter right,' meaning he was to kill him for his slip. The two were thereupon put to death, i.e. including the boy who had corrected the other.

It has to be remembered on behalf of the boys that they spoke a different dialect, and so had some excuse for making the slip; viz. indaba would be indzaba, kulu would be kúlú.[110]

[It must be remembered that Socwatsha, being of the Ngcobo tribe, is really a Lala, so his dialect must vary slightly, e.g. amagxolo instead of Zulu amaxolo.][111]

The other cattle post was Ndomba of the Ndabenkulu. This was of 19 oxen only, no cows. Ndomba was the name not of the cattle post but of the oxen themselves. [Every herd of royal oxen, says S., had its name.] The kraal was near Mcasimbana's and was known as Ndabenkulu. These oxen were herded by married men who, when they came to the cattle post, left their homes, women, etc. behind. They had boys to help. At Kayisa unmarried boys did the herding.

When Tshaka died the 'boys' decided to take off the cattle to where they had come from. They thought as T. the evil-doer was dead they would be able to do as they liked, for Dingana would not do as he did. The boys drove the cattle, and when they got to the Mvoti they decided to halt, the sun having gone down. During the night hyenas attacked the cattle, eating off large numbers. Those remaining were driven on. The chief wife at the Ndabenkulu umuzi then reported to Dingana. A case was opened. D. became angry. The case was held.
20 Matubane then returned home. The men of the Tuli tribe advised M. not to return to the Zulu country as they would be killed. M. said, 'I intend to go there; it is fitting that I should die in the manure-dust,' referring to the cattle enclosure at the great place of the Zulu. Indeed he died there.

The case or inquiry was not completed; it was adjourned, M. being told to come back. It was then that his own tribe advised him not to return, whereupon he replied as above.

M. said the 'boys' had taken the cattle without his knowledge.

Dingane killed off all the men Matubane had gone with regarding the cattle. The impi was sent out and those at Port Natal were killed off as well. (Dingane) killed Matubane etc. at Nobamba. He had left Dukuza where Tshaka was buried.[112]

Tshaka's death. He was assassinated by Mhlangana, Mbopa, and 21 Dingana at Dukuza.[113] I do not know where the wounds were. There must have been many wounds.

They hurled assegais at him, says Socwatsha. He was not stabbed at close quarters (emahlanze), i.e. still having hold of the assegai.

24 Maziyana says: Matubane was present at Tshaka's assassination. The assassination took place at night-time when Tshaka was speaking to amaMpondo. He sat in an open space. Torches were alight. 'Leave me alone, sons of my father, and I shall be your menial,' said Tshaka when being stabbed. They, D. etc., said, 'Leave you, the evil-doer who kills the wives of men who are away?' - i.e. away on war (Balule).[114]

2 Macala ka Nongalo of the Emapepeteni people, (who) was given protection by Mzobotshi ka Tambisa ka Magininda ka Madipa ka Ndelu of the Ndelu people, once dreamed that an impi was coming. Mzobotshi lived on the south side of the Ilovu, low down, and Macala was with him. The impi was sent by Mbulazi (Fynn). As soon as Macala dreamt, he set forth and told Mzobotshi his dream. Mzobotshi would not believe him, and yet an impi was on its way and arrived not many minutes after the dreamer had told his tale. Mzobotshi was killed; Macala escaped. The impi was from Port Natal - after Tshaka's death. Mzobotshi was one of Tshaka's favourites.

Dingana, when he attacked Port Natal, sent down Zulu ka Nogandaya of the Hlomendhlini troops with the Njanduna to carry out his orders. Fynn fled south. Mzobotshi remained behind and leagued with the Zulus.

3 Fynn's cattle were seized. Fynn presently returned, went to D., and called for the return of his own stock, which had been seized along with that of other people at Port Natal. Dingana returned the cattle. When Fynn got back he collected an impi and attacked Mzobotshi and killed him at his kraal Kwa Novuza.[115]

Macala told Mzobotshi that whilst still in his own tribe he dreamed of an impi, and the dream turned out true. Macala, at the time of his dream, was living in Mzobotshi's kraal. Macala escaped. Mzobotshi was a follower of Mbulazi, but when the impi (Zulu) came he turned informant against Fynn.

I do not know either Myebu or Ntaba's praises, nor do I know what either was like.

When Bambata came there had long been previous talk.
When Poll Tax proclaimed people became like wasps + said asife Kanye.

The dividing up of land in Zululand is another cause. We used to be told the zulu country a lase Kiptawini. Object to private lands + high rents - especially men with many huts.
Kolwa says ba fike sakile, ~~Kade~~ i lapa sa mila sa kula na, Kade ba si ncanela -
The Poll tax is the nomtebe, this is the nikosi word others are only izinduna. Ni sa hlukanisa na banterana be ten they will no longer pay hut tax for us
They will not buya, eloku ba buzeke kude (long ago)
We heard that Dyobizimbe is fighting.
We then heard that ~~it~~ we must lungis' izikali
Si buye si yo quaza abakiti i ngati bati udaba nati sbe si lu venna na, ukuti ka si lu tandi na. - this said by Nyamana ka Matanda ch Mfungelwa, said to ~~Saunders~~ Mfungelwa, ~~to~~ he took to Eshowe where Boast tried + gave him 2 yrs. Nyamana was arrested with Nggala ka Mbandamana ka Ndhlela.
Hloma wena Mfungelwa, tina a si kuya lapo - loku utwa si nga i teli uginisile.
~~We~~ We wont arrest Bambata ngoba uya si siza for refusing to pay poll tax. All the izifanda turned round in favour of Bambata.
Ukukuluma should not be tengwad - lawyers appearing in native cases.

Ohlogi. We already hlupeka ka ngaka now we must pay ~~for~~ tax for our children who furnish money for hut tax of their mothers + the children. When they pay it will give them independence, they will say nati si ya tela, nba so hla~~ta~~ la ke elubala.
This is the main reason + all of us said this - Aba lunga ba ya hlupa.

6 <Causes of rebellion>. Nkantolo.

Cause. The poll tax (£1) being added to rents on farms (imali ya mapulazi). At Mapumulo men say - long ago, before the war came; speak only at homes; do not send on to Pietermaritzburg - saying there is no one since Somsewu died to whom they can go and state their grievances, therefore they keep them to themselves.[1] How is it we, who are said to be government people, never get an opportunity of seeing and speaking to the government? Our words come to nothing (ukukuluma kwetu ku buye ku tshabalale); we see no result. For here we suffer on account of the poll tax and hut tax.

Where is government land? - for all has been bought by Europeans. We pay government taxes, and yet on the other hand pay Europeans we know nothing of, men who are strangers to us.

We would be satisfied if we paid only the government tax - 14s.

I personally concur in these views

The trouble all started owing to there being no leader (ingqwele) who speaks for the whole people (isizwe sonke). It all began with Shepstone removed from his office.

Socwatsha: Ndube, Mbuzo, Luzindela and others objected.[2] 'We are not ruled properly for we see no man like Somsewu to whom we can report out complaints.' C. Foxon, the magistrate, noted down all the men said. F. referred to Saunders, but men said, 'He has not told us ‸that‸ he has taken over Shepstone's position and that our troubles must be reported to him.'[3]

Nkantolo: The payment of rents is almost as great an evil as the poll tax; it comes almost up to it.

Magistrates are all right, but another man is necessary whom we can regard as our father to whom we can take our troubles.

Socwatsha: The indinganiso basket is full.[4] How shall we harvest a field as big as this, in addition to all the other fields which we harvest? (I.e. hut tax, farms, dogs, bushes - we were cutting them when you came; they have never become finished.)

No sooner do we earn anything than it is pulled out of our mouths, just as we thought we would profit by it - tantalizing.

[Had poll tax been the first tax ever imposed in Natal, there would have been no rebellion - Socwatsha says this, in answer to me.][5]

Notes

[1]Maphumulo is a locality halfway between Kranskop and Stanger. Somsewu was Theophilus Shepstone, who was successively Diplomatic Agent to the Native Tribes and Secretary for Native Affairs in Natal from 1845 to 1876.

[2]Ndube was chief of the Magwaza, Mbuzo chief of a section of Ntuli, and Luzindela chief of a section of Dlomo, all in the Nkandla division.

[3]Charles Saunders held office first as Chief Magistrate and Civil Commissioner and then as Commissioner for Native Affairs in Zululand from 1897 to 1909.

[4]Bryant, Dictionary, p. 112, gives indinganiso as a kind of basket, 'about two feet or more in breadth...'.

[5]The notes in parentheses occur in the original as a marginal insertion.

The Natives in general all felt that the whole of them would rise. They never anticipated any would throw in their lot with the Europeans. Now they blame themselves finding trouble come on them whilst others simply 'busa.

All the country used to xoxa about fighting. Ba hlehla muva nje. The Magadi ~~people~~ umuzi — so I heard from Tulumana — wa citshe wafa, njeng'o wa kwa Nyuswa nje. Mgawe threw it away, not knowing anything of izincwadi. All he knew was what he heard — from Dinuzulu.

People of Zululand became apprehensive when Saunders was laying off farms — They then sent to Dinuzulu.

Muntumuni was afterwards shot whilst running away in the Mome valley. He was not in the Mome fight. He was ascending the mountain when fired at by the Eur. Many shots were fired but he still went on. Presently ~~a man~~ an Eur. took ~~one of the guns~~ mfungelwa's gun, fired & ~~the~~ Muntu-muni fell. He rolled down & down, bounding as he fell, until he reached the bottom. ~~When examined it was found he had so no less than seven wounds!~~

I forgot Msweli ka Ngoni and Ncwadi ka Sigananda who, after Muntumuni's visit to Nkandhla, also went there to say Bambata was in the forest and was being hidden away in the Mome by Sigananda. Sigananda thereupon heard they had been to make this statement, whereupon he sent and had Msweli's cattle seized. Ncwadi had no cattle – he being S's own son. Msweli's cattle were numerous and were izinkonekazi ezimnyama. Msweli followed after them & arrived after Bambata had come out of the Forest and had effected a junction with Sigananda, Ndube, Mpumela & Mbuzo's people who had been ordered by Mr. Saunders to arrest Bambata (only Sigananda & Ndube were at first so ordered but some people of the others joined without orders & threw in their lot with Bambata). When Msweli got to the Cube people & had come to fetch his stock: They reproved him with having gone to Saunders to report, adding that Bambata had been sent by Dinuzulu and that Dinuzulu had supplied drugs which made it impossible for the bullets to enter. He, Msweli, thereupon turned rebel & joined them whereupon his cattle were given back to him, one however being killed because the stock had nyatele enkosini (Cetshwayo). Bambata's amadhlangala were erected in the vicinity of Cetshwayo's grave – A number of others had their stock seized so as to make them join, this stock was returned on their taking up arms & joining the rebels. Mapulangwe and Beje, members of Ndube's tribe, each had their stock seized but killed a huge ox & a cow among Mapulangwe's & a large ox among Beje's.

Per Socwatsha

I know nothing of the impi. Long have Natives been speaking of fighting. I looked on them as suti, baya zi kulumela nje. As regards Bambata, people threw in their lot with him because ~~th~~ utshwala ba bu bila kade, bu nga hluzuve = they had long been in a discontented, surly frame of mind. Bambata arrived on the scenes when this beer had long been boiling, he came with an ikama, & kama'd it, ~~bu~~ ba (not bwa) puzwake.

I used to think people were simply speaking amongst themselves when they spoke discontentedly ~~bee~~ not because they had anything specially in view. For they ntula'd isu how to begin, whereupon Bambata arrived with an ihluzo or ikama and they sizakala. (gratified their desire). Bonk' abantu, — abatsha kakulu, nabadala, nabafazi, ba be kuluma. The beginning of this talk arose several years after Dinuzulu's return from St Helena and after the cattle had died off from rinderpest. ~~Who~~ The talk became specially marked when the land in Zululand was cut up, after the cutting up the farms the Poll Tax act was proclaimed whereupon the talk increased (qina). People began sending to Dinuzulu. Fighting almost began at the proclamation of the Poll Tax, for all over the country people demurred at having to pay. ~~Six Ch~~ There are 16 chiefs in Nkandhla Divn. These all agreed to refuse to pay & ~~th~~ were prepared to be imprisoned in a body. They had funga'd to one another that they would refuse. When the time came ~~be~~ it was found that only 6 had failed to bring up their "papers" = Hut Tax receipts, but the other 10 Hact without informing the 6, had brought their papers which ~~expressed~~ indicated willingness to comply. The six were sent to Saunders at Eshowe. The Hut Tax receipts had been called called up to ascertain how many young men were in each kraal and what persons were to be exempted. Others, in the meantime, had sent off amanxusa to umntwana to say "It is said we must pay Poll Tax on account of our children, but our children have to find money for our Hut Tax. We dont agree to this, seeing that we also have to pay Dog Tax." Dinuzulu, then said "Se ngi yi tele, should anything occur it will come about of its own accord, into e yo kwenzeka i yo zo zi velela; ngi ya bonga ukuba ni ngi ~~ta~~ tshele, keep on do so, keep ~~and~~ me informed of what comes about, what you object to." After this all the country paid. All the Chiefs of Zululand were unanimous in refusing to pay but when Dinuzulu paid they all concurred. The six had not heard of Di's paying, but when they got to Eshowe they agreed to pay & were sent back. [These were Mmiso ka Matshana, Mapoyisa ka Mbuzo, Mlokotwa ka Mpamela, Ndabaningi ka Siganandа, Macwaneka ka Ndube, Tulwana ka Nozaze

25.8.07 Before the Nkandhla fighting began, but after Bambata had actually entered the forest, Siganandа and Bambata sent 3 men to Meseni. After being informed, Meseni cita'd (sent in all directions) his own men about Natal. Had not the Bobe fight occurred when it did the impi in the forest ~~who~~ would have butana'd & become numerous. The messengers went about to people about the Colony who were already in ~~favour~~ predisposed to fighting (against Europeans). ~~All~~ Many, in Natal and Zululand, used to send messengers to Dinuzulu. Others sat on the fence in order to see if ~~it~~ the saying was true that bullets would not enter.

Qubile = ~~neutral~~ "Sat on the fence."

Esitilo. magwaza

Bambata began by seizing cattle Esitilo (hill — ~~so~~ in Mfungelwa's ward, Eshowe Dist). These cattle belonged to Ndube and his Magwaza people, i.e. those who ambaka'd & went off to the Govt at Eshowe. Bambata also panga'd onk' amavinkili viz: Esibudeni, Ntingwe, Mfongosi, Tugela (Ndondondwana drift - New march's), Ezilozini (Ntohebe)

Urinsonge = winding ilozi

These are the stores I heard of.

The Esibudeni store was looted by B. prior to our running away but after we had ceased to zinza and were prepared to move off at any minute.

We, people of Ndabe's tribe, ~~when~~ before B. arrived in the Nkandhla forest, knew that the Native people in general were demurring greatly at having to pay the poll tax. We first heard the cannon in Natal in Mapumulo. A man ~~fro~~ arrived who told us that Ngobizembe was angry and was fighting because he was averse to paying the poll tax. He said they had entered the Hlanze. This man was a member of Ngeolosi tribe kwo Hlangabeza. He said ~~the~~ an impi had been hlomisa'd by Govt., Mpezeni's & Nyakana, but the other chiefs are angry. ~~Mo~~ This man said, however, that Mpezeni's & Nyakana's people said they had thrown in their lot with the Govt. as a ruse so that they might be given guns & when so given they would turn on the Govt. & kill the Europeans. The action of Mpezeni & Nyakana was in consequence of this, generally approved by the Natives. I was with Nolala when this man spoke thus. We asked him what the Ngeolosi people said to this. He said "We too are angry, very angry." Presently another man arrived from ~~Natal Mfuno~~ Tshange tribe & said that Mfungelwa's people were arming. This had been done by Saunders' orders &, besides Mfungelwa's, the following had been told to arm Mtonga, Mgandeni, Sikonyane, Ntohingwayo, Lokotwayo. These had been ordered to cross into Natal and fight against Ngobizembe & assist the Govt. Mfungelwa armed his men, ~~A~~ but Nyamana ka Malanda, Ngane ka Manepu, Nggala ka Mbandamana, Mahlatini ka Sotshangana, Mtinzima ka Nggokwana and amadoda said "Ngeke si yo gwaz'abakiti." Mfungelwa then ran off & reported Enkantolo that his people ngaba'd. All these were thereupon arrested. Mfungelwa was directed to fine them as he saw fit. He fined them very heavily - each man (commoner) had to pay a beast; ~~in all~~ the headman named were each fined 6 head, & so over 100 head were got - nearly 200. We then heard that i yaleva fut' e Lishmana'. It was this fact which caused people to be angry & eager to fight, i.e. the hearing that hostilities were breaking out in various directions.

