BERLIN.

Dear Sir,

We have received the copy of Ityala which you sent us and will take care of it until such time as we begin on the printing. All the illustrations will be printed together so please send the remaining photographs at your convenience.

With regard to the translation fee we were glad to see this was on the low side as the Society is finding difficulty in placing the order on account of the expense. In fact the order for printing has not yet come through but we presume this will follow on the sanction for putting the translation in hand.

Yours faithfully,

p.p. The Lovedale Press,