Ukukuluma kwa kude ku fika na manga. For as regards the Richmond impi it was said "O Nongqayi went to demand the Poll Tax, the native Chief however, tukuza'd impi & he himself catched, leaving only a few at home. The Eur. came, with a Sergt. whereupon those at home gala'd the impi, for ~~they~~ it was the plan that the few at home should begin & then a numerous body which was hiding came out of hiding & clashed with the Eur. & polished the lot off. ~~They~~ The only one who escaped went & told the author, in P.M.Burg ~~the~~ what had happened. Then the Eur. forces hloma'd & went. The Embo people & the Kolwas were said to have slept at the edge of ~~the~~ ~~[illegible]~~ forest & others where the road emerges. Those at the entrance kept concealed & refrained from attacking ~~until~~ for those in front to do so. This took place whereupon all were wiped out. This was done in the Richmond Dist.

When People heard these things they jabula'd but I used to say amanga.

~~People [illegible]~~ At Eshowe, Sikonyane's ka kuhleko people also refused to go and fight. Sikonyana merely bopa'd Fokoti - he ~~tol~~ took him to Eshowe where he was tried and sentenced to six mo. When Sikonyana collected his people & told them to arm, Fokoti said "What do you mean by telling us to go across into Natal, you do not know how to xoxa impi, why not tell us to go and lie in wait at Gingindhlovu and when Saunders runs off to Durban let us attack & kill him off? Sikonyana had F. arrested. He was given by the Magte

Nyamana

6 mo. & 25 lashes. His headring was cut off and no sooner was he allowed out of gaol than he died. Fokoti had expressed surprise at being arrested. ~~Sikonyana said he~~ Especially as others had been let off. S. said the reason for arresting him and not the others, who were ordinary Zulus, was because Fokoti was ingelebane (inceku ye nkosi, etandwa inkosi - the favourite inceku - Saunders). I spoke to Fokoti after he had been charged but before his trial. I asked him if he had said this he said he had & he had done so because uZulu was all angry, & the Europeans were troubling us. He asked me if I was not in trouble. I said no, I am not living on a farm. ~~Do~~ I do not have to pay poll tax. Ngi ya buso nje. Your father Mantingwane died, kwa sal'uyihlo futi u Mantangwane u ma shigela na? You got your influence in Zululand by reason of Saunders' help, your father Mant. was not known by the Zulus.

Mantingwane, wa kwa Hlope, abase Mangangeni. He belonged to Esinyameni kraal (Ogle's wohlo) and was an induna. He was ipisi, killed elephants, & ijinyati, ijimpope &c with a gun lent him by his master.

I heard that Bambata refused to pay Poll Tax, & that he would not come in when called to do so by the authorities, that he would fight and then run away to take refuge in Zululand. The ama Ngcolosi (Hlangabeza) I heard the wanted very much to fight against the Europeans. It was from them that I heard of Bambata's intention to run into Zululand. There are some of Ngcolosi people under my chief Ndube, these used to visit their friends in Natal & tell us ~~the~~ what they heard. Some of them joined Bambata, also Makabela's - there is no chief from whose tribe people did not break away and join Bambata.

(This was on Sat 7th Apr 85)

I heard the cannon Engome. On the Sunday

iNdwedwe - gudhlutukelo fever.

ku semnyamana, very early, Ndube memeza'd to say ai hlome. I was close by & went at once to Ndube. I then saw Mshudulwana ka Godido ka Ndhlela, a policeman of Colenbrander, ~~to~~ who said Ndube was to hlomis' impi & go and arrest Bambata who was eKotongweni, he has killed 2 Eur. in Impanza & one wounded. The cannon you hear in Impanza is because Eur. are fighting with him. Manganda told me, this man said, to arrive here on Sat. but I was afraid of going through this country at night. ~~we h~~

We hloma'd the same day & went eKotongweni. When it got e'Tulwana (stream – flowing from Macala) ~~it~~ the sun went down ~~they~~ I did not accompany it. They heard that Bambata had eza'd eKotongweni, use Nkandhla – those who were in front (of Ndube's people) & at Manyane stream heard that Bambata was not eKotongweni but in Nkandhla. They then all came back ~~&~~ homes, getting back at dusk. I had been sent off by Ndube to enyus' Insuze & listen to anything I could hear. A woman told me that Bambata was in the Nkandhla, where ube kwa Mmangwana ka Faku (on Sunday) and Nombika ka Mfelafute was also there. [It was on this Sunday that Nombika saw the gun which Dinuzulu had given Bambata, ~~and~~ Nombika afterwards told me this – i.e. that he spoke to Bambata & B. told him about the gun. Nombika ~~was~~ is still where? living]. After this I went to Nombika to try & see if what I had heard was true. When I got to Nombika, on this same Monday, I told him I was going about listening to Izindaba zezwe. I told him of ~~the~~ our impi having gone to arrest Bambata eKotongweni. I then asked him to inform me of anything he knew. He then landula'd saying

he knew absolutely nothing. He filela'd impela. Sengi m gudhla, but he persisted in refusing. ~~At~~ I kept on & then presently asked a very pertinent question, showing I knew something. He then told me, as I was an indoda, ndodana." Early yesterday morning, ~~the boy of Mmungwana~~ Zinqume, man of Ndube's tribe who had gone to gomes' izintombi kwo Mpumela e Manzane (he was not in our impi — as away at time it was called out). Zinqume said he had slept at Jobiza's, wa kwa Xulu (at Macala) East side, whilst asleep kwa memez' umuntu who said ai hlome! ni qond' ekolongweni. It was still dark. An insizwa went out & said Kwenze njani na? ~~Ho~~ The answer was Ku pel' izinkomo. Zidhliwe imbube. ~~Q~~ Question. Ipumapi na? Ans. Nati a si yazi. Ques: What are we to do with it, why don't you go to Manzanda & the Eur who have guns who will fire on it & cita its abnzopo na? All this time they believed it was a real lion. As a matter of fact it was a lie. Bambata himself was at the kraal where the shouting came from & he is the one who had directed this order to be called out. ~~instead of their obeying the Magist's order to catch him — this~~ The Magt's order had been sent by this time to Mpumela, for Mbhudulwana told us he had been there. But the Magt's order had probably not reached Jobiza's at that time. Zinqume was then left sleeping & the other izinsizwa went to where the ~~o~~ order had come from. The izinsizwa had told him to remain where he was, as he belonged to another tribe. It was very early, ~~so early that~~ about mpondozankomo time. One nsizwa came back & said use kona o kwa Magwaza lapa?

cross-questioning

where did memezi go on at?

He said 'Yes'. He said Woza lapa, Tshetsha! He still had on his ~~own~~ blanket. He said "You see the impi there, coming down the hill - there are 2 viyos of them. Eya pi na? Zinqume asked. He said it was Bambata's and had come from Esilangwini. - Zinqume then went ~~Nombika then asked Zinqume~~ off home & on his ~~way to~~ way called at Nombika's.

Nombika then asked "What ridge did he come down? He said "Wehle ngo lwase Nsimbini (name of Mmangwana ka Faku kraal - wo ku zalwa was' e ma cubeni). Nombika then went to Mmangwana's. When ~~they~~ he got there ~~they~~ he found Bambata's impi bivouaid at the gate of the kraal, ~~eating~~ with fires burning and eating the meat of the beast killed for them by ~~Tshekela ka Go~~ Tshelela ka Godide ~~to~~ at the drift opposite Kotongweni.

He found Bambata with his people. He, however, passed & went straight to Mmangwana's hut. As soon as he got in Mmangwana said "I am glad you have come (u'col' ufike) - ku vel' umhlola, oz' uzo ngi bonisa loku. He said that Bambata had arrived at his kraal from Mpanza where he had fought with Europeans and was wearing izilevu zabo Ezincwebeni zake.

Nombika would have gone in any case to Mmangwana's as they live close to one another & there was beer on that day. M: was busy tshanelaing the hut, he said he did so as he was about to call Bambata in.

Bambata then came in with his izinduna ~~Mkukwana~~ Mgombana & Mkamengana - Nombika said 'Ini, Zondi na? Bambata said "Imali ya makanda!"

B. went on to tell him that the cannon they had heard was directed at him but he had long escaped & was at 'Kolongweni when he heard it. The Eur. were simply ~~be~~ firing at the forest.

Bambata then said the cause of all this was the Poll Tax. He said 'Kade ngi wele, ngi ye ku Dinuzulu. D. had asked him if he had an isibindi. B said. Nkosi ngi ne sibindi impela. He then said "Mina, nas' isibamu, si ka Magazini. He also gave him Cakijana and an Msutu, a doctor who had medicine to cause bullets not to enter. This Msutu was a teacher (enfundisi).

D. said "Go and gata the impi, kill & hlinza them, & don't remain there whatever you do but run into the Nkandhla forest to Sigananda my grand-father, who will show you Dhlaba's ingaba. Nami ngi yeza, si yo hlangana kona. Ngiza nempi yami.

Bambata then pointed out that not one of his people had been killed, whereas he had succeeded in killing the Europeans, whereupon he pointed at the izilevu he had tungela'd on to his izincwebeni. He then called his people who had been scratched by the thorns, during the flight, &c and pointed to the marks saying the ~~bulets~~ bullets had caused them but been unable to enter. The muti given him by ~~Dr~~ the Nkosi's doctor was inyang' impela.

They then took their beer, & then left. Bambata then left with his impi, ~~[illegible]~~ Ewusa'd Insuze and went to Simoyi ka Mbango, wo ku zalwa'd Emacubeni, & who lived e Mome.

Mangwana & Nombika tumela'd to Sihlonono ka Matambo and ~~Sy~~ Simoyi to say that this man's arrival should be reported to Sigananda, for Dinuzulu had entrusted him to Sigananda.

Mntumuni ka Matambo ka Dhlaba was then sent by Mmangwana. Nombika ~~by~~ to Sigananda.

I then went home to Ndube. I got back on the ~~Sunday~~ Monday & told Ndube. I returned before all our impi had got back.

On Tuesd: (10th April) very early uFulatelicala, one of Colenbrander's police, came to Ndube to say the impi must return & go to Nkandhla where B. now was. On Tues: 10th Ns' impi hlomá'd a larger impi than before; it hlomá'd about lunch time. Ndube said I & Mzanywa were not to go with impi as he wanted to tuma us.

Mzanywa & I were told to go to Colenbrander to say the impi had hlomá'd & to say where it was. Our impi ngenisá'd eNkunzane, & namatelá'd ku Dobe. We slept with our impi. When I got to Magistracy I found it being prepared for Defence. Saunders then sent for me immediately. I gave Ndube's message.

Saunders arrived 9th

Saunders said we were to go back after we told him Ndube's impi was 5 viyos strong. He said the impi was to stay there & not to come into Sigananda's ward until Mansel, the mzati came.

I told Saunders then that Bambata was in the Mome. Saunders said Sigananda had told him Bambata was not there but had gone on to Dinuzulu.

I went home. On the Friday (13th) at night, I heard from members of our impi that Bambata had emerged from the forest.

The Govt. order was that Sigananda's ~~impi~~ tribe as well as Ndube's (Magwaza) were to arm & catch Bambata. Sigananda then said the impi was to tshay' umkumbi icelwe ngenteleyi. His & Ndube's then made an umkumbi, then Bambata gamuká'd with 2 viyos, the other impi vulá'd isango & he ngená'd. This was evidently a plan — kept secret among the amadoda. Bambata then tshisá'd umuti wake, o iyingeosana. A big smoke came & beká'd pezulu ezulwini.

Mntumuni reported Bambata prepared the 10th April again & wounds.

Muntumuni ka Matambo ka Dhlaba, wa sema Cubeni, was sent to tell Sigananda ~~had~~ Bambata had arrived. Muntumuni went to S. to say B. had arrived, that he was to be shown Dhlaba's ingaba and that Dinuzulu was coming. Muntumuni also said to S. akorfanel' ukuba uBambata u nga mbiki emakosini, u yo tol' icala. S. said "How is it Muntumuni that after being sent to me by the amadoda to ~~a~~ report B's arrival, he being umuntu ka Dinuzulu and yet you go and advise me to report (i.e. send me somewhere else or to do something else) his arrival to the Govt. authorities? So and do so yourself." M. agreed to go but said he would first go to the men who had sent him. He went back to the men, & returned to the umnumzana Sigananda and asked him to give him a man to go off to the Court House. S. gave him a son of (a kehla) Nongogo ka Mnteli. They then went off to Colenbrander. Muntumuni reported to C. as above. C. said go and & tell Sigananda to arrest ~~that~~ Bambata and bring him in. M. said "I know Bambata, I was once a policeman at Greytown, B. is simply uhlanya, uhamb' edhl' izinkomo zabelungu, eze, a botshwe, a pume, enz' okunye. M. was given assegais & a jazi at the Court House. He then went off to bring B. in. He went to Sigananda. He then told S. what C. had directed. But S. sola'd himself for having sent Muntumuni to the Court House. He said to M. I know nothing of Bambata, I have never seen him. You suggested going to the Court House to report; it is all your affair; you'll have to produce Bambata & give him to the authorities as you reported having seen him. You saw B., told me & then went off and reported to the authorities, altho' I had never even seen you. Its all your affair entirely. Muntumuni was then placed in an awful dilemma. The amaCube hlangana'd ngaze & ~~enz~~ enzela'd him an icebo. After Ms had gone off to the Magistrate, the amaCube relelana'd i.e. tshelana'd amongst themselves,

~~that~~ they repeated what Bambata had told them, namely that he had come from Dinuzulu who had given him medicine to prevent bullets from ~~[illegible]~~ penetrating into their bodies. They felt they had tola'd ibaxa lo ku kwelela, silwe nabelungu. For Bambata arrived among them utshwala kade bu bila kade and so B's coming gave them the very occasion for beginning to fight for which they had for long been on the look out.

Muntumuni went back again to the Court House & se pel' amandhla — for the amalube had jakaza'd or hlohlologa'd him saying who told you to go & report? When he said that the umnumzane (S.) had sent him, S. said "I never sent you". M. then went to the Magistracy taking back the jazi & assegais. Where is Bambata? Kazjwa. But ~~we~~ you came here to report he had been seen, didn't you. "Yes" replied M. ~~[illegible]~~ Did you not see him? "Yes, I did. When S. sent you to come & report B. ~~was~~ had arrived was not B. with S.? No. Where was he then? I saw him when he arrived, he was then on his way into the Mome. It was then I was sent to report to S. his coming — I was sent by the men

Colenbrander then sent Police to Sigananda. M. Muntumuni was detained for some time — S. said I know nothing. He komba'd him Ensuze, ngas' emome. The Eur. impi was then hlomisa'd — and Ndube's & Sigananda were hlomisa'd.

When Bambata was still at Kotongwem, Ndube's, & Mpumela's men — not Siganandas — were armed & told to go after him — Mbuzo's may also have been armed.

Muntumuni then returned to his kraal — Nkunya, Nguna & Mggibelo were sent to

Sigananda

Sigananda. Saunders was then at ~~Eshow~~ Nkandhla.
~~H~~ Saunders ~~asks~~ said to S. "Se si bambe eli ka Muntumuni. Ingaba ka Dhlaba wa yi tshelwa ubani uBambata?"
Muntumuni went back to his own people, joined them & with them joined Bambata. Be m'hlohl-loze nga mazwi wa ze wa 'tshu'ke'ka –
Ndube complained of the mistake made by Colenbrander in calling his men to arms & sending them after Bambata. If they had not been called up then & had waited till European forces came there would not have been so many rebels in his tribe – For what happened was that they saw Bambata and instead of opposing him threw in their lot with him and so increased his power.
This talk about fighting the Eur. has long been indulged in, including in places like Durban & P. M. Burg. In Durban there was even talk to the effect that each boy should kill his own master. The various white people who are in touch with Natives in the Borough will admit having heard this. Many of the Boro. N. police were killed as rebels in the Insuze battle as well as at the Mome.
The people all felt that Dinuzulu himself would really join in the fighting, their isiga was Usutu and their amarubo are a wa kwa Zulu. The isiga Usutu belonged to Dinuzulu, no one else. As for instance Ndube's people – the Magwaza ones – galisa'd in using the war cry Usutu – their natural one was uRwebede! U'bisi lu ya yeya imbupu = always keep wet – amaCube people said "uPindo" – they used Usutu for first time ~~and~~ The Ntuli people say uDidi! ma'bebaze! – Usutu for first time.

The Natives in general all felt that the whole of them would rise. They never anticipated any would throw in their lot with the Europeans. Now they blame themselves finding trouble come on them whilst others simply 'busa.

All the country used to xoxa about fighting. Ba hlehla muva nje. The Magadi ~~people~~ umuzi — so I heard from Tulumana — wa citshe wafa, njeng'o wa kwa Nyuswa nje. Wa sizwa u Jemuse — a Koleva (Jimuzuber) well educated. He has a newspaper, where boxes are made. This Koleva showed Mandhlakazisi, & the took it to Mgawe. Mgawe threw it away, not knowing anything of izincwadi. All he knew was what he heard — from Dinuzulu.

People of Zululand became apprehensive when Saunders was laying off farms — They then sent to Dinuzulu.

Muntumuni was afterwards shot whilst running away in the Mome valley. He was not in the Mome fight. He was ascending the mountain when fired at by the Eur. Many shots were fired but he still went on. Presently ~~a man~~ an Eur. took ~~one of the guns~~ mfungelwa's gun, fired & ~~the~~ Muntu-muni fell. He rolled down & down, bounding as he fell, until he reached the bottom. ~~When examined it was found he had so no less than seven wounds!~~

27.8.07 I find the boys in Zululand all calling themselves by the names of Dinuzulu's regiments. The practice has sprung up spontaneously.

Soewatsha says: — (written up after conversation)

Dingana was desirous of killing Mpande so he directed Nohlela to send messengers to him with 100 heifers as a present. On getting a present from that king Mpande would naturally come and bonga, when the opportunity for killing him would be seized. The messengers selected for the purpose were Matunjana ka Sibaxa, was' Mankuwanyaneni, and Ncaguana. Nohlela, however, did not want to see Mpande killed, so he saw Matunjana privately and told him to go off immediately & give him a scratch with his uzipa warning him not to come & bonga for the coming heifers but to flee as the intention was to kill him. The messengers drove off the cattle from the Mahlabatini district in the direction of Madungela ridge, running from near Fort Yolland (Mfanefile's store) down to the waggon-drift, Tugela, on which ridge Mpande was then living. When a short distance from Mpande's, Matiwana told Ncaguna that he wanted to pay his sweetheart a visit so he went off during the night, not this sweetheart but to Mpande, to whom he at once gave the warning. As soon as Mpande got the warning he prepared to 4.9.97 go. Matiwana returned the same night to rejoin his companion whereupon the two drove on the cattle, but when they came in sight of Mpande's district they saw people making off with their property & stock towards Natal. Matiwana asked Ncaguna what this meant seeing they were just about to deliver the cattle. Ncaguna could not of course explain. The only thing to do was to go back and report what had happened viz that Mpande had crossed over into Natal. Dingana decided to send after him. Now it so happened that Nzobo abéis Dambuza had been in the habit of issuing orders for the destruction of people and reporting his action to Ndhlela, Ndhlela asked him why he did not report to the King. Nzobo said "You are inkosi", the King is the izidee. This seems to have got to Dingane's ears. On the occasion in question, as a man of importance had to be sent to interview the Boers in Natal, Dingane directed Nzobo to go. Nzobo thought the ~~occasion~~ mission of such importance that Ndhlela himself should undertake it, but Dingane pointed out that, according to Nzobo's own showing, he was the Induna, for Ndhlela was an inkosi! Nzobo very reluctantly eventually yielded. He when he got to the Boers he was recognized by Mpande's people as one who was in the habit of killing off others whereupon information was secretly given to the Boers to the effect that he was the real cause of Piet Retiefs' party having been massacred shortly before. The Boers then took & bound the man to a ~~lot~~ waggon wheel and, setting the wheel in motion, he was crushed to atoms.

As regards Mateunjana, when he got back with Ncaguana, he went on at once to Ndhlela and told what he had done. Ndhlela then designed that Ncaguana ~~was~~ the person be charged with having given Mpande warning that Dingane had it in mind to kill him, for Mateunjana ~~had~~ to this effect It was accordingly intimated to the King who thereupon Ncaguana was forthwith put to death.

In after years Mateunjana was much beloved by Mpande, who gave him many presents of cattle as a token of gratitude for having saved his life.

The foregoing incident is the true origin of Mpande's flight into Natal and what is historically known by Zulus as ukudabuka kwe gioda.—

Nohlela's death.- (per Socwatsha) see p. 34.

This man was put to death by order of Dingane. This took place at Maqudeu. The reasons were: When the battle of Magonggo was about to take place, Dingane directed Nohlela to allow the whole force to attack Mpande instead of divisions thereof going forward at different times. Nohlela contravened Dingane's instructions by keeping back a large division with the result that the issue was doubtful when it could have been decisive. Dingane accused Nohlela of having done this by way of favouring Mpande for whom he had long shown feelings of partiality, especially when Dingane thought of killing him and Nohlela advised the King to leave him on the ground that he was an idiot. Dingane thought Nohlela's object was that D. should be defeated in order that Mpande might succeed to the throne. The order was that ~~Dingane~~ Nohlela was to be stabbed in such a way that he did not fall and that was done by hundreds of assegais being simultaneously hurled at him and these stuck in and about him in such a way that he did not fall flat to the ground as men do. He may have been sitting at the time, if so, he died in the same posture.-

The king keeps looking out, observes those nominated by izinduna. The king is seated with a batch of izinduna. The induna is told to tulisa them, they then stand up shields & peta - be at attention. Be absolutely silent.

Only one induna, one pumbo will speak who has magwi abukali - onga pambuki he is ne pumbo. Sokuti nya ke. The induna says 'Inkosi' iya ku beka infana ka bani & then mentu his name - intwabekela isigaba so kuti. When this is done they are from their various makanda. They are appointed with reference to the various amakanda.

Regimental procedure for not only cadets

Wena bani u yinduna ya kwa bani (kutshiwi' enkulu enga pezu kwake) endhlini roe though he has his own xiba.

These new appts vary, some great some small & others appts to succeed just like our officers & non com off. They advance by smartness & eventually become indunas yo muzi.

Some were appted because of high rank, some because of mere smarty. If any man of rank not smart, the smart one might be appted.

Novuyo used to be exercised separately. If anything to do the whole rest would go to Gaula.

Sibonda, ihlahla, utingo — one each of these, say two utingos. ~~Whethe~~ Where they stula equal to a load of many waggons. They all throw down & pass on.

Sebeti "Jabula mlamu wendana" (neeng' abatamubazo, ie let off his favourites who said they [illegible] or were ill or disinclined) "Sesi buya kona"

Rara'd bangad ukudhla, snatched from one another. Even that one had succeeded in carrying off would be snatched from him. The yindunas lamulad by several assaulting the boys.

Whilst ~~skinning~~ skinning men would be appted on guard with sticks — no knives — to strike any greediness. Some would be rendered unconscious.

Cebaing learnt by buck hunting. No special training in this. Will enter to take part in the sinning, for girls have come with food. They want to be bukwa'd. Pehla dudulana, = kapana pushed this way & that when trying to get a place. I have vimula'd why shd I be behind.

No kungaing of amabutu merely pakad impi to fight.
No training in military exercise, only the beating they got when banging ukudhla.

Whilst (x)ezaing they citeka age mizi. When grown up they have a kraal built for them specially.

Mbelebele i Emangweni.
Ngobamakosi had kwa Ndhlangubo kraal of their own.

Some izindunas are older than the regt, some younger (or when succeeding fathers) some as old.
use "bongele" ie shot up, grown up quickly, quicker than others ie butwad with mere boys has remained behind to be butwad with those younger than himself.
Ifa ini? welo ie a man is chosen by merit. A man not elected to indunas merely because of high birth, but for smartness.

Young indunas younger than regt may be appointed as successor to his aged father who was indunas but only a smart son would be chosen not necessarily the oldest or heir.

vus' umuz' omdala o so wa neipa ie in Tshakas kraal. Mpande & vusad old kraal, dying out.

Cetshwayo said especially he wanted Tshaka's dead out kraals to vuka.

C. said the izwe lafa in Tshaka's day through wars, so that people scubanad. The Pur'D man went to Durban & vice versa. C. said all were to go back to their own homes.

C. would ask who the former occupants of the old dying out kraals of his C's father were & then tell them to Gogana & go back there to vusa the kraal. This is done to busa by raising up Tshaka's kraals to the same extent that Tshaka had them.

They begin as youngsters to fight. learn fighting. At xezany they tshayana ilam'ubanya, & these have their izinduna. Unsebuzi will vela & 2 regts go out to work garula, hlakula, (with izipanga & izimbambo of cattle & few gejas). Iloka ni abuto alwa ngokwe lamana kwayo. The older ones say to the other ni nga ba fana. The latter say we are not boys, si ngo wenu, si ngahle si ni xotsha. Nezinduna zi ya ba ci ja. Ilayo i cij'abayo ukuti ba ngahle ba nahlu abas'ek tu na? Ni nga ni nga magwala ni ye saba, ma be ni xotsha. They would say they would never be xotsha. We would xotsha them & catch so & so (giving name of their great induna). The induna will say "They too say to one another that they could chose you all off & catch me". They would then start bragging as to what they could do.

These are the ways.

Impi is also xoxwa'd. When impi imminent all regts are called ngo kwelama kwawo & told to xox impi. Xoxaing is to gomana ie ~~the reg~~ ne regts says "Si yo i gwaza tina si yi cite" ba vel'abanyeba si yo na hlula ngempi. All this is education. The xoxaing lasts a day. But not xoxa'd kanye kanye for many regts.

Too many regts may be called up to finish gomaning on the one day, for many izinkani may be banged by the ~~former~~ first lot.

Abad tuli arises in xoxaning like civil war & lamula'd.

Ngobamakosi & Tulwana. Eyisa'd. C tunda'd Ngoba called it imbenge yami yamafundo. Ko ya hlafuna ku zinkobe na? When with their wives.

If you can ahlula me with impi, ngi yoba umfokazana wako o yo val'isango lo muzi wako. Ngi bek' intobazana yakwetu. If he is betting with inkosana he puts indhlu yakwetu yonke. This tukutelisiyanyaie.

Amagawe scotshinad by inkosi. Gevin food others get nothing. Those looking on, they form a firm resolve to improve. Isitebe se zilomo all called together.

One man hlabanad & hlabana'd igaga, idhlima & although brave in war is poor self advertiser.

when neindaing one spits out to begin with, then swallows, when going on neindaing. This goes on 3 or 4 mins.
The dengezi is red hot.
The dengezi for men is ~~spe~~ separate from that of women. The boys neinda ~~with~~ at men's dengezi after they have finished, whilst girls neinda after the women.
neindaing ~~is~~ & zaulaing is done in connection with all inhlola and lightning, also when people sick.
for umhlola & izulu all in the kraal neinda, but in sickness only the sick man neindas.
iwa, izulu iwile isikwehlela
sempofu
if a man sleeps at kraal & does not nukisa children all will get ill & some perhaps die. It is meat, taken from near the heart; it is fatty. Isikwehlela is a name of that meat. Children must be nukisa'd. see below.
all animals are got, skin, meat, bones, snakes, scamu, frogs, dogs, also amakubalo cut up to, all put into dengezi now red hot & when smoke of burning things rises the children are are made to nukisa (months open). The sick person is also put over the dengezi, covered over ~~to~~ with blanket & smells it till he gets into a perspirn. When all have done, the various drugs are taken out & allowed to cool. Then the ncindaing begins.

ncinda this is the regular medicine of a patient, he also zaula's, 'cata & palazaing – these all take place, but for izulu or umhlola all at house merely ncinda once & zaula and then go and potula.

pungaing is to cela only ncinda means something else than punga.

punga umhlola or betel' umhlola is the general term for the whole practice, though punga used alone applies only to celaing.

izulu, utekwane sitting on hut or on tango, izinsingizi, umhlangwe (snake), as well as all other animals unaccustomed to entering kraal, i.e. not fugiwed, e.g. impunzi. Everything entering a kraal is called umhlola, it is spoken of as having been sent by abatakati. They are spoken of as having turned them ~~with~~ by imiti. If imfene enters kraal, kuyapungwa kutuwe umhlola. Ibululu, imamba, inhlangwana not pungwa'd. Dubesi not punga'd, for come to eat call; also ingwe, impofu, ingwenza, impaka, impaka said to zaula a person asleep, gundas izinwele & takes to his 'father' i.e. umtakati.

isilili sendhlu = sides of house = izinhlangoti

inggungulu if ~~to~~ rudela's muntu hegulas or dies – is umhlola.

cakide bad luck you will go all day without food – unesisila kakulu i.e. ukwaliwa e.g. one not goma'd = onesisila. Should you see cakide when out courting you may as well return for you won't see any girls.

Good omens

tekwane, when going to Tomisa xamu ~~wil~~ runs across his path he will have luck & find girls. izindhlazi if a flock ~~goes~~ flies in front of you if you do not find girls you will meet with a plentiful supply of food, ingomfi if goes off & says kwe! kwe twe! & stretches out wings. it is bonga'd :-

This bird ~~has~~ brings the greatest luck. You would never pass by two kraals without finding the most abundant food.

imbiba. if seen running along path - you will find meat where you are going, kuhlatshuwe.

unyawo, if you strike the underpart of your foot against a stone & not the toes it means you will get food. isivivane, take stone up with foot, then by hand, xuba ne zibana (grass) & fela nga mate & throw on.

I saw one beyond Bishopstowe, this side of Umgeni, yesterday. I found food.

ibubesi, if seen having killed inyamazane, a man bongas amakosi, whereupon the lion will leave the buck & go off letting the person hongaing hlinzaing it.

infundamo = inhlwati - if seen, knows he will see a girl or get food. or if out hunting & he sees inhlwati he will have luck in bucks.

hair - not fihlwad but londoloza'd - hidden for fear abatakati will take his insila, others say umvemve will take & build house with & if this does so ~~the~~ all hair will fall off & he will ~~f~~ possibly accuse the abatakati whereas the umvemve did this. When the umvemve builds the hair falls off i.e. until it hatches young, the hair will then begin to grow.

isidhleke senyoni. = nest of a bird person cut open - must be cut open or you will gumba, you must let out the wind or you will gumba.

inkovu - widely believed in - like fairy tales. No one ~~h~~ has seen inkovu - an umtakati vusa's a dead person, cuts out tongue & such person becomes umkovu. If one sees umkovu one dies becomes unconscious & then become an idiot. Friends of a person among inkovu will throw stones at him to warn him not to run into danger, but will be unable to articulate anything having no tongue.

The inkovu might be sent to a place where one is ill late at night. It then kalas outside maze babo! or & hlolela's him & says he should die. Even if not ill wants him to get ill.

izindondo = are invunulo yamakosi kugala, yaba-tobokazi, & amakosikazi. indicative of rank.
Two kinds, white & others red. ~~the~~ Umango funa'd them - zindondo only for ornament not connected with birth, so far as I know.

I know nothing of goat being pointed towards sick person. but it is a fact that a goat or cow will have head pointed enhla to ~~head~~ top of kraal, as if the head points ~~to~~ downwards it means izimpahla wont anda will go on dying off, &c. But a buck skin is so pegged out as to bek'ezansi, so as to ~~co~~ give you luck always to get better of them.

~~hows~~ Isilo (ingwe) if killed is brought home & a beast killed and as the one is skinned so is the other, this is done ~~becaus~~ so as to tame the leopard as a beast is tamed so that in the future when other leopards are hunted those hunting will get ascendancy over it. The Ingwe is also eaten along with the beast, but eaten sparingly. The skin pegged out looking downwards.

The ~~skin~~ isilo, before skining, is taken to Inkosi who eya's it esibazeni, uyazi qonela for the ~~the isilo~~ ~~is~~ chief is another silo, so as to get the better of it.

The person ~~kill~~ who stabbed isilo first given a beast for his pains. On getting home he gets a goat & gives to the one who hlomula'd.

<The originals of the notes which follow were recorded by Stuart in telegraphic form. We render them here with a minimum of editorial intervention - eds.>

Per Ntazini, 20.2.1910.[1]
The wagtail (umvemve) not killed by great majority of people.
The wasp (umyovu) - black-red-black, not killed if builds in house, say on ceiling.
Cockroaches (amapela) are killed for they enter the food.
Egg-shells - so that the chickens won't die - a lot stuck together.
The abakwaNgubane people (amaBomvu people) cut off the little finger (nquma ucikicane) - put in cowdung.
We (Embos) cut the tip of first finger, but not all of us do this nowadays.
The hammerhead (tekwane) - feather in head - not killed because if killed a hut burns (will burn) because it is an evil bird (inyon' embi).
Should a person die, rotten in nose and mouth, pus coming out, no lamenting, for if lament all his family will die off, also the following generation.
The umdhlebe bush, if taken home by anyone, all will die there; they must be gcaba'd with it first, then can be brought.[2]
The ground hornbill (insingizi) causes consternation if comes to kraal; doctor consulted, for this is the bird that brings izulu.[3]
The bateleur (ingqungqulu) - pluck out a handful of grass from top of hut - doctor - this bird brings izulu a great deal.
Sticks to keep owl off - Ntazini knows not of this. Sticks to decorate (hloba) but one hammered well into hut, not out of sight, for izulu.[4]

2 Zulu superstitions (continued). Per Ntazini, 20.2.1910.
If a baby cries very very hard, they say, 'It will die.' It will become dry; it will die crying.
There is a forest where one cannot enter and sit, will become mad (penduk' uhlanya). There is one of these at our home. We call it uNomandhla - very dark inside.

Isivivane - to bring good luck. We have them. A person lumula's and throws a stone there;[5] picks up, throws down, treads on the stone, then spit on it (fela) and throws it on the heap.

Kings' graves and stick.

Kings' graves, harbour of refuge.

If one goes into the field of another, makes water, takes very small clod <illustration omitted - eds.>, puts in navel (inkaba), rub it (kwihla) and then swallow so he won't be sore in the bladder (esinyeni).

If he goes inside a garden with a buttock-cover (ibetshu) of bushbuck skin on, the food in that garden will die off.

An unmarried youth (inziswa) does not sit between pole and fireplace - will be refused by girls.

An inziswa is not given food whilst it is dark, waits till fire bursts into flame again, so that he will 'shine' with the girls and have fortune with them; won't eat in dark, girls will refuse him. This applies to girl as well, she won't eat in dark, she will receive, and then blow the fire to life.

If lying on stomach, all his affairs will 'lie down', sink, not come to anything.

Even if a bad (poisonous) snake enters king's grave, not killed there, waited for and killed after it comes out.

If the king appears and I am carrying stick in right, I remove to left and not use it to walk with (dondolozela), as it would be said I am behaving with contempt and stabbing the king below.

A left-handed person - tied over with a sock, so as to accustom himself to be right-handed, or burn him so as to have a sore, and in that way accustom himself to eat with right.

Child sleeping nge ndhlebe,[6] if father away, said, 'Your father will come.'

If a piece of spider's web drops from top of hut between people there is someone coming.

Eclipse [?]

Umkosi - not eating crops before holding of.

[Circumcision]

Love philtres, love tokens (beads).

Pepa![7]

The buck belongs to him who first draws blood.

Killing beast for sick person so that it breathes on him, faces him as it expires.

Customs of one who has stabbed in war, hero.

If hammerhead gets up in front of one and defecates, it is an omen that one's journey will be prosperous and fortunate (umhlope). [A.J.S.][9]

5 Per Ntazini.

Going to beer, carries medicine (muti) to administer to another.

Umkosi, sweet reed (imfe), gourds (amaselwa), maize (asked for), amapuzi pumpkins (asked for), sorghum (don't ripen in time).

Girl reports the year (unyaka) to her lover with beads, i.e. before eating mealies; reports, say, by a girl or youth from home of the lover, even if mkosi held but she eats stealthily until she has reported to her lover. This independent reporting occurs even if umkosi has been held and both are of same tribe. The lover also refrains from eating until he has reported to girl, say with a piece of soap, or ubusengi,[10] or grass armlet, i.e. rolled round bracelet.

Reed whistles (amagemfe) or (amagekle) not played before the umkosi has been held; also the horn (upondo).

A youth will go and cut a very long stick, tie a new-bought white flag (handkerchief) on top of it so that it will be seen that he has been chosen (qalisiwe), i.e. loved by a girl. This stick stood up on kraal fence before the centre hut - stick about 6 ft. high - or between even numbers. How is it so-and-so's flag is absent seeing he was chosen (qoma'd)? Girl does not cause flag to flutter. I don't know what was formerly used instead of cloth.

Mkosi dance not held by others except chief.

Hlonipa, mother-in-law and son-in-law (mkwenyana).

Horns stuck over doorway for luck.

Inhliziyonkulu or amatulwa.[12]

Slide in a line down flat rocks, where very little water and stones are sloping - slip down into pools, then run round to get first place - depends on length of slippery place.

Take umdongwe clay - like ibumba[14] - make cattle - put where don't get wet, in donga, until 30 or 40 or 50 of these are made - done whilst herding cattle - take out from time to time and put in sun until get hard. In absence of owner another boy may take off the hoofs and put back - but he will also pull off one or two of his so as to make appear he is not responsible, for his would be inspected. Boys from different kraals come together to herd. Some of them don't <illegible> one another. Cattle of different kraals are milked at different times, so chance given to take off hoofs.

Socwatsha & Gedhle

S. I know not about breaking the web of a spider to hasten arrival as Gedhle says.

S. upatelanjalo or ütshomu – the carrier of izidwedwe & Izidwedwe. Cetshwayo & Mbuyazi – A beast was killed, with nice coloured hide – ox, cut into 2 shields. The ukosana patas the shield on the inxeba side. The kohlo patas ngas' endhleleweni (i.e. the side on which a beast eats grass) – (the calf in a cow is on the nxeba side) – ~~This was~~ Cetshwayo always got inxeba shield, Mbuyazi got the other until Mpande pendukad & gave isihlanga se nxeba & gave it to Mbuyazi & gave C. the indhlelo shield C. then kukumalad in his heart. ~~Nay~~ Why does father cut me the indhlelo shield & Mb. the inxeba one. He is evidently bekaing Mbuyazi & ousting me. The izinduna fakanad imilomo & whispered ~~of~~ about what Mpande had done. The shields were kept emnyangweni – there was only one umnyango for the princes shields. There were many sons of Mpande who were amamboza. Mbuyazi shield got lost, lost enyangweni where all his brothers shields were kept. C. had taken it – useyo gezela ku sona, ngemiti ye zi nyanga zake, ngob' emqonela emapula. uyagein' ukutgezela ku sona usi nik' unina uNggumbazi, ku be ~~it~~ irawu lake (~~lika~~ unggumbazi lo ku hlala). Si ya funw' isihlanga lapa. After the Nggumbazi had sat the time which the doctor had prescribed she should do, it was taken & put in its place. Hau! si vela ngapi na, as it has been looked for here, enyangweni we zihlanga. Some said a si tatwe si yo tohiswa, nomntwan' (umBuyazi)

use vuma, useti a si yo tshiswa. The men said Why should the shield be burnt seeing the prince is not dead. Some of the men said it shd be given to ~~the ...~~ an inceku. At this time the umbango usu kulile, u su sondelen' eduze, neziggoza se zi i'xôx' impi. Se zi sik' izihlangu to get ready ~~fo~~ in case of war. They piselad inkonto. The Usutu did likewise & pisela'd inikonto. The impi - Ndoordakusuka, then qatekad. Mpande then said to Induna Ntobolongwana ka Matshwayibana. He told him he was to go round to all the izikulu zakwa zulu & tell Mpande secret viz that he Mp. vana'd Mbuyazi & that their forces should go onto Iziggoza side. Ntobolongwana however did not go & arm them ~~in the~~ as directed. The big induna Masipula ka mamba prevented him. He said he wanted uzulu wonke to go on to Cs side & Mbuyazi to be killed. The King is namanga i ixôki. The Boers asked who Mp's chief son was & he pointed out Cetshwayo & the Boers hlabad C. upawu endhlebeni (very small piece cut out of right ear) & then the Boers put clothes on him. We do not agree. uzulu wonke ahlome aye ngaku Cetshwayo. Mbuyazi had by this gone out with his impi.

Mbuyazi was defeated - due to the shield having been treated as above stated by C. He defeated him because he washed on the shield. He qonela'd him.

iDhlozi
get grave umhlabati. Gedhle agrees, so does the induna Mbokode get ubulawu from doctor, to pendul' idhlozi, so as to beka ngo buso ekaya & not go there nyovane.

The inyanga comes with ubulawu dug up - various drugs dug on the hills, tied up in his inkondhlwane ie isihlandhla so ku bopa. He (doctor) says - go & get water from waterfall for where water hlokomas, & to get it ngesigubu so selwa - to be fetched by intombazana etumekayo e nge nal'ulaka - a willing girl - e nga ka tombi - or a boy o'tumekayo may be sent - before he tombas.

The doctor calls for a white, spotless goat. It is hlatshwa'd. A large kamba is got into which the pounded ubulawu will be put. All uzalo of that idhlozi will be called together. If anyone is absent, the isifo will go on to him. The goat is hlinzwa'd. As it is hlinzad the muti is kandwa & telwa'd okambeni - then the cold water (fetched) is poured in. A'baxa is then taken & pehlwad. A big white gwebu is worked up. The imbuzi nyongo is telwa'd there. If old men & women there, those dead are all bonga'd by the zibongo used of them whilst still living. They are spoken to as if they were within hearing of what is said, begining with the great idhlozi. Han banilani - by his name penduka pel' usi beke. Ubek' umuzi wako. Then bonga'd by his zibongo at length. Then go on to another dhlozi thus: Nawe pelabani. The amakosikazi are also bongwad, ntombi ya se kutini. Utule nje ubukani unga 'bek' abantaba bako. We ask that we may tol' inkonz' enhle kubelungu, si tol' inkomo.

Si Kulekela ukuba si gonywe izintombi, ba gane pela bonk' abantu kwand' umuzi. Si Kulekel' inzalo, nabantwan' abagulazo ba sind' emku-hlaneni, nabafazi abangemitiyo, be mite. Si Kulekel' amabele, ukosi, ukuba si tshay' amabele. Se be palaz' ngo bulawu, the ukosana begins & he washes with it - others follow suit. Others only rub ~~wet~~ hands wet with ubulawu ekanda, only ukosana gezas. The cattle now come back when a big ox is killed, ku tetwe ku bongw' amadhlozi. The same kind of prayers as before will be said. One man will come out & say Here is your food &c. The cattle are taken to top end of kraal, near amatole sibaza. The man tetaing walks about tetaing. The ox is hlatshwai & eaten & finished.

Sometimes the ceremony is followed by success - the dhlozi pendukas & the kraal increases in prosperity. On other occasions there is failure.

ba u swaza ngo mswazi

We see from this failure that it was not due to the idhlozi having become onakele but because abatakati had swaza'd ngo mswazi ~~to~~ in a way that the doctors could not detect or discover. This proves that the doctor simply guessed what he thought the evil was due to &, in saying it was idhlozi elonakele & then himself pendulaing the dhlozi & the evil ~~is~~ still continuing to exist, shows he was lying.

isitota odakeni swazini

Some will say (after finding no success) gunsani ngezo kwelapa, it is not due to amadhlozi at all. The doctors are wrong.

S. continues: When my hair is cut I collect it & either bury it in mud, or put it in the water or tuck it into isikota so that it ~~can~~ will be burnt when the grass burns. I do not burn hair because zi zo si nukela.

izintelezi - umpikayiboni, umnyawe mpunzi, mpishimpishi, isidondi, umatshwibitshwi, umatshikitshiki. These are for imhlola yonke, nas empini.

abatakati are ordinary people. He is like a thief or adulterer. They have kraals &c. Some takata particular people those they hate. He kills one of his fathers own children i.e. brother.

ubulawu = ibeka, isidala, uvuma, itshinga, inhlanhla, umusa, umpendulo, ugugukile (igugu), ~~inhlo~~ ipengulula, izaza, umoyomnandi, umfanezacile, umdumowazo, ugwayiwazo (izintombi), ubane, ~~uvuma~~ usikisiki (wezintombi) (this was not patwa'd by anyone except inkosi), umwuluka, ibuta, isitati, intwalabombo (Gedhle says: intabombo) umkoka, isengama, isiwisa, ihlali, iguleni, impepotshani, umtunyelelwa (umatunyw'a vume onjeng' empaka itunywa uyise umtakati), umwelela ('kwelipetsheya), umtolo, umhlwazimamba, umondi

Not all have these things. Only those who gwaza'd ~~izintombi~~ impi. Igawe carries & kota's ngoku twasa ngonyaka. There are izinsizi inside. This kotaing is done to ginisa one to prevent his becoming isipukupuku or uhlanya. He may be ngwenwa'd igungo - i.e. become transformed, become different constituted to what he was.

Nowadays when a man reckoned to be well off in cattle & talks about not having enough & wanting to come by more, others will liken him to Tshaka who, although universally believed to have boundless wealth with numberless amakanda &c complained of being poor u njeng' o Tshaka o wat' umpofu.

Noradu ka Mazwana kwa Magwaza [Qetuka ka Mangondo ka Mazwana kwa Magwaza abakwa Magwaza were Zidhlu zya Selangeni, ba datshulwa akwakeSana] told me about 5 or 6 yrs ago that he was micka ya Tshaka's kwa Bulawayo. N. then went with another inceku whilst a third carried amanzi nge zigubu in order that they may klamba. They got to T. whereupon he klanza said: Mina mfana kwa Mazwana! Mantingwane told me he was a boy when Tshaka was assassinated. He was seated near by when Mbopa came carrying a handful of assegais. He began striking the Pondos who were talking to T. T. remonstrated with Mbopa who thereupon threw an assegai at T, sticking him between shoulders at back. Mhlangana, Dingana, Nggokwana & Sopane came forward & also threw assegais at T as he was making towards the gate. He turned and cried out "Ni ngi bulala ba ntaba ka baba ngenzeni?" He fell at the gate. Mhlangana suggested he shd be dragged (endula) down and pitched into the emvivane (name) pool (full of crocodiles) of Imbozamo stream. Dingana said No, he must be buried in the same way that kings are. Mantingwane was then directed to fetch a black ox from Nyakamubi cattle. This was done. The ox was killed & the assassinators sprinkled themselves with inyongo & cinsa'd &c. Mantingwane was next sent for igabi lezinkabi who belonging to the Nyakamubi hut (from which S. concludes it the name refers to a person, say Tshaka's sister &c) — this gabi were all killed whilst T's body was properly tied up in the black ox's skin & the corpse kept until only bones remained. Numbers of izinceku were killed & buried with T, whilst all T's personal belongings at Nyakamubi as well as at Bulawayo & other makanda was collected & buried with him by order of Dingana. S. knows nothing of his having been buried next day or being buried in a mabele hole. Mantingwane shd have been killed but he got off on account of his youth. Nyakamubi S. suppose was some near relative of T's, possibly a sister.

The former organization as in accordance with imizi not age. The group would be called abase kutini. They would form their own amaviyo.

Under later system, viyos were formed at amakanda, those knowing one another entering same viyo, but where those of a particular neighbourhood were unable to form viyo they might be ordered to amalgamate with another batch but little known to them.

We thus see viyos were formed principally on a basis of knowing one another.

Every regiment has an isibay'esikulu section, and in this section, which ~~is~~ marches at the rear, is the principal commanding officer of the regiment.

Tulwana was also isibay'esikulu, but this was because the King was ~~with~~ a member of that regiment. Hence the whole regt. was isibay'esikulu.

The isibay'esikulu occupied left side of kraal facing cattle kraal gate. On the right was uhlangoti, but ~~on~~ there was also isibay'esikulu of the hlangoti and in such section was the principal induna of the hlangoti; — now the induna of isibay'esikulu was the principal induna of regiment as a whole, the induna of hlangoti was under him.

The commanding officer (umdidiyeli, o didiyelayo) is that of isibay'esikulu, for he didiyela's = hlanganis' onke, he tshaya's all amaviyo, the induna yo hlangoti is in command only over his own particular section. Should induna of the isibay'esikulu die, the king may appoint anyone else he likes. The induna of uhlangoti was not second in command in event of chief induna being killed &c.—

from isigamelo (isicamelo) = head rest

isicamelo (umgamelo), ikala, isisu, isibay'esikulu. There is first the nose, then the stomach, the head-rest and the great sibaya. The leading section is called ikala.—

izindunas would ~~ginga~~ = imisa, cause to halt; gqiba, get back impi were isibaz' esikulu ~~to~~ to go out first by mistake.

The great induna of isibaz' esikulu has his hut at gate of cattle kraal, so also, on his side, has the induna of uhlangoti.

Ikala is also known by names udhlawu or upondo.

Se be yi gwaz' ibece = stabbing in the back as running away.

isatshayana ngezi fuba = face to face action

Differences in Bambata's impi as compared with Zulu military system.

1. The Zulus used to drive a herd of cattle (say 20–40, but nearer 40) along with impi and these would be kept intact until those of ~~imp~~ enemy had been captured when the latter would be taken as food & the others driven back to the king's kraal once more. But if food ran short the induna was allowed to kill and eat of this herd, but care was taken that induna only & his immediate coterie got any of this meat. It was not eaten by anyone.

These were taken from the Kings cattle.

These cattle were known as u Gibigolo, e yi ya u ~~y~~ dhl' ezinye. I dont know if any of these cattle were driven along in Zulu war.

This herd of cattle (say 20–40 in all) was not to be found in connection with Bambata impi.

I heard of this herd of cattle of very many amadoda, these izinkomo e zi ~~yadhl~~ ya kudhl' ezinye; they went out in days of Tshaka, Dingana, Mpande & Cetshwayo.

2. It never happened, as it did in Bambata's impi, for a section of troops to absent themselves ~~&~~ on pretext of going off to look after their women & children. I saw this in Bambata's impi. Soldiers patela'd their women & children inyama yempi, yezinkomo ne yezimbuzi.

3. It never happened, as occurred in B's campaign, for women, children & old men to hide in same forest as the warriors, the two lots went into different forests. ~~&~~ An illustration of this was at Mbonje (itate).

The Reserves that came across from Natal found abatshokobeya with men & women &c who had ngenisa'd at my kraal. All fled off, Boers opened fire, shot women & children, not being able to distinguish them amidst all those who made off for it seemed from a distance as if men only were running off.

4. Bambata, at Bobe, directed that Mavalana, Falaza, Hayelwengwenya were all to keteka. Macawaneka refused – he being induna ka Ndube, who had hlubuka'd with Ndube's people. Macwaneka said they shd fight according to their izifunda.

At Mome Bambata wished the same thing, but Mehlokazulu ngaba'd saying they must fight according to izifunda, so that they should tukutela. Mehloka-zulu said impi ye nhlanganiselo kayi tukutela – & that best way is for people who know one another to fight side by side.

5. The methods of fighting were generally same as those of former days. Siganando's people claimed to be the isibay' esikulu – ~~for all~~ Then all of them, they said, had hloma'd including Chief, whereas ~~the others~~ the chiefs of others who had assembled ~~&~~ had simply ambuka'd. The Cubes had their own chief with them, but the chiefs of all the other rebel sections of tribes had ambuka'd & did not throw in their lot with rebels.

In ordinary war of Zulus there was no ambukaing. When Macwaneka refused to let the Ndube section of rebels break up into regiments, he was kankata'd by Sigananda, who said "Who are you, a mere dog that you are. Where is Ndube your father? A ngiti ngi zo ku tola na? (having no father).

6. The doctoring generally was similar to Zulu practice. A ~~man~~ boy who carried igoma le ntelezi (even without intelezi in it) would not speak whilst carrying – Were he to speak, intelezi would onakala. There was also ~~an~~ a a man who carries igoma le ntelezi does not speak black isigubu a sigubu carried by Mandisindaba's boy, quite black as also panjwa'd with izintambo & all quite black because panzekwa'd & black with intutu.

No one is allowed to talk when being celwa'd with intelezi. The doctor signals to those present, wiping his hand over his mouth to indicate silence. Were talking to go on, the intelezi would go wrong —

Dinuzulu knew nothing of impi. He sent no one to fight at Ukandhla. Where he went wrong was to harbour Bambata's children & Bambata & Co during rebellion without reporting having done so to the authorities.

Sigananda declared that the impi was Dinuzulu's & that Mankulumana comes from nowhere (ie not from Dinuzulu) but had been paid money by the hat ful to come down to ~~Sigan~~ them.

No messengers were actually sent by Dinuzulu to the impi.

wazelwa eyipaka nyova, ngo nyandhla ie. he issued instructions in a secret or concealed manner. ukunyandhla ie. to nyenya i nga bonwa. This is said by us when D. was being tried, for he gave Bambata a gun.

No one was murdered after Dinuzulu's arrest. Kwaba umuti ukubamb' ~~a~~ uDinuzulu.

I believe Dinuzulu wayazi impi ngo nyandhla, utshotsha pansi a nga bonwa muntu, eyi nyelelisa.

It is quite likely Dinuzulu was restrained from rebelling rebelling for fear of what ~~ka~~ Tshanibezwe and ~~Zibelu would~~ Meiteki would do. He, D. sent to Kambi ka Hamu to say abelungu ba tshis' ubaba. Kambi said: Baze ba tshis' ubaba, niti Kakuk'o bo ku ngene ku baba nje, a ba funa kona, kuze kutsh' ubaba be fana (funa) kona na?

Hence Dinuzulu ~~w~~ put out a feeler, thinking Kambi would get angry, but he didn't & his supposition as given above was a correct one as a matter of fact.

D. also sent to Maboko ka Masipula to say Namp' abelungu se béza. Nji cel' abafana, oku tatela ku Falaza kuze ku geine ku Mavalana. Ba hlom' izihlanga ba zi gogonge ba zi tukuze & if meet Eur., say they are going to hlakula ensimini yo-mntwana kwa Dalala.

Maboko replied: Dont catshela abelungu, go to them, ngoba a wu lazi izwi a ba li letileyo, ba zo tini.

16 Aug. 1913. Notes on Sir Theophilus Shepstone.

~~SOCWATSHA~~ J

Report by Socwatsha of his visit to various people re Sir T. Shepstone's historical interviews ~~between~~ with Mpande and Cetshwayo & concerning Monase's children in or about 1857

He (S.) was sent to get information by the late A. J. Shepstone.

The most important informant was Lutoluni ka Zucu, wakwa Lamula (this tribe apparently originally from Swaziland). I met this man at his kraal near Mdunduzeli Ridge, Nkandhla District, & close to Ndikwe stream just before Mr. A. Shepstone's death (Oct. 1912). ~~He spoke thus:~~

I told him I had been sent by the Inkosi, Mmango, to ~~sy hef~~ ask him (L.) if he knew of Somsewu's coming to Mahlabatini to fetch abantwana ka ka Monase (mother of Mbuyazi ka Mpande) [Monase was daughter of Mntungwa wakwa Nxumalo]. He said: Yes, I was present. He asked who sent me to him, I said Mmango, a former Magte, Nkandhla. He knew Mmanga.

L. went on:- Somsewu first came to Mpande (at Nadwengu). He said: Ngi zo ku kalela Mhlaka Senzangakona ~~[illegible]~~ ngabantwana bako abapele e Ndondakusuka. Mpande said nothing. Somsewu went on to bik' indhlala. He said that Monase and the various other wives of Mpande who had crossed into Natal with her [~~some~~ one to marry Mgundane ka Maboyi ~~others to marry~~, another married Mahoyiza ka Mlandu] - others died in Natal without remarrying. Monase died Emtunzini, near Estcourt]. He said all these had insufficient food. He asked Mpande to provide food for them viz cattle, for cattle ~~[illegible]~~ were very numerous indeed in Zululand, as plentiful as the grass.

S. went on: Baya kala omnkako, ba kala ngezingane zao. Kubulawana kubulawane umndeni; u buy' uxolelane, u buye wenzelane uxolo. Uti, kako e ngi m vanayo, ngoba ni nga bami nonke. Nombuyazi, no Cetshwazo, nawe Mpande, ni nga bami nonke. Kako e ngi ngam vanayo. All these words were very pleasing and acceptable to Mpande. Had Somsewu had only Mpande to deal with, he would have returned with the cattle and the children. [These children had remained behind, being esigodhleveni, when their mothers escaped during the hostilities. The children were Batonyile (who had married Mtateni ka Myandeya), another had married Mmiso ka Matshana ka Sitshakuza]. Mpande, however, was afraid of Cetshwazo, for he was averse to Co succeeding him. Cetshwazo had accused Mpande of having gata'd him & Mbuyazi to fight. He even said of Mpande - leli xegu li na macebo, ngoba kugala lali 'beke mina; silwa nje nombuyazi, se li 'bek' umbuyazi. It was for these reasons that Mpande was afraid to accede to Somsewu's request. Shepstone then informed Mpande that he was going on to Cetshwazo to kalela him just as he had been doing to Mpande.

S. came accordingly to Cetshwazo, finding him at his kraal kwa Ggikazi kwabo (I dont think Undi kraal had as then been built).

S. repeated what he had said to Mpande

He also said: Ni nga bami nonke nofilayo nohambayo Kako e ngi m vunayo. ~~Not~~ I have come to report that ~~they had~~ onyoko have run away to me. Se be bulawana indhlala. Onyoko bayakalake, ba kala nge zingane. Abantu ba bulalana, ba bulalane ba buye ba xolelane. Soku vel' u Ngoza ke (indema) – u seti O ngu Nyoko, u Monase, uti a ngo m fakel' amehlo ezinganeni, abanta bake. Monase had directed him to see them with his own eyes. Cetshwayo said Namp' esigodhlweni, elawini. Wa hamba ke u Ngoza, wa ngen' esigodhlweni, wa ngena, e yiswa' inceku. Wa fika & wa ba bona. Wa kuluma nabo. Wa konzel' onina. They asked if their mothers ba sa hamba kahle na? Ngoza told ~~him~~ them their mothers were living alright at the Mngeni, not very far from Bishopstowe & Table Mountain.

Cetshwayo replied: Ngi se zo tshel' amadoda, on hearing what Som had come about. A general meeting of Zulus was thereupon arranged & a large number of men attended.

As regards Ngoza's visit to isigodhlo, there were it should be added izinceku looking on who sided with Mpande and others who sided with Cetshwayo.

When the great meeting ~~was~~ had been convened & all were present, Sir T.S. was invited to address the meeting ~~them~~: Tata, Somsewu! said Cetshwayo. Wa pinda wona a wa tatayo, mhla e fikayo. Ukubuyisa ku ka Cetshwayo, kaz' am pendula. Wati ku Ngoza, "Ngoza! u bu landeni esigodhlweni?" Wati, "ngi ya buza, u bu landeni esigodhlweni?" Wati u Ngoza "be ngi yo bon' amantombazana". Wa kuluma ngo ku futeka u Cetshwayo.

Somsewu ~~w~~ did not cross into Natal
by the Dhlokweni drift (just below Singqungu's (Tookey) drift) — but by the Ngubevu drift apparently & crossed into Mabomvini tribe.

Somsewu when he got back felt he had narrowly escaped with his life, so with Ngoza, who felt that with the Eagle (Kozi) ie Cetsh. ordering him to stand up he felt his last day had come.

Ngoza was got into trouble by the izinceku. Lutoluni did not say what tales they told C., perhaps that he had advised the "children" to Ega.

Shortly after this, Cetshwazo, knowing he was disliked by Mpande, caused Nomantshali, (Mtonga's mother) intandokazi ka Mpande to be killed in Mpande's presence, by way of causing ~~him~~ ~~the father~~ him (Mpande) to be inspired with a dread of Cetshwazo.

Sigayi (girl) was Mpande's first born — eldest of the whole family.

Lutoleni is of Mdhlevu regiment. His story was partly confirmed by Mhlahlo ka Bekeleni, near Impandhleni Magistracy, who spoke to Ocwatsha on a different occasion.

Lutoleni did make some reference to Sonsewu saying that even though C. killed him, the white people would come to fetch his itambo.

He did not say S. refused to allow Ngoza to speak to C. on the ground that he was a dog. Nor did he refer to Masipula's remonstrating with C. by calling out Hazi! Hazi! Ndhlanvuzo! Hazi! Ndhlanvuzo.

Note. Henrique or someone referred to a beautiful speech Mpande made on hospitality on this famous occasion.

C. got into a rage about Ngoza apparently at Shepstone's tents, just before he left for Natal.

Socwatsha speaks:

Mantingwana ka Ndingiyana, wakwa Hlope told me the following: He never knew his father, owing to ~~H~~ Tshaka's impi vimbezelaing & killing them off. His father was killed, but mother succeeded in escaping with him. She was tolewa'd in a certain tribe and a given kraal. The inmates of the kraal decided to go & look for amabele. M's mother accompanied them & proceeded to the very kraal from which she had fled. When there, impi came & killed her & those with her. Those who escaped returned to kraal at which M had taken refuge to say same impi was following them up. The impi came up, killed some but M. escaped. He afterwards accidentally parted with those he had run away with. He went on & on ~~walking~~ wandering about, he afterwards came upon Dziyendane zi ka Tshaka: (Dziyendane had not tungile, zi ~~pote~~ pote imiyeko, njeng' izangoma) ie, pota hair & huga ngomsizi omnyama).

They then called on M. to twala their hoes (amagejo) which they had pangaid empini. I dont know how many. He put them on his head & walked on. They directed him what path to take. You'll go on & on & then a lapa ya! He then sat down & did laid impako yabo yokuedhla. M. was given nothing to eat. He went forward, & kept looking back to see them still seated. He went on. When he got to where he was to stop, he looked back & found them still seated. As soon as he got out of sight he beat the hoes in the pathway & immediately ran as hard as he could go. He escaped & did himself. When he saw that they did not know where he had got to he passed on to other places. All of a sudden he came upon a very large kraal. There he stood at the outside gate of the kraal. A makoti peeped to draw water. She passed to the stream without hearing or daught to him. ~~when the~~ The ~~was~~ woman returned from stream & entered kraal. Present ingin sijon below the kraal (Mteli's wakeeva Qwabe) came out to the boy finding his mouth quite white with hunger. They said to him Qom' uyihlo wako! Before he had spoken, the women of the kraal came through the gate. On coming up the kraal head pretended had the arm & said

"Woza lapa, ezinuntu wami." The kraal head had heard from makoti.
He was then given food. There he hlala'd & also said with other boys. He was laid here. After a short while an impi arrived. It killed people of the kraal, including Mteli. The lad was then pangad by an inceku ka Tshaka - the man who used to bring' izinkomo zonke (izidhleva ka Tshaka). On the inceku getting back to Shaka's kraal Dukuza he asked the boy's name. ~~He said~~ M. replied "Nantungwane"

She received them & (another name)
He then directed the people to call him by his new name, so that he would so quite astray from his relatives & they would not be able to find him. The kings cattle had now to be hlatshwa & a skinned. He called the lad to help to catch hold of the beast whilst being slaughtered. He pointed inbiza yoker Kelel' izinyazi ze nkomo (ububende).
U Shaka wazi u'tohanganes e gadding about tshango yonk'indawo, so he entered the cattle kraal. T. then said "Ke bani" to the meiker. Lonfana o ka bani? O bani nkosi! M Tako tatepi na?
Ngi m tolile, umpeni kwa Dukuza.
The king then turned to the boy & said
"Ubani i pandi lako mfana? U zeli ngi u Mantungwane. T. then said to Mikeku he was to treat the boy well as he was a good looking (yellowish in colour) "Yes must look out a nice beast for him to bedezi ubizi, ngiyo 'abanye 'abafana When Mikeku got to the kraal into which the meat had been tuta'd, he said look here, men, cease call: the lad by the name I gave him, but go on calling him by his real name, for the King heard that name & not the one I had given". Now some months

The amampondo impi penna'd at returned to Pongolakulo (Delagoa Bay).

Whilst seated in his hut Nandi was was called by Mikosi uTshaka. On coming up M. sat in umguba near to or lower a bunch (handful) of assepa's. There were many of them. No further questions were asked.

Mhlangana gwaza'd him & Dingana.

If was owing to these circumstances that Tshaka was buried at Dukuza and not Emakoseni, for there were none to carry him — umpi a way & then people were ordered not to mourn for him His umpahla came from all the amakanda. The grave was dug for him by his izinceku. Some izinceku were killed to endlalela him ie be his escort. Soneq the izinceku that remained put him into the grave. Those were thereupon killed to umbesa him ngapezulu. Dingane then proclaimed that all who had hidden in the bushes & also all izigebi were to emerge & come to him. De then Mbaa'i sent for them & butcher them call them uHlomendhleni, the elders he called uHlomendhleni om-hlope & the izinsizwa uH-omnyama.

He then finished them by killing them & cattle. He had them all ruined, so that when Tshaka's warriors returned they would not make inquiries into or demur at the killing of T. for D. would be ready to defend himself.

Mantingwane died in Nov or Dec last at Umdhloti river - in about 1888 (Zululand disturbances). Has sons living Mtomboti, Lokoza, & ~~Pop~~ Pana (same age as myself) Sikova (in Zululand). The first three are at Ndondwe, also another son Masende. They live in ground occupied by Tshoon induna (headman) of Chr Lokotwayo
~~the~~ of Putatim Location -

It was said that Mbopa would be given up inizi, nezinkomo, nabantu, indicating a kraal of Tshaka's, "we will give you all this" when you will become as great as Tshaka yourself & an inkosi.
No sooner had he done what they

Mbopa nja si kuvesabe. He was then put to death, that day or the next.

The succession of succession was referred to Mukabaji. She was summon either to Dukuza or Bulawayo. She dressed as a man, and came into umkaganti, not bringelwa'd ngomsizi like others, but left reddy & simply covered with scent. Over this she wore umgubula wezinsimba negzinsuvango. She also had umfozo ze amatshoba. When dressed & her identity could not be detected. She had untini umgole Ebuzworni, she had also amabege Ensuvango. She had also umjakanga of womasakabuli; also long apapelwendwa. She had a white shield with black spots assegais, also inhlendhla with which she dondolozela'd.

She began by bragging amakosi akwaZulu - ie when all Zulu pelela'd runkunjini (referring to Cetewayo) all Langalakona's sons there). She said Yebo Zulu, ni Kulemani na? Loku kufil'uhlanga lwakwa mletwa na. Lwa Lwa kengenkosi, wenga nga mandhl' ake o bahlanga wa bulal' ubiqiqwana, the real heir of Langalakona As Siqiqwana is no longer liv'ing, ukon'umnlwana ka Mpiqiya (referring to Cetewayo) (Mpikaze was Dingana's mother) She said that u Zulu a nge buseka ngomkonto obomvu.

As soon as Dingana heard he had been selected chosen, he burst forth & sprang & then P ngena'd

ukosi gezela's). As he come out he was covered with coloured patches of different medicines used on him by the doctors, who were ministering to him.

The first thing he did was to behead umhlangana, who claimed to be king on the grounds that he had stabbed the Great Tshaka.

After this D. killed off all of Senza-ngakona's sons except umpande.
He said that if he did not kill off them all off they would one day rise & kill him

Burial of Kings.

The kings of Zululand are kept for 2 to 4 months before being buried. This is the custom. The fact is hidden that the king is ill; the information is hidden from izizwe who might otherwise

out of sight:

Klaseka. People are informed of the death only when burial is about to occur. For months the king is said to dunguzela ie. gula. The word dunguzela is never used of anyone but inkosi. After the king is dead but before the information is made public, black oxen, zyanzando are placepheleved day by day. Only the oldest men are selected to watch the king's body. Bones of fat are burnt in the hut to prevent the smell of the corpse from being noticed.

In Swaziland the king was kept for a long time - until all remaining of the buried were the bones.

Kiya. Cetshwayo's was kept for 2 mo. at Ishowe & taken off on the 3rd on the understanding that C. was to be buried at Kiyara the name of Dabulamanzi's kraal. The corpse was put into a coffin & carried off in Ramba-ngano'o (Kolwa) waggon. On reaching Entamweni the princes passed on at once to Nkandhla. Their object was evidently to get to a stronghold ~~which they could hold against Zibebe's impis~~ where they could gradually collect a very large force to fight against Cetshwayo & Ndabuko & Ntshingwayo, Mbilini, Mbuzo, Mavumengwana, Sigcwelegwe, Nonzaba, Mgidlowa, Yamela &c &c after this to attack Zibebu. That was the plan. True enough many Zulus joined them at Nkandhla & fighting occurred.

At Nkandhla the body was kept for another two months. I was sent by Osborn on two occasions with Mozilokhina & found burial had not occurred. ~~It was about~~ I began the very day of my second visit The princes would not allow for they accused the Zulus people of having killed C. They said John Shepstone had brought poison gave it to Sikota ka Mpande, who handed to Maluwade & he poisoned C. with it.

The impi broke out at Nkandhla - they fought against Hatshi, Yamela Sijangapa Macumenpwana. Many 20 or 30 of Hatshi's men were killed.

The waggon was broken up & buried or placed on the tomb. All the oxen belonging to Hambanpana were killed, all I believe for the had (wolaid) inkosi killed for that reason Hambanpana was never paid for this. Afterwards killed during 1888 disturbances (amasende amasende struck) on ground he was ~~a~~ from Natal Cafe (tried, men convicted). murder of Tonga ? at same time was present when 10 - 15 of Cs wives went to Sir M Osborn's to kill him. They went to say Si nik' indoda yetu, ibuleve uwena ngomuti ka Misjana. Wagewa

wam kip'ehlatini. Mkandhla wa-n zomlondoloza. Ki niteke lap'umlondoloze kona. As soon as they came O. entered house.
Ó't a horse was saddled & taken b(side) back where women did not see it. Women entered { front door.
They waited for O. became that day but he passed out { side door. They were not armed — may have had some(th)ing.
Intended break his neck. Jack O was present. (Mseakaza)
They caught Nozitshima & lifted him up — felt it very nice, he said, woman carry him. They wanted to know him where O. was. They dropped him at door as soon as they saw Osborn.
Jack O. must have warned his father of the women coming. The Matendeka may also have been present.

Tshaka's funeral could not have taken place at once as his things had to be collected from various amakanda & that would take time.

Mpande ~~was dead~~ body was not buried for some months. He was said to dengezela.

Nandi was buried se Mateko - cf. Ngi fung' uNandi se Mateko ie. near Mpehlela & Mqwakazi hills & Mhlatuze. She certainly died in Zululand near Mpehlela hill. The site of Bulawayo kraal is still pointed out by men in Zululand. It was of enormous size.

Mateko is a tributary of Mhlatuze. Grave is near Mpehlela than Mqwakazi.

When Cetshwayo died, the princes Dabuko & Mbelebele - manzi asked if European troops could be sent to accompany corpse to Mahlabatini Makosini dist. This application could not be acceded to.

Dinuzulee's original name was uMareyana a's' Ordini. He continued for some years to go by this name, but men remarked that it ~~was~~ sounded too much like that of a commoner, so it was changed to that of Dimeyelele, resembling such names as Mehlokazulu, Bekuzulu &c sons of Sirazo.

Mpuklana ka Nodi lives near Emaleka of Ngoye where Nandi's grave is, also site of Bulawayo.

Sir M. Osborn suggested that C. should be buried at Eshowe. The princes stoutly refused to do this on the ground that the place was one occupied by amakwenyana. It so happened that Popoza, daughter of Mpande, and own sister of Cetshwayo, had married Mfokazi ka Sitongana this Mfokazi had died and Popoza had been ngenaed by Ntshingwayo ka Sitongana ka Nggangqude — Ntshingana go being the well known fat man. The reason about Mkwengana was however, on a ficklet one, what the ~~people~~ princes wanted was to get to Makosini or at least Nkandhla and then bring on farther warfare.

The Kings' grave is of enormous proportions as big as igebe ie a hole for trapping elephants or hippopotami.

Assegais are not buried with the deceased, but new hafts are inserted after his death. New izihlangu are not buried, though well-worn ones would be.

Hambangana was never paid for his services in conveying Cetshwayo to Nkandhla, nor compensated for loss of his waggon & oxen.

Two klambos are sent out in connection with a royal death, viz Elimnyana and Elimhlope.

latter these expeditions, owing to political considerations, resolved themselves into hunts ~~of~~ on a large scale. Sir T. Shepstone would not allow Swazis to be attacked.

It is morally certain that there is abroad a general belief amongst the Zulus that Dinizulu has been poisoned or put to death by the Europeans.

Amahlambo.

The ihlambo zeminyanya is sent out first, whilst everything is still dark & sorrowful, but after the deceased has been buried. This ihlambo, consisting of regiments, goes to gera umnyama. It did not go any distance. The white ihlambo ~~went to a~~ meant a more determined & elaborate attack on another state, involves killing of people, seizing cattle. This ihlambo was for washing of the spears with the blood of other people.

When King is buried there is no loud lamentation of Maye! as in case of ordinary people. What is done is to puba chants, war chants. This chanting goes on whilst the body is being conveyed to the grave & during actual interment. A man is buried facing gateway of kraal & not in such a way as to fulatela those in the kraal for then his dhlozi would fulatela them. There is no regulation about facing ~~the~~ sunrise, the custom depends simply on the direction

Kings are buried in kraals - their own.
Burial takes place in left hand side of kraal, not right or kohlo side - & the man is buried in the hut on the left chief hut - Sometimes the ~~he~~ chief hut itself may be selected.

The kraal will not be evacated until some future date when it appears desirable to do so in the ordinary course. The grass will not be burnt. Trees will be planted viz msinsi, mhlonhlo, muembe, ie trees which grow from pr pleeks being stuck in ground.

There was no kraal where Cetshwayo was buried, but as soon as he was buried a kraal was built on the spot. This was for the regiments to live in & others whose duty it was "to look after" the king.

In case of Dinizulu this would be done - if buried at Nobamba, he would go into a hut, if buried Emakosini, then a kraal would spring up there & be there for a couple of years or so until all ceremonies in connection with the funeral are over.

A toad is thrown into a grave in the case of one who having been in a trance has come to life again. The toad is put in in the hope that the person who was to have been buried there will recover, with the help of the idhlozi.

A toad is not thrown in with a corpse & buried with it.

Govt proposes to limit the native people who may take part in the funeral to Dunezulu's own kraals, or those of near relatives only.

The trees are planted at the time the burial takes place, ie Zibonda that of trees that are likely to grow are planted. They are not planted merely when the kraal is being vacated.

Ntombela, Biyela, Zazini & Embazini are reckons of Zulu tribes from which men spoken of as oyise or oyisemkulu might be chosen to bury Dinuzulu. In olds days these men would rather be put to death on the ground that they would disclose the heir with izandhlu zibi, for they had handled his dead father when dead. They might be permitted to spit konza in some far off district. As many as 20 might be employed for the actual burial. The corpse is carefully propped up in the grave, formerly with dead bodies of izinceku, now with stones (these dead izinceku had their necks broken, they were not stabbed).

I have not heard of girls being buried (alive or otherwise) with Tshaka.

A man is never buried alive with a corpse, but killed by having his neck twisted.

Umfanda

Umfanda = ngiba or Cahla. This refers to izinceku that are killed & buried with the king & also to the black oxen which are killed when the king is dead & when his funeral takes place.

Cetshwayo when dead had an inyonga of umbezi stuck in his right temple, ye ku impelekezela, a hambe kuhle. This done before being put in coffin. The coffin was tied up with ox hide. It burst. It was sekelwa'd ngomhlaba. The earth later was luteva'd & thrown into grave at Nkandhla.

Lobengula's Coronation

Lobengula's Coronation

Lobengula's Coronation

Neither Mpande nor Dn. were Kings. T. was & T. far greater than Senzangak.
I believe C was Tshaka's son. I think they (Sidundi & Sirajo) said this because regarding Sir T. S. as C's father, the father who zala'd him.

Mpande said Mbuyazi is Tshaka's son, for Monase was isixebe si ka Tshaka ishlontu - had hair like Tshaka - at ejolo the princes (Cetshanyo, Hamu, Ziwedu, Mantyentashiya & others) in Swazi impi had the members of every caught for them, they each stabbed as man was held - but Mbuyazi stabbed for himself - as a warrior. Hence Mpande's desire that he shd succeed being so like Tshaka moreover tall, & athletic.

before Ndondakusuka

The ifa was Tshaka's (wadhl' Ezinge) (ot'esadhl' ezinge) - but he left no heir - neither Dingan nor Mpande was his heir. But C. was for he had taken Mbuyazi's place -

- a man is kualwa'd to be eqa'd - Mbuyazi not carried said to be too far gone.
- man hiding face with shield - when in presence of Mbuyazi all took part in his death fled & went to other country afraid C. you have Sibindi like Mbopa -

"umfana ka Sonzica u zitele nge'nkovu ekanda nam hlanje - Nooke ngi zwe Ake" - said by C. when addressing his troops when ~~troops~~ they went forth.

Zulus all thought Somseun was the great King of Euro: (vide above remark) they knew nothing of the Queen at that time.

Zulus ~~thought~~ heard that Boers who had defeated Dingana by means of Guns - fearful weapons and that the Boers had themselves been defeated by ~~the~~ British, hence their position of ascendancy over the Zulus, & hence Somsewee being regarded as Tshaka.

Embassy to Cape by Tshaka

Messengers in Mpande's & C's day used to be sent to Konza Somseun. He never sent to Zd. to Konza there.

Somseun ordered Mpande not to hlaba ama Swazi - ~~uyo~~ unga hlab' ama Swazi u yoba uhlaba mina. Mp. obeyed & the Swazis had peace. They were afraid ~~to~~ to attack. Swazis seeing that the great bird - bigger than them, had spoke - were they to disobey they wd be killed.

S. was made Tshaka really when the amanxcusa were sent to ask him to come & crown Cetshwayo - they came to Konya by making such request - & this request resembled asking for ugwati.

All the things used at the Coronation were afterwards burned by the Zulus, as it was ~~clear~~ thought they might in some way have come in contact with Mbuyazi & so contaminated.

The Story of Sirayo ka Mapoloba, wa kwa Nyuswa.

On 9th and 10th April '16, Socwatsha gave the following information in regard to the Nyuswa tribe. The incidents referred to took place in the reign of Tshaka:—

"The great Nyuswa Chief Mapoloba (Nkos' enkulu ya kwa Nyuswa, u Mapoloba) became quite an old man before appointing his son and heir. Sirayo, Mgabi and other of his sons had become head-ringed men. "Wa ze wa gug' inkosana yako u nga si tshele na?" Ku buz' u Nkeneza (ka Ngcengce ka Mpipa), induna yak' enkulu; zi kona fut' cziny' ezibuzayo. Wa ti: "A kwaziwa ini ukuti intombi i zo tatw' Embo, ko Gcwabe, e zo zal' inkosi yenu nina ma Nyuswa na?" u Nkeneza wa wa tshel' ama Nyuswa onke, amadoda, ukut' inkos' itsho njalo, na bafowabo ~~ba ka~~ u Mapoloba, ngoba ba be ba ning' abafowabo. A ~~se~~ se t' amadoda: "O! ehe! u si tshela kahle Nkeneza, tina luzalo lonke la kwa Nyuswa; sonke be si nga yaz' inkosi yetu." So ku tunywa ku yo gonyisw' intombi Embo, e zalwa u Gcwabe, intomb' e ngu dadewabo ka Zihlandhlo. [Angi l'azi igama ~~loko~~ li ka Ma Gcwabe]. Ya i si z' i zo gana. I si lotsholwa.

I ti (intombi) lap' ihlab' igamu lo kusina, i sine na ba kubo (a fike nabo), be se ku suk' indun' enkulu ya ko nkosi (lap' i gana kona) i si m nik' induku, no msila we sihlangu, umsil' u tandiwe njeng' o wa s esihlangwini. for its excellent propaties. Sirayo complied with the order about tobacco for some years, but eventually Nomazocwana ka Ndela and Mgabi, still bearing malice in their hearts, otaid or conspired together against Sirayo. Nomazocwena and Mgabi went and spoke thus to Tshaka: "u Sirayo u qal' a gezele ku wona lo gwayi inkos'e ya ti ma i letele wona, kand' ukuba a wu bopeke, a wu lete kuwena." In those days Chiefs foolishly gave credence to ex parte statements. "Ni qinisile", said Tshaka, "ku ya bonakala. u Sirayo u ne tunz' efi kulu. Lap' e gamukayo, ngi qal' uku m bona e za ne bandhla lake e nga m bekela lona, be se ngi tshaywa uvalo. Nga m'bek' induna yami ya s o'Badaneni. The inpi accordingly went, fought and, by their ~~far much~~ greater numbers, overpowered and chased Sirayo and his men to the Tugela, where they ponsa'd Sirayo and his men esizibeni aTukela. The pool is called kwa Nabane. To this day, the Nguswa people punga: "Ngi fung' inkosi i s aTukela!" or "Ngi fung' inkosi i kwa Nabane!" and, when ~~so~~ forced to swearing, ~~they~~ must be extremely ~~angry~~ incensed.

Tshaka's inpi was a large one. A desperate struggle took place at the pool, but Ts inpi ya ba tel' esizibeni nge dudu ie. by simply pushing ~~exhoving~~ them along by brute force or sheer weight of numbers.

Story of Ndengezi.

Ndengezi ka Kuzwayo, wa kwa Mdhlalose, was one of Tshaka's amagawe. Tshaka promised to give him as many cattle as would fill isigodi if he klabanela'd, ie. the first to get in among the enemy when the battle started. This was probably apropos of the attack Tshaka contemplated making on the Nwandwe tribe, then under Sikunyana. The army went forth. Ndengezi got his opportunity and used it. He klabanela'd and succeeded in chasing off those immediately opposed to him. Later on when the troops got back to Bulawayo he claimed his reward. Tshaka gave him a lot of cattle but not as many as could fill the isigodi. Being dissatisfied with amaviyo. Se be ya nay' ekaya, ngoba ku sinelwa pandhle. Ba m tshele ba ti: "Si ku nik' induku nje, si ti tshaya la maviyo (won' a wa kwa Nyuswa) ngoba ȧwako". Bala-ke le nduk' a yi nikiweyo, na maviyo e se vivile, enz' umzila, yena-ke, nga le nduku a yi nikiwe, u se tshay' emaviyweni, u tshay' ezihlangwini. A tshay' onk' umzila, onk' amaviyo, a tshaye pambili na s emuva. U tshaya njalo, ba ya ruba. Ba hlab' inkwelo lapa ku tshaya kon' umlobokazi. Inkwelo i hlatshwa kuyo yonk' indawo, i tshweke, irubo ba nga li yekile. Se li ya buya fut' iketo lapa-ke, li buya naye, li z' esigcawini, lapa ku zo sinelwa kona. Umtimba u su buyele ngasenhla, njengē ntimba yonke. Iketo se li buyela ngezansi, li ǵubula. Se li hleliwe ȉzinduna, léma nge zigaba zalo. So ku suk' isiḱoxe pakati, kanye na macāla. Intombi i si fakwa kon' esiḱoxeni. Ne nkosi i kon' esikoxeni. Nayo, i ya sina. Ngob' isikoxe ȅ se zinduna na banumzana bo ku zalwa na be zirotsha, a se be zinkulelwana za kona. Intombi ka yimi, i ncikane ne nkosi. Ba nganyulwa ȉzikulu emkatini yabo.

This is the practice with all amakos' ohlanga — done to prevent anything in the nature of an umbango later.

Kwa Zulu (ie. in the Zulu tribe) inkosi ya i zi ̓beka ngamandhla (njengō Tshaka no Dingana no Cetshwayo). Ba be lobola nge fa labo, la mandhl' abo. uSenzangakona wa ye beke uSigujwana. I don't know if Sigujwana's mother was lobola'd by the whole Zulu tribe. It is, I know, the practice of the amaZala people for all the tribe to contribute to the lobolo of the inkosikazi.

Although, when he married his chief wife, Mapoloba was already a very old man, the woman conceived and bore a son of the name of Miswayo. Mapoloba then died, but shortly afterwards, Miswayo died too, so there was no heir after all. Sirayo and Mgabi now began to banga ie. contended as to which of them should succeed. Mapoloba's principal induna Nkeneza summoned them to Mapoloba's chief kraal Ngazingani (= How should I know) for the purpose of adjudicating in the matter. The followers of Mgabi now made a plot to put Sirayo to death, and decided that the best way of doing so, and so putting an end to the dispute, was to assassinate him when at the induna's kraal. The most expert thrower of an assegai, one who when a buck came in sight never failed to strike it, was accordingly sought for among them and found, ~~one~~ a man named Sihlanu. The two parties, fully armed, carrying their large war-shields proceeded to the rendezvous as arranged. Sirayo sat down with his followers, he and they placing their shields with the hair-side on the ground, so as to be ready for immediate use in case of necessity. Near by sat Mgabi and his party. The proceedings had barely started in the presence of the induna, when Sihlanu, assegai in hand, quickly ~~got~~ stood up and, in ~~a moment~~ an instant, threw ~~his~~ the spear at Sirayo. But it missed ~~him~~ and pierced the shield that lay at his side on the ground. The assembly immediately broke up, ~~in an instant~~ the two parties forthwith engaging in a deadly struggle. It was not until many had been killed on both sides that Sirayo's warriors succeeded in chasing the others off. Sihlanu himself escaped.

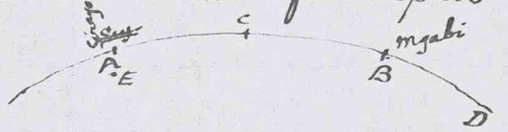
As the parties could not be reconciled, Tshaka, hearing of what had occurred ~~to~~ the dispute went on for a long time — directed them to appear before him, each to be fully attired in war-dress, namely what they gubo'd in before Mapoloba. Both parties accordingly proceeded to Bulawayo, where Tshaka ordered them to form up in a single semicircle (umkumbi) thus:



Sirayo stood in the centre of his party at A, Mgabi at B, the two lots joining at C. Whilst so standing, the King had his dog, a particular one with a name, inja yo ku'bek'amakosé, brought to the spot. ~~which~~, ~~it was arranged should be~~ The dog moved to the end of the line at D and began smelling. It ~~m~~ walked along the line sniffing at the men, and when it got to Mgabi, ~~it~~ sniffed him too and went on doing likewise past C until it got to Sirayo. It did not however sniff ~~at~~ Sirayo ~~for~~ go beyond him; ~~but~~ it lay down at once on the ground in front of him at E. Now all this took place in the presence of the King. u-Sirayo wa ye vunule nge gwalagwala, u-Mgabi e vunule nge ndhlazi. E p e te u-Tshaka "I kon' inkos' e k' i vunule nge ndhlazi na? Inkosi nans' e vunule nge gwalagwala," ngob' inkosi ya i te ma ba vunule nge mpahla yabo yo mkosi. Balake ba vunula ngayo.

The King, basing his judgment on the dog's having refrained from smelling Sirayo and on the fact that he wore the gwalagwala whilst the other had the indhlazi, decided in favour of Sirayo. ~~and~~ No sooner had he done so, than he said that Mgabi would have to be put to death. Sirayo at once interceded for his brother's life, saying "He is my father's son; ~~they were~~ he was only disputing with me, hence I would not like him to be killed". Mgabi was therefore allowed to live. After this, Tshaka appointed Sirayo induna o-Badaneni, (in Nyuswa district) over one of 15 kraals and directed him to make up a parcel of tobacco from time to time and bring it to him (the King); ~~for~~ the tobacco that grew about the Mamba was famous the gift, he distributed the cattle among his immediate followers. As soon as Tshaka heard of this, he sent for Ndengezi and asked him what he meant by doling out to others cattle he had himself been presented with by Tshaka. Ndengezi in reply, admitted it was a fact that he had given the cattle away but this was owing to the fact that when he hlabanela'd he had trodden on many thorns; these had stuck into his feet and it had been necessary to get the men ~~to~~ who accompanied him to pull them out. They assisted him to pull out the thorns, hence he felt he ought to reward them. When Tshaka heard this he was angry. "I see you did this because you were dessatisfied with my action. Owing to this you ought to be put to death, but I bear in mind that you are one of my gawes, and therefore will not put you to death. My sentence is "Hamb' u dhliwe intaba" i.e. he was banished. Ndengezi went back to his kraal, killed cattle, waz'enz' igabe i.e. cooked the meat on the same day that the beasts had been slaughtered, and selecting two or three of his younger women went off with them and such belongings as they and his matbearers could carry, including cattle for consumption ~~along~~ on the journey. He is believed to have gone to tender his allegiance to one of the Basuto chiefs to the north of Zululand, Mshweshwe, maboko or Mgombana where he prospered and succeeded in building up a small tribe.

Ndengezi was bonga'd as Ndengezi-mashumi, but this epithet does not belong to this man, it is common to all men of that name. One of the same name, no doubt sick of being given praises common to many, insisted on being bonga'd Ndengezi-magolo!

Another version of the above. - Weli, who is a ~~dis~~ relation of the Ndengezi in question tolls me, when at Dhlayangubo on 14 Jany 1914 as follows:

Ndengezi ka Kuzwayo hlabana'd ngo mhlanganiso ka Ndwandwe, wa gom' umzila we mpi. He went forward along his own route (in his own fashion) towards the enemy and cita'd those opposed to him there. Tshaka had said: "O yo gwaz' umhlanganiso, u yo xotshiswa izinkomo, zi ya kwelekwa induku pezu emhlane, i ngawi zi hamba." When Tshaka afterwards xotshis'd him izinkomo he remarked it was the promised reward (xoma). Ndengezi ~~replied~~ said: "Is this my reward, zi ya ye zi fike nje ekaya zi yi pet' induku na?" Tshaka replied: "Ka ngi tandi na kukubulala, mnta ka Kuzwayo, lo kade u ligawe lami, u udhleiue intaba ie he was banished. N. went home, killed cattle, waz'enz' igabe ie cooked meat same day as the killing, & got 2 or 3 young women & went off with them, as believed to the Basutos, either Mshwashwe, Maboko, Ingombana or other Basuto chief where his people became quite a tribe.

[This is the case Weli once told me of when I visited Bulawayo three yrs ago: Socwatsha agrees that Weli might well have done so being a relation of Ndengezi] see p. 52 of Black Nbk.

The Nyuswa Chief Mapoloba became quite an old man before appointing his son & heir. Sirayo (his son) was already a head-ringed man also his other sons. (see further on) His counsellors advised him to appoint an heir. ~~marry a chief wife~~ He refused saying that # ~~to marry a girl from any other than Embo tribe, as he said the chief wife~~ the bearer of the Chief's hair always comes from the Embo ~~that~~ tribe. A woman ~~wife~~ was accordingly found there. By this time, Mapoloba was a very old man. The woman had a son Miswayo. Mapoloba died, but shortly after Miswayo died too, so there was no heir. Sirayo and Mgabi now

They were called to bangad. ~~Tshaka directed his induna of~~ Ng Nazingani kraal (Mapoloba's great kraal) by Nkeneza that he might ~~to~~ inquire into it. ~~The par~~ The followers of Mgabi now made a plot to put Sirayo to death & ~~they~~ decided that the best way to do so + put an end to umbango was to stab him when at the induna's kraal. ~~A~~ The most expert thrower of an assegai one who did not throw amiss at a buck in a hunt was accordingly sought for among them & found, one Sihlanu — a man ~~who was a~~ deadly ~~marksman~~ in his aim. The two parties, fully armed with large shields & assegai went to the induna as arranged. Sirayo sat with his lot, placing shield with the hair side on the ground so as to be ~~instantly~~ ready to be seized at once in case of necessity. All his party did likewise. Near by of course sat the Mgabi and his party. During the proceeding but just as they had begun Sihlanu took up his assegai stood up & flung it at Sirayo but it struck the shield on the ground. In a moment the ~~par~~ ~~parties~~ assembly broke up & ~~dispersed~~ clashed many being killed Sihlanu escaping. Mgabi's lot were defeated, many killed. As the parties could not be reconciled, Tshaka hearing of it directed them to appear before him, each to be fully ~~dressed~~ attired in war-dress what they used to guba in before Mapoloba. Both parties proceeded to Bulawayo, where Tshaka directed them to stand in a single semicircle, with, however, ~~a gap between the~~ ~~two parties~~ thus ~~[illegible]~~ Sirayo A Mgabi B Sirayo stood at A, Mgabi at B, i.e. each in the centre of his own party. Whilst so standing before x for the quarrelling (umbango) went on for a long time

[illegible] had a dog yo ku'bek'amakosi. This he directed towards the King, ~~a dog~~ ~~by name came up, went~~ ~~first~~ to Mgabi's party, at the end sniffed about, came to Mgabi himself & smell him; ~~and~~ it then passed on to Sirayo's lot. When the dog got to Sirayo ~~himself~~ it did not smell him but immediately lay down on the ground near ~~him~~ in front of him. It did not go to the rest of Sirayo's men. This incident took place in the presence of the King. See piece. The King thereupon decided in favour of Sirayo. Sirayo was now directed by the King to supply him (the King) with tobacco, for that ~~tobacco~~ growing about Mamba was famous for its ~~virtues~~ excellent properties. He was also created in dama of Tshaka's Badaneni Kraal. Sirayo complied for a ~~long time~~ some years with the order. But eventually the Nomazocwana & Mgabi, as above described, went to give false evidence to Tshaka. (see preceding account & put in here)

Sirayo was a very tall, fine-looking man, whereas Mgabi was very short, so short that many of the tribe refused as many of them said to be governed by a man no ~~bigger than~~ who is only the size of an isiduli (ant ~~bear~~ hill). si nge buswe ngoye ~~ung~~ ngobi ungang' isiduli.

Some time after Sirayo's ~~death~~ murder his death was avenged by ~~Mgabi~~ Sirayo's son Dubuyana who put Mgabi to death.

Soswatsha ka Papu. (now approximately 64 years of age).
In old days, it was customary for very large kraals to be constructed. This was done for mutual protection against sudden attack. These kraals were called amanxeluma. Hence they were really villages. These people lived together in large numbers, and although the district was a small one it supported a large population.
The districts said formerly to have been occupied by ama Ngongoma, ama Nyezewa, & ama Bhadi, which I know well could not nowadays support all the members now living of these respective tribes. When I argue these with members of our tribe they point out that formerly there were no small kraals, there were these great amanxeluma. Hence though the old districts may be too small yet, with the closer living in amanzelumas they would be capable of supporting a much larger population.

A feature of Zulu government is that the abanumzana living under any given chief all exercise proprietary rights over the land they occupy, so much so that if a new-comer applies to live under the chief and give him his allegiance, the chief is obliged to make special arrangements with the particular headman on whose land the man wishes to live. The headman in question will object to accommodate the new comer unless he submits & konzas the headman himself - policy which means that he is then staked to & acts as intermediary in all matters between the new comer & the chief. The chief ~~is~~ does not own more land than his kraals happen to be on, hence he must apply to his headmen if he wants to locate a newcomer on any part of his tribal domain. The land, as a matter of fact, all belongs to the King, but the headman of each tribe have rights which in practice are greatly respected. It is very rarely that a chief goes counter to his headman's wish & forces a new comer to live on a particular piece of land not already his own, or nominally his own.

His procedure must be clearly noted.

Many of the abanumzana have occupied the lands they live on for many generations.

There used to be serious quarrels about land & these would be referred to King if people had got hurt. In course of inquiry the King might ascertain that a headman acted as dog in the manger, or as the king put it u lahl' isihlangu sami na? Ati: i kon' iwatoda e t'i fika ku mantie, i twel' umtwalo, i hlom' isihlangu sazo, iti, "Ng e tulene" be se kutwisa "D hleula" na? Kutengqtahuiso ukuti "Etula" na, "waka lapa" na. Kente wen u ngambe l'ingabo e ngi yembetego na? (Ngoba izwi la kwa Zulu ukuti "amadoda, ingabo yo kwembata) A be se u yaka njalo, ukuba ze ku pendul' inkosi. See p. 34. for continuation.

"Utshel' o ngatshoyo,
"mlom' o nga "teti manga } said of all Zulu Kings.

The practice was, say when impi was called, for the messenger to shout from some hill what the order is, adding the foregoing phrase. This must then be passed on from kraal to kraal. People begin to move about & that & unusual sight itself suggests asking what it is about. Hence all come to hear the order, although not original heard by more than a couple of kraals. The responsibility devolved on these to pass on to others. In Natal practice is for every individual to be warned personally umhlandhleni = iqinsela ze nkosi (always with the king)

If man, as said above, acted as dog in the manger, the King would answer on the lines above mentioned (p. 33), whereupon ~~peop~~ action would be taken on lines suggested by the King.

No complaint about not granting sites for people to live on was taken to King. It went to him only when it had assumed a criminal aspect ie. a fight had occurred. It is then only that King would deal incidentally with the land question.

Nang'a Sotewatsha

uvel'enkosini; ufikamile; uxoloxolo

said of a man who, when shouted for, at royal kraal, fails for some reason to answer to his name (perhaps goes off deliberately to rivers to wash, whilst the calling goes on). He does this (perhaps girls have arrived from his district with food) for them to see what a man of importance he is at the royal kraal. They would then speak to one another something of the foregoing nature.

~~Hook~~ Any man who was called nga perzulu, nga senhla was most respected & feared, lest on his he should tell tales about people to the King & get them killed. He would consequently assume great airs on getting to his kraal from the very fact of its being known he had been called ngasenhla.

A girl hearing of a man being called ngasenhla would balekela him, lapazi jetsheways, even if she has not been engaged to or courted by him.

Contact of Europeans with Native Races.

Socwatsha. Land matters - Chiefs.

What is cause of bitterness among natives is the policy of taking from a Native Chief land that is his & has been his perhaps for many generations and giving it to another Native. There are many cases of this in Natal & Zululand. Ku buhlung' ukutatw' abafazi be ndoda ba nikw' eny' indoda, Leyo ndod' inga file, i Ihl' amabele x And this giving away of land takes place on ex parte statements - the many telling tales being given the land. All these izindunas who have been given land, I know nothing of them. Ngaz' u Yamela kupela o wa 'tshes' ibuku lake e Silungwini. He alone would get land in Zululand, no one else & he would only get land occupied by few people. Of these he would become their spokesman.

All those given land by Mr. A. J.s were deprived of their lands. Only Luzindela however was allowed to have land, for Mr. John Shep. stood up for him. Tulwana also was allowed to remain. Hlangabeza & Gazede were deprived of their land. Mnyakanya was transformed by Mr. Knight into Ndube's man, Ma Kongolo was transformed into Nonzama's ~~subject~~, Silwana too lost his land & he was put under Siganandu, Mnikina lost his, he too was put under Siganandu.

Yamela ~~[illegible]~~ was given a large tract of land occupied by various headmen. On his Yamela's death, Saunders deprived Mgomo of the land & gave a huge piece of it to Mtonga (ten viyos of men). Other land was given by Saunders ~~of~~ to Mkungu. Another piece was Re attack on Tshaka by Zwide.

The battle, after T. had retreated down Gconges began about Sungulwani, but only in such a way as to harass & delay them. The Zulus did not actually fight – they kept retreating. When they got to Nomveve they had their great battle & again fought on Mhlatuze. That was the night of the "Kisi" pass-word – fighting at night.

M. says The Ndwandwes used the word 'Kwitshi', uttering it softly. M. says Any battle fought when dark, it would be described thus: si lwe ngo 'Kisi' kum nyama. M. says I never heard of a battle fought at night prior to the said battle between Zulus & Ndwandwes.

Ngangezwe refused. Sohayi is now blind and quite unable to walk. He has four wives. His kraal is about 14 miles from Mid-Illovu.

Where Socwatsha is the principal informant we have omitted his statements: these will be reproduced under his own name in a subsequent volume - eds.>

69 Mzilikazi's war in Dingana's day.[13] The army was in charge of Ndhlela ka Sompisi. The Zulu army clashed with Mzilikazi's, probably late in the afternoon. The fight discontinued, probably at night and by the Zulus withdrawing after many of them had been killed. The Mzilikazi people did not at first know they were fighting Zulus. When they discovered this, they shouted to the Zulus, 'Heyi! Heyi! So you are hiding your identity! So you die in this manner. We'll be with you tomorrow!' The Zulus saw they were too few in numbers, so Ndhlela thought of a plan, which was to light large fires all over the place to give the impression that the Zulus had set up camp. As a fact, Ndhlela directed them to retreat as fast as they could to Zululand in order that Dingana should again make ritual sacrifices and this time send out a much larger force.

70 Socwatsha says that in the foregoing battle, a youth of Mzilikazi's force ran up and got in among the Zulus with his assegai, stabbing right and left, shouting, 'Ihloya! Ihloya!' (i.e. 'Umhlola! Umhlola!' - a dialectical difference).[14] He caused quite a commotion, but was killed after having wiped out a number.

71 On Zwide putting Dingiswayo to death, D.'s wives (umdhlunkulu) all left their tribe and went to where their husband was, i.e. Zwide's kraal. [See p. 107 for Zulu and longer version of this.][15] They there got up onto the top of the huts and wailed and lamented. They there struck up a chant (this chant is quite well known). It was suggested that they should be put to death, but Zwide refused, saying, 'They are widows. I won't put them to death. They have come merely to lament their husband's death.' Hence they were allowed to go free, after being brought down. Their doing so at all was regarded as uncanny and mysterious.

I, Mandhlakazi, once asked a son of Magolwana[16] how it was that the Zulu izimbongi were able to remember the praises of kings to so extraordinary a degree, how it was that they managed to dispose themselves to receive and retain so much, what drugs they ate which opened up the chest or heart to the reception of so much. [See p. 6 of next notebook].[17] He said it was because they were given always the plant used for wattling in the izigodhlo.

So much for that. I know, and Socwatsha agreed this afternoon, that izimbongi used to wear a dress like the isidwaba leather skirt, made of the hide of a beast, i.e. of the part about the neck. This dress was fixed round the waist and reached down to just above the knees. Zulu ka Nogandaya, when he used to recite praises, used to put on a dress of this kind.

Our fathers used to refuse to give us information of our ancestors when we wanted to find out about them. They would threaten to beat us if we persisted in asking.

Magolwana used to recite praises to such an extent that he would go on hands and knees, and lose his voice. He was once given a pair of large horns which were fixed to either side of his head as if they were on the head of a cow or ox. An imbongi would recite and recite, 73 then stop a little, move on further, then go on praising, then stop, then on again.

74 The death of Pakatwayo,[18] per Mandhlakazi.

It is said that Pakatwayo began the affair by asking Tshaka for beads, fine red ingwele beads that had come from the Nhlwenga.[19] Tshaka gave praise to Pakatwayo's messengers for his words, and sent him some beads. Pakatwayo gave praise. Then he said, 'Weu! Go and ask for a shield for me, go and ask for cattle of his place. I see that there are fine cattle at Mahlabatini.'[20] His messengers went off to Tshaka, who gave them some oxen (I don't know if they were more than ten in number). They took them off, and Pakatwayo gave praise for them.

Then the Qwabe said, 'These cattle have incisions on their tails, where medicinal powder has been rubbed in.' These words came to the ears of Tshaka. His izinduna said to him, 'Do you hear that it is 75 said that you have caused medicines to be rubbed into incisions on the tails of these cattle?' (It was at this time that the Qwabe insulted the Zulu by saying that they were like a necklace which could not even go round the neck, because of their small numbers. They spoke thus because they, who were large in numbers, had never fought with a people so few in number as to be like a necklace which could not go round the neck.)

Tshaka cried, 'Weu! So they say that, do they? They say that I have treated the cattle with medicine? Did they not accept the beads which they came to ask me for?' He then ordered the Mbelembele regiment to go out and build an ikanda near a certain place. (I don't know the name of the place; Mkehlengana and others do know it.) They cut poles and put up a fence. The Qwabe saw what they were doing, and the next day came and pulled down the fence and destroyed it. Tshaka's men reported the matter to him, saying, 'While we were busy building the umuzi, they came and destroyed it.'

On hearing this, Tshaka sent out his regiments to go and build, 76 and himself went with them. When Tshaka arrived the Qwabe ran away, fleeing into the palm trees. The people whom the Zulu found in their homes were stabbed. Then Tshaka's izinceku, who were in attendance on him, said that they had seen someone continually coming and

Another famine known by Socwatsha was umdeveshea = mbokagebanyu regt at that time Charlie (Bayi's) elder brother was born and called umBezi ie. after a plant or root of that name, which people dug up and ate after mixing with amasi.

Socwatsha refers to uBōgo as another root which people ate in time of great scarcity. also umakwane, eaten when not ripe. X

~~There was~~ another famine occurred about the time of Socwatsha's birth, which, after careful inquiry, I fix as having taken place in 1853, or possibly late in 1852. Hence his age now would be 68 or 69. ~~I~~ S. was born in the summer.

There was another great time of scarcity, {or, iqina ilanga li ka mbete. This took place, Socwatsha says, shortly before umbishlì ka Somseewu (1869), hence I would fix it at 1867. or 1866.

Socwatsha says he was just about 4 years of age when Ndondakusuka battle was fought. He saw the Izigqoza who had been wounded & were covered with blood. This fairly fixes his own birth as say, early in 1853 or late 1852. He remembers the calling out of the Sidoyi impi (April 1857).

Wa buta u Zulu, umfanga makanda ka toyi = okwaluka izitebe, affair with inizi and icamas. What we would say, as numerous as sand on the seashore.

Note. (by Socwatsha). Bovu was one of the greater heroes of Zululand. He was an induna of Ntontela regiment, in Mpande's reign. When the Zulu army, on one occasion, was about to leave on an expedition against the Swazis or Sikwata, Bovu gomanad with Nobongoza ka Magoboza, the bet being that his ixiba would defeat that part of the enemy force opposed to it when it came to a battle. An engagement took place. Nobongoza and his party fought and drove off the enemy with which it was engaged, but the enemy succeeded in defeating ~~all~~ Bovu's party, all excepting himself. Through his own superhuman ~~own~~ energy and determination, Bovu eventually succeeded in repelling the enemy ~~by his own~~ and driving it off. On Mpande being asked to adjudicate, he ~~saw~~ found in favour of ~~Bo~~ Nobongoza on the ground that the bet was as to each party's achievement, not as to the personal ~~efforts~~ prowess of either of the leaders. As a consequence of the decision, all Bovu's cattle were seized and made over to Nobongoza and his party. This highly enraged Bovu, who claimed that his heroism had surpassed that of Nobongoza and his men, even though his own party had been driven off, himself alone excepted. Mpande, to pacify his hero, apportioned him a small herd of his own cattle, not, however, giving but only ~~lending~~ giving the use of them to him and his children. Bovu no sooner got home than he gave orders to his women to pack up all their belongings, and the same night he fled across the Tukela into Natal with the whole of his family, including the cattle. Coming to almost entirely unoccupied country at Ozwatini (not far from Stanger), he took the cattle into a forest there, where he tied the leaders ~~thereof~~ to trees with monkey-ropes, which he judged would ~~pro~~ effectually prevent the others from staying out of the forest into the open. Mpande, apprized of what had happened, sent messengers to report the incident to Sir T. Shepstone. Shepstone sent to Dubuyana, chief of the distict to which 'Bovu was said to have gone, asking that Bovu be arrested and brought to him. When Bovu was brought to P.m.Burg, Shepstone confronted him with Mpande's messengers, and went into the whole matter. Bovu, in reply, said the story as told by the messengers was correct except as to his having taken Mpande's cattle with him into Natal. He had brought no cattle at all, only his sleeping mats. That this was the truth, he asserted with all the emphasis he could command. Shepstone, believing ~~that~~ he had taken the cattle as alleged, though there was no positive proof in the matter, directed that Bovu was to be detained as a prisoner. On the day following the sentence, word suddenly came that Bovu, who as there was then no regular gaol, was confined at the police huts, had cut his throat, and was bleeding to death. Going at once to the huts, Shepstone found that Bovu had indeed attempted to commit suicide, and in so determined a manner as to have cut through his windpipe, ~~and he~~ with a large knife, and had not someone rushed at and prevented him, he must have cut his throat altogether and bled rapidly to death. Shepstone was much impressed by the occurrence, and, calling up Mpande's messengers, then just about to leave for Zululand, said it was now quite clear to him that Bovu could not have stolen the cattle as alleged. He had resorted to doing an act which placed it beyond all doubt that his statement as to not having brought the cattle with him was to be relied on. No oath could have been taken by him ~~which could have~~ to create such a belief more strongly than this attempt at self-destruction had done. "For who", queried Shepstone, "would have had the benefit of the cattle in the event of his having succeeded in committing suicide? Clearly not 'Bovu". Under these circumstances, the messengers must return to their king and say 'Bovu had been found not guilty. His wound was dressed, and as soon as he got well enough, he was released. After this, 'Bovu's cattle multiplied to a great number and he became one of the largest cattle owners in the country. The wound in his windpipe never quite healed up, for as he drank water or beer, part would ooze out and flow down his chest, and, at other times, a small froth would be seen at the opening in the throat. And this went on up to his death some thirty years later.

Igama li ka Dingana.

Socwatsha's own ancestors:

Socwatsha ka Papu ka Zikayana ka Mavela ka Matshiza ka Ndaba ka Maramba ka Gasela ka Nombika ka Ngongoma ka Ngcobo.

Papu was of u Badane regt. – Badane was name of Tshaka's kraal – wa wak' e Mamba river, enters Tugela (near o Sungulweni) The induna of Badane kraal was u Sirayo ka Mapoloba.

My father's regt was ~~at~~ elanywa'd u Pongolo regt. ibuto li ka Ma Fongosi, ka Bovungana inkosi ya kwa Ngongoma. Socwatsha cannot think of name of his father's regt ~~at~~ before his tribe, Ngongoma, was defeated by Tshaka; he remembers only that the Pongolo regt came immediately after it.

As Papu's eldest son Sifile was of Ndabakawombe or Kokoti regt, ~~and~~ as he married late, and as Socwatsha is his last son, (born ~~at~~ same day as Nomanzi, the youngest daughter, by another wife), and as Socwatsha himself ~~was~~ was born about 1852 and so now 69 or 70 years of age, it would appear as if Papu was about same age as Tshaka and Dingana, or as Socwatsha himself fancies, Papu was same age as Mbelebele and Ntontela regts which were slightly older than the amaWombe i.e. Tshaka's regt. Papu lived to a great age, until he kokoba'd. Ndabakawombe was Mpande's first regt, & buta'd say about 1842, then, say, ~~16~~ 18 years of age, which gives 1824 or 1825 as date of his birth. Papu, therefore, must be ~~very~~ as old or older than Tshaka if, although marrying late, he had an Ndabakawombe for his son. Papu was of Tshaka's Badane (Badaneni) regt, & this does not seem to be connected with Tshaka's other regts,

Possibility of litigation between Daviti (David) alias Nyawana, and Solomoni (Solomon) alias Nkayitshane, alias Mapumuzana. —

When Dinuzulu's coffin was brought to Nobamba, it was decided that u Mpätshana, Nyawana's elfest sister, should be the first to dig Dinuzulu's grave. She (in the absence of Nyawana) accordingly took it in a hoe, dug twice, and then laid it down — doing this on behalf of her brother Nyawana. The duty really was his as eldest he was regarded as such by Mankeleumana, Ndabankulu, and Lokotwayo, Dinuzulu's chief incekue. Miss Colenso was present. She took David by the right hand, & Solomon by the left, but the great number of the Zulu men, including Mnyaiza ka Ndabuko, & Mkebeni ka Dabulamanzi, began to murmur at her mistake. Solomon produced a paper from his pocket, & gave it to Miss Colenso, who, reading it, said that it was in Dinuzulu's handwriting & that it appointed Solomon his son & heir. This announcement greatly pleased the majority. It was on the same occasion arranged that Solomon should have Mahashini & Usutu kraals, whilst David should have Nobamba. As the Bageluesi of Vryheid Dist regarded themselves as belonging to Nobamba, having originally been attached there, they said that by David being given Nobamba it was if he was being appointed their head, instead of the natural head Solomon. Solomon's mother was Mkasilomo. She is dead. It seems that during Dinuzulu's lifetime, she was caught committing adultery with Mkebeni. It was Dinuzulu who sent a party to catch them. On the first attempt to catch them, the dogs of the kraal where they both were barked & so warned Mkebeni, who got away. But steps were later on taken to feed & shut the dogs up, & when the party sent by Dinuzulu arrived they went to a hut & found Mkebeni & Mkasilomo together in it. Mkebeni got out & ran away. Mkasilomo was caught & brought her to Dinuzulu who, getting ~~him~~ a pair of pincers told her to laugh. She did so & then he pulled out all her front teeth (top jaw) as well as had both her ears to be cut right off as a ~~warning to others~~ mark whereby it should ever be known that she had committed adultery. She then left & went to live at another kraal. Solomon was born before Dinuzulu sent this woman away, hence he cannot, according to ~~our~~ English ~~custo~~ practice be charged with any responsibility for what had occurred, & so dismissed

Nyawana is now contemplating legal proceedings, though Socwatsha does not see how he can succeed, especially as the great majority are on Solomon's side, including Mankulumana, who formerly espoused David's side. At the same time, Socwatsha feels there will be some trouble in the matter, although 8 or 9 years have elapsed since

It seems that when the attempt was made to appoint David as heir, Mnyayiza ka Ndabuko, as voicing the feeling of the main body of the Zulus, protested, saying Mankulumana wanted to reconstitute the appoint someone favourable to the Ndwandwe house, that Ndabankulu ka Lukwazi favoured his side, & Lokotwayo wanted someone to favour his. David himself was very free in using his sjambok on elderly men when in the Transvaal with his father.

The Zulus who were with Dinizulu in the Transvaal got so used to the land that they liked it. Dinizulu accumulated 60 head of cattle & 180 sheep &c there. As the Boers would not allow the Zulus to have land to live on there, ~~as~~ as they wanted to do, on the ground that the tribe must all live in one dist, so they moved all the stock down to Solomon, handing same over to him.

Socwatsha says ill feeling between David & Solomon (Nyawaya) is intense now - they are not on visiting terms, & that is why he thinks something may occur between them, either litigation or fighting.

Meiteki ka Zibebu told Socwatsha: Si nga ba kwa mhlabangubo. The meaning of this is that Zibebu is hlaba'ing Cetshwayo, was stabbing the blanket or ingubo that was covering him.

See pencil note (made today) in red Nbk, in which general evidence by Mkeberni ka Dabulamanzi & Socwatsha himself is given - p. 5 thereof - re Cetshwayo's Ginindlovu & eSiQwageni kraals. Now go on thus. Close to Cetshwayo's Ginginhlovu kraal was a little one called uBaneneMbanene, lightning, quite small, say ten huts or less, but many mabele pits there, where food for Ginginhlovu kraal was put.

Shaka's kraal uFasimba was built close to Cetshwayo's eSiQwageni. The Fasimba nation is on nice ground, to left of road going towards Nkanini, and near a little hill (igqumangana nje). The Fasimba regt xezá'd kona - ie at this kraal. Fasimba (like inkunge) = Large, but

Socwatsha continues:—

When the locusts were on, though it was really after rinderpest many years ago, about 1896, I went with others selling goats ~~in~~ along the Zululand coast. I came to one of Ntshingwayo ka Sikonyana's ~~Sukani ka Mpande's kraal~~ kraals, not far from Lamb's store, mapuzingweber & the Matigulu, where there was a wedding.
